

WDFM Plagued by Two Power Failures in Tests

Two minor power failures were reported to student radio station WDFM by students listening to the station by transmitters Monday night, James Raleigh, chief engineer, said.

One power failure report was from a student in the West Dorm area. It was due to a failure of one of the tubes in the transmitter that was fixed in five minutes, Raleigh said.

WDFM Names Candidates For Positions

Candidates for staff positions of campus radio station WDFM were announced yesterday by Elaine Giltman, publicity manager of the station.

Engineering candidates are: John Newlin, Willis Jehr, William Adams, Richard Adler, Harold Paul, and Ronald Chappell. Candidates for news are Sheldon Bernbaum, Richard Schilpp, Donna Gardner, Warren Carmichael, Mimi Bushkoff, Lee Sacks, and Anne Friedberg.

Campus and Community Services candidates are Thomas Brown, George Cooper, William Shaw, and Glen Smith. Gail Rosenbloom and Marilyn Burnett are trying out for Music, Joe Godzik for special events, Barbara Funk for Office, Lois Colteryahn for Traffic, and Barbara Rossi for Promotion and Public Relations.

Students interested in applying for positions on the WDFM staff may still obtain application forms between 9 and 5 p.m. in 307 Sparks.

Campus and Community Services forms are available at the Hetzel Union Bldg. and in 307 Sparks. Campus Community Service handles all announcements that student organizations wish to have aired.

President Is Contented Man

FRASER, Colo. (AP)—Give President Eisenhower a trout rod and let him do some cooking too and he's a real contented man.

Well, he's got the rod and he's been catching fish. And he's also doing a heap of cooking.

The President arrived here yesterday morning from the Denver White House for another five days or so of relaxation at the Rocky Mountain ranch of an old friend, investment banker Aksel Nielsen. This is his second visit here since he came to Colorado for a work-and-play vacation Aug. 14.

An hour and 15 minutes from the time he stepped out of his car at the ranch, he was wading cold St. Louis Creek, casting a dry fly for the wily trout.

He passed up having the trout for dinner and decided on fried chicken instead. The word was that he spent more than two hours in the kitchen with a white apron tied around his waist.

125 Attend 4th Annual Encampment

(Continued from page two) campus parking included exploring the possibilities and practicabilities "of levying fees for present parking area on students and possibly faculty and employees" and the construction of cinder parking lots.

Discussing judicial bodies, the group recommended "restricted hours for male undergraduate students" as judicial punishment.

One of the biggest problems facing the committee on student organizations was Campus Chest, the University's community chest.

Besides suggesting better promotion, the group proposed the establishment of a policy-making board, consisting of groups represented by Campus Chest.

Also, it was recommended that "reconsideration be given" to the withdrawal of the three religious groups, the University Christian Association, Newman Club, and Hillel Foundation.

The communication committee discussed problems ranging from the shortage of writers on Froth, campus humor magazine, to the space limitations of campus radio station WDFM.

In a major recommendation, the committee went on record as favoring a campus magazine which would: (1) "Serve as an outlet for literary works of students and faculty; (2) be distributed on campus . . . and eventually off the campus of the University; (3) be subsidized by student groups and the University until it is financially sound; and (4) be aimed at cultivating an appreciation for carrying illustrations and articles about culture, music, theatre, literature, fiction, and non-fiction."

First of 3 Mixed Dinners is Planned For Sunday Noon

The first of three mixed dinners between students in the West Halls, Nittany and Pollock dormitories and McAllister Hall will be held at noon Sunday.

Women from McAllister and the second floor of Thompson Hall will eat with one-third of the men in the Nittany-Pollock area. The rest of the women from Thompson Hall will eat with one-third of the men in the remaining West Halls.

The results of the first dinners on Sunday, which are sponsored by the Association of Independent Men and Women's Student Government Association, will determine the handling of the remaining two dinners.

The ratio of one woman to three men has been solved by only allowing one-third of the men in the dormitories to dine with the women, according to Harry Leopold and Priscilla Kepner, chairmen of the dining program.

Men are required to wear coats and ties and women regular Sunday dress.

5 Students in DIR Earn Dean's List

Five students in the Division of Intermediate Registration obtained averages above 2.50 for the spring semester, placing them on the University honor roll or dean's list.

The five were led by Morton Altschuler, junior from Philadelphia, with a perfect 3.00 average. The others were Robert Whitmore, junior from Portland, Me., 2.93; John Golgan, sophomore from Tarentum, 2.81; Carole Knipin, sophomore from Kingston, 2.58; and Roger Panfil, junior from Willow Grove, 2.58.

The Division, a special guidance and counseling unit for students now entering its sixth year, is displaying the largest enrollment in its history—670 students. Last fall, 511 students were enrolled in the division.

3 Reasons for Entering

Students entering the division do so for one of three reasons. It assists those in doubt as to a curriculum choice, those wishing to change from one major to another but lacking the academic record to qualify, and students experiencing other problems leading to scholastic difficulties.

The most widely known factor to students concerning DIR is the University ruling that anyone whose all-University average drops below .50 must drop out of his college into the Division.

However, many students just want to be guided in finding a curriculum to suit them, learning how to study, or finding answers to a host of scholastic problems.

DIR counselors find that some may seek help for a semester or two, although they sport good averages, Harold K. Wilson, director, said.

4595 More Enrolled

In summing up DIR's activities, Wilson said that 4595 students have been enrolled in the program during its five-year span.

Of this number, 3619, or approximately 79 per cent, later qualified for transfer to the curriculum of their choice, or withdrew from the University.

Voluntary withdrawals of 333 from DIR totaled seven per cent. The remaining 21 per cent were dropped for scholastic reasons.

Wilson said that this fall's enrollment of 670 is the basis for the largest yearly enrollment in DIR to date. Last year's enrollment was 1012. Within a few days, he said, students will probably start seeking the DIR office on the fourth floor of Old Main.

Figures Dispell Belief

Dispelling a student belief that averages of students completing semesters in regular colleges after a stay in DIR are not much better than before they went in the Division, Wilson detailed these figures:

Before entering DIR, students' averages averaged .51. While in DIR, they averaged 1.42 and after leaving the Division, they upped their joint scholastic to 1.50. The figures are based on a study of 581 graduates of DIR.

Not all students wishing to enter the unit can do so, Wilson explained. Everyone is thoroughly screened and some are refused entry because it is believed they would not benefit from the counseling of the Division's counselors. Some are deemed too immature or too young to participate in the program.
