

Experts to Talk At Convocation

Three visiting education experts will participate in the University-sponsored convocation on land-grant institutions Oct. 21 and 22 at the University. It will be the third major event of the Centennial celebration.

Participating will be Dr. Colgate W. Darden Jr., president of the University of Virginia; Dr. Carroll V. Newsom, executive vice chancellor of New York University; and Dr. C. C. Furnas, chancellor of the University of Buffalo.

President Milton S. Eisenhower will address the opening session of the two-day conclave. His topic will be "The History of the Land-Grant College and the Problems Facing the Land-Grant Institution in Our Unsettled, Interdependent World."

Round Tables

Roundtable discussions will follow the address. There will be nine roundtables, each consisting of 20 members. Topics will be resident and extension instruction and research.

Dr. John Cowles, president of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune Company, will be head speaker Friday night at a plenary. His topic will be "The Future Responsibilities of the Land-Grant Institution."

Roundtables will reconvene Saturday morning, after which the reports will be presented at a plenary in Schwab Auditorium.

3 Reports

Dr. Darden will present the report on resident instruction, Dr. Newsom will summarize extension, and Dr. Furnas will report on research.

University officials hope that possible solutions to problems facing land-grant institutions will come from the exchange and development of ideas.

Reports from the discussions will be printed by the University and made available to other land-grant institutions.

Public Invited

Students, faculty members, alumni, and residents of State College have been invited to attend many of the meetings. A complete schedule will be announced later.

Ossian R. MacKenzie, dean of the College of Business Administration, is chairman of the convocation general planning committee. He is assisted by Lyman E. Jackson, dean of the College of Agriculture; Eric A. Walker, dean of the College of Engineering and Architecture; and various subcommittees.

Senior Lifesaving Class

Women students may register for a class in senior lifesaving at 7 tonight in the pool office in White Hall.

Two classes will be conducted during the fall semester, from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

Dramatic Groups to Hold Tryouts for Fall Plays

The Penn State Players have scheduled tryouts for "The Mikado" from 2 to 4 p.m. today and tomorrow in 214 Carnegie. Students for the male chorus are especially needed.

Tryouts for the Penn State Thespians' "Take Ten" will be held from 7 to 9:30 tonight in 410 Old Main. The original revue will run for three nights during Homecoming Weekend.

Rainwear in Order for Ione---

(Continued from page one) an hour and may result in some flooding of small tributaries. Charles Hosler, assistant professor of meteorology, said yesterday.

Temperatures will remain in the 70's for the next 24 hours, turning cooler late Wednesday.

Ione will ride in on easterly winds, which were to begin late last night and increase gradually by early this morning, Hosler said.

The rain, expected to be light in the early morning, should increase into a steady downpour and amount to an inch or more before the day is over, he added.

A new cold front now located in the west is moving eastward and, following the departure of Ione, will probably bring more rain to the area by late tomorrow, as well as much cooler temperatures by the weekend, Hosler said.

The high recorded temperature yesterday was 86 degrees.

Mail Bulletin Board

Posters and notices for the mail bulletin board should be brought to the Daily Collegian office between 4 and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, according to Dorothy Stone, Collegian copy editor.

Posters should be no larger than 10 by 13 inches. Weekly notices will be posted three days in advance.

Chapel Choir Tryouts

Chapel Choir tryouts for tenors, baritones, and basses will be held tonight in 212 Carnegie. Mrs. Willa W. Taylor, professor of music education, has announced.

Tenors will try out at 6:30, baritones at 8 and basses at 8:45. Final auditions will be held tomorrow night. New and old members will rehearse Thursday night, Mrs. Taylor said.

Transfer Grant Is Established

Students completing the program at the University's Altoona Center and transferring to the main campus will be eligible for a scholarship established by the Ward Trucking Corp.

The scholarship, which is planned to help a student continue his education in business administration, will be available only to students entering the College of Business Administration.

In addition to the $250, the corporation will contribute $250 to the Altoona center for purchasing equipment for the business administration department.

The student to receive the scholarship will be chosen by the scholarship committee at the Center.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "Barefoot Boy With Cheek," etc.)

ANYONE FOR FOOTBALL?

Pancho Sigafos, pale and sensitive, first saw Willa Ludovic, lithe as a hazel wand and fair as the morn, outside a class in money and banking. "Let us not hem and haw," said Pancho to Willa. "I adore you."

"Thanks, hey," said Willa, blushing prettily. "What position do you play?"

"Position?" said Pancho, looking at her askance. (The askance is a ligament just behind the ear.)

"On the football team," said Willa. "Football!" cried Pancho, his lip curling in horror. "Football is violence, and violence is the death of the mind. I am not a football player. I am a poet."

"So long, mac," said Willa.

"Wait!" cried Pancho, clutching her lissome young forearm. She placed her foot on his pelvis and wrenched herself free.

"I only go with football players," she said and walked, shimmering, into the setting sun.

Pancho went to his room and lit a cigarette and pondered his vexing problem. What kind of cigarette did Pancho light? Why, Philip Morris, of corris!

Philip Morris is always welcome, but never more than when you are weary and sore beset. When a fellow needs a friend, when the heart is dull and the blood runs like sorghum, when darkness prevails, then, then above all, is the time for the mildness and gentleness that only Philip Morris can provide.

Pancho Sigafos, his broken psyche welded, his fevered brow cooled, his synapses restored after smoking a gentle Philip Morris, came swiftly to a decision. Though he was rather small for football (an even four feet) and somewhat overweight (370 pounds) he tried out for the team—and tried out with such pluck and perseverance that he made it.

Pancho's college opened the season against the Manhattan School of Mines. The Miners were always a mettlesome foe, but this year, strengthened by four exchange students from Gibraltar who had been suckled by she-apes, they were especially formidable. By the middle of the second quarter, the Miners had wrought such havoc upon Pancho's team that there was nobody left on the bench but Pancho. And when the quarterback was sent to the infirmary with his head driven into his ribcage, the coach had no choice but to put Pancho in.

Pancho's team-mates were not conspicuously cheered as the little fellow took his place in the huddle. "Gentlemen," said Pancho, "some of you may regard poetry as sissy stuff, but now in our most trying hour I can think of no words more apt than these lines from Milton's Paradise Lost: 'All is not lost; the unconquerable will and study of revenge, immortal hate, and courage never to submit or yield!'"

So stirred was Pancho's team by this fiery exhortation that they threw themselves into the fray with utter abandon.

As a consequence, the entire squad was hospitalized before the half. The college was forced to drop football. Willa Ludovic, not having any football players to choose from, took up with Pancho and soon discovered the beauty of his soul. Today they are seen everywhere together—dancing, holding hands, smoking, smooching.

Smoking what? Why, Philip Morris, of corris!

©Max Shulman, 1955

Football Special

Sponsored by the Williamsport Exchange Club

PENN STATE vs. ARMY

Leaving Friday Night, Sept. 30
Returning Sunday Morning, Oct. 2

Sept. 30	Lv. State College (by special bus)	11:15 p.m.
Oct. 1	Lv. Williamsport (by special train)	1:15 a.m.
	Arr. Jersey City, N.J.	7:45 a.m.
	Lv. Jersey City (by special Hudson river steamship)	8:00 a.m.
	Arr. West Point	12:45 p.m.
	See: Cadet Parade and Penn State vs. Army football game
	Lv. West Point	5:30 p.m.
Oct. 2	Arr. State College	6:00 a.m.

Round trip fare from State College . . . $19.50
Reserved seat football ticket . . . $ 4.00
$23.50

(Send check or money order (made out to Williamsport Exchange Club) and self-addressed, stamped envelope to:
Carl Jensen, 204 E. Adams Avenue, State College
Phone AD 7-3801

S

TOP
HOP
AVE

at the

BX

Penn State Book Exchange

Student Specials—

For a keepsake:
A string of pennants from colleges we play in our 1955 season!

For more efficiency:
★3-ring binders, hard and soft backs
Paper Index subject tabs $3.25
Plastic pen holders

★Drawing instruments and supplies

PENN STATE BOOK EXCHANGE

The makers of Philip Morris, who bring you this column each week, remind you that the perfect companion to watching a football game is today's gentle Philip Morris.