

Yanks Top Nats; Mays Hits 50th

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The New York Yankees moved another step toward the American League pennant today when they beat the Washington Senators 6-3 in the first half of a day-night doubleheader.

It was the Yankees' sixth straight victory.

Mickey McDermott's wildness was his undoing.

Starter Don Larsen was only slightly more effective and Manager Casey Stengel yanked him after he had walked the first two batters in the second inning.

Tom Morgan came along and held the Senators in check until the eighth when Mickey Vernon socked his 14th home run of the year, and the Senators loaded the bases. But Morgan got pinch hitter Johnny Groth on an outfield fly to end the inning.

Mays Hits 2 Homers

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—Willie Mays matched a major league record with his 49th and 50 home runs of the season today as the New York Giants clobbered the Pittsburgh Pirates in an explosive doubleheader 11-1 and 14-8.

Oddly enough, the only other player ever to do it also was a member of the Giants. Walker Cooper made it with New York in 1947. Mays, stretching his homer lead to four over Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski, also became only the seventh player ever to hit as many as 50 in one season. The others were Babe Ruth, Jimmy Foxx, Hank Greenberg, Hack Wilson, Ralph Kiner and Johnny Mize.

Brooks Win, 6-3

BROOKLYN, Sept. 20 (AP)—George Shuba smacked a pinch, two-run double off little Murry Dickson to break up a 3-3 tie in the eighth inning as Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia 6-3 in the first game of a two-night doubleheader tonight.

Orioles Lop Two

BOSTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles extended their winning streak to six games by sweeping a rain-spattered doubleheader from Boston, 3-2 in 10 innings and 7-4, today with key performances by rookies Angelo Dages and Bob Hale.

Tigers Trounce A's

DETROIT, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers assured themselves of at least a .500 season's record—their best mark since 1950—by trouncing the Kansas City Athletics 7-3 today.

Rock, Moore Battle Tonight in Stadium

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—Rocky Marciano and Archie Moore, sidelined for 24 hours by the empty threat of Hurricane Ione, weighed in heavier than expected today for Wednesday's heavy-weight title bout at Yankee Stadium.

The fickle dame Ione scared Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, into announcing a one-day postponement in mid-morning. Shortly after the noon weigh-in, the sun peeked through and the skies cleared. It would have been possible to have held the fight as Ione sliced out to sea.

"We are assured Wednesday night will be perfect," Norris said.

Because the fight falls on Wednesday night it will be pushed back 15 minutes to 9:45 p.m. (EST) to avoid conflict with the usual Wednesday television boxing show.

There will be no change in arrangements for the big bout, except the new starting time. The bout will not be seen on home television but will be beamed into 128 theaters in 92 cities and four veterans' hospitals on Theater Network Television. It also will be carried on network ABC radio.

IBC officials reported the advance sale was between $650,000 and $700,000 with few refunds asked. Promised a perfect day for the fight, they hoped to sell an additional $150,000 worth of tickets at the gate. It appeared that the original estimate of 50,000 people and $750,000 might be topped, despite the postponement.

Marciano, unbeaten in his 48-bout career, remained at 17-6 favorite to blunt the bid of the 38-year-old light heavy king, after the weigh-in and postponement. Marciano, grinning for the cameramen, weighed 188 1/4 and Moore came in at 188 pounds. The Rock had been expected to weigh 187 and Moore 185 or 186. However, Moore said he was satisfied with his weight.

Soccer Managers

A call was issued today for candidates for soccer assistant managership positions.

Interested students should report to the equipment room in the south wing of the basement of Recreation Hall between 4 and 6 p.m. today.

Soccer Eleven Remains Undecided

By FRAN FANUCCI

With the start of the season only nine days away, soccer coach Ken Hosterman is still in the fog as to who will be his starting eleven come the opening game with Army.

Hosterman said yesterday that all positions are wide open. "The eleven players who look the best before game time will start," he said.

The soccer mentor also announced that a scrimmage with Sampson Air Force base will be held Saturday on the golf course. Hosterman said the scrimmage will iron out some of the more serious mistakes which have plagued the booters during practice.

Hosterman will probably have six returning veterans in the lineup, along with five inexperienced

Candidates for the freshman soccer squad are asked to see either Coach Ken Hosterman or Dave Bishoff before 4 p.m. any day this week in 202 Recreation Hall for physical cards. No player will be permitted on the practice field until a physical card and physical examination have been obtained. Freshman practice will get underway next week. Hosterman announced yesterday.

players, now being used on an experimental basis.

In his quest for fullback replacements, Hosterman has been trying junior Dave Davis and sophomore Ralph Brower in the positions left vacant by Galen Robbins and Paul Dierks. He is also alternating senior Bob Little with both Davis and Brower.

Another possible starter is Don Shirk, who returned from Army duty this year. Shirk, who played under the great Bill Jeffreys, had two years experience with the Lions before entering the service. He has been hampered by an eye injury received early this week, but Hosterman said he may be able to play in Saturday's tilt.

At the goalie position two seniors are fighting for the first string berth. Both George Gezy and John Lawrence have looked good in practice and Hosterman has not yet decided who will start.

Another sore spot on the first eleven is finding a replacement for all-American Jack Pinezich, who graduated in June. Hosterman has used junior Tom Nute in Pinezich's spot during pre-season practices. Nute is one of the few replacements who has received experience and he seems the logical starter at the outside left spot.

Hosterman said the team is finding trouble in its offense. "They're not moving the ball enough, and their passing is not too accurate," he said.

Expressing some optimism, he added, "But I think we can correct these mistakes in the nine days left to practice."

The Nittany booters, who ranked first in the nation last year, open the season on Sept. 30 with probably their toughest opponent, Army.

The West Pointers have always given the Lions trouble, and two years ago they halted the nine-game winning streak that the booters carried into the game. In last year's contest, the Lions handed them the worst defeat in coach Joe Palone's seven-year stint at the Point as they avenged the '53 defeat.

Outing Club Plans Three Trips Sunday

The three divisions of the Outing Club—Cabin and Trails, Field and Stream, and Winter Sports—will sponsor separate trips Sunday. After the trips, the groups will meet at 5:30 p.m. for an outdoor barbecue at Beaver Dam.

Cabin and Train will go to Beaver Dam; Field and Stream plans to travel to the archery range; and Winter Sports will go to the ski cabin and tow in Boalsburg.

All groups will leave at 2 p.m. from Old Main. Those planning to make the trip should register in 240 Recreation Hall before Saturday noon.

... FOR THE NATION'S GRID MENTORS

Barring wild gusts of wind and sweeping rain from "Ione" and her Southeastern coast girlfriends, and the much-discussed Marciano-Moore bout set to take place tonight, King Football seems to have once again assumed his perennial Fall popularity.

So, lets rewrite the script a bit and, if we dare, look away from all the sports page billings surrounding this years forecasted stars, All-Americans, etc., to take a thumbnail glimpse at how the nation's top-ranking grid mentors have fared over the past 10 years or more.

According to an Associated Press article released out of New York August 6 of the past summer, Maryland's Big Jim Tatum has a firm grasp on the reins, for the present at least, in producing the winningest teams.

Statistics computed by the AP show that among the nation's foremost college football coaches who have equalled or bettered the 10 year mark, Tatum's teams have scored 77 victories, dropped only 19, and notched six deadlocks. Tatum's percentage is .802, way out front in any league. In gathering his record, Tatum spent one year at North Carolina, one at Oklahoma, and the past eight at College Park, Md.

The Terrapin chief enjoys his distinction as the coach with the most wins throughout major college circles only because the gentleman who succeeded him at Oklahoma, Bud Wilkinson, hasn't as yet reached the 10-year mark.

Wilkinson's teams have won 73 contests, tied 3, and lost eight in the same number of years for an amazing .901 percentage. He's a cinch to take over the lead in the decade group at the end of the 1956 season.

The Grey Eagle of Mt. Nittany, Penn State's own Rip Engle, also is listed among the select group. With 11 years as a head football coach under his belt, the "Ripper" is displaying a 58-34-6 mark, and a .622 percentage.

The figures put him 16th among the nation's major-college best, one percentage point out of 15th place, currently held by Miami's Andy Gustafson.

Entering his sixth year as football boss in the Vale, Engle has tutored Penn State teams to 30 wins, 14 losses, and a pair of ties.

The first half-dozen years of Engle's career were spent at Brown University where he turned out several fine teams in the years from 1944 through 1949.

Getting back to Wilkinson and the Sooners, the Big Seven eleven has yet to suffer a loss in 45 conference contests under Wilkinson. Their record includes a 31-game winning streak dating from a loss to Santa Clara in 1948 to Kentucky's Sugar Bowl upset Jan. 1, 1951.

That streak stands as the longest in modern football since Notre Dame's 39-game streak and Army's 32 were punctuated by ties. The Sooners now have a 20-game unbeaten string going.

Following are the won-lost-tied records of all current major-college mentors who have been head coaches 10 or more years.
