

Sororities Ribbon 278 Coeds; Zeta Tau Alpha First with 22

Ribboning of 278 women took place at 7 p.m. last night by 22 sororities. Formal bids were distributed after 5 p.m. yesterday. Four hundred twenty-eight women had originally registered for rushing according to statistics from the dean of women's office.

Zeta Tau Alpha took the highest number of pledges, 22, with Chi Omega, Delta Delta and Delta Gamma tied for second with 18 pledges each.

Following the ribboning sisters and ribbonees thronged into downtown restaurants talking and singing for an evening-long celebration. Some sorority members had been downtown since 9 a.m. yesterday morning reserving booths for this annual part of rushing.

Two Frosh Report Cars In Borough

Two freshman men who had automobiles housed in State College garages were given until this weekend to remove them from the area. Freshman cars are banned in the borough and on campus.

Dean of Men Frank J. Simes said that the students did not receive the penalty of suspension, the punishment allotted for violators of the car ban, because they reported themselves.

Face Suspension
Freshmen discovered with cars in borough garages by University officials are still subject to suspension, according to Simes.

The ban on freshman cars was passed last spring by the Council of Administration as a partial solution to the lack of parking facilities on campus and in the borough. This is the first time in the history of the University such a ban has been in effect.

Frosh 'Vet' Cars
The Association of Independent Men projects committee is now studying the possibility of allowing freshman veterans to have their cars on campus. The committee has not yet made a report on its findings.

Freshman students may be authorized to keep their cars on campus if they claim exemption because of physical handicaps or daily commuting between campus and home. Freshmen must apply for exemption at the dean of men's or women's offices.

Committee to Rule On Rush Violation

The Panhellenic judicial committee will meet at 5 p.m. today to discuss a rushing code violation, Joanne Caruso, Panhellenic president and chairman of the judicial committee, has announced.

The violation occurred when a rushee was issued a verbal invitation to a coffee hour by a sorority member rather than through the Panhellenic post office.

The judicial committee, which is comprised of the officers of council, a representative from the deans office, a stray Greek (a sorority member whose sorority has no chapter at the University) and the Panhellenic rushing chairman, is expected to hand down a decision today.

WSGA Senate to Meet

Women's Student Government Association Senate will meet at 6:30 tonight in 217 Hetzel Union, Carolyn Cunningham, president, announced.

The group will appoint a chairman for Senate elections and will discuss the Freshman Tea.

Cabinet Agendas

All-University Cabinet members may pick up their reports and agendas this morning at the Hetzel Union desk. Cabinet will meet at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

Alpha Chi Omega, scarlet and olive green, ribboned; Nancy Ash, Barbara Budnick, Joan Boucher, Jean Dahl, Sara Donahue, Marjorie Duld, Marsha Irwin, Carolyn Johnson, Margaret King, Barbara Kinnier, Mary Kreider, Joyce McCloskey, Patricia Moran, Jean Poole, Harriet Scholes, Dorothy Thompson, Eleanor Woodward.

Alpha Epsilon Phi, green and white: Betty Lou Adelson, Carole Babis, Norma Baldinger, Alena Bress, Georgia Cohen, Donna Garson, Bette Gichner, Helen Isaacman, Sharon Iskow, Mimi Lyon, Beverly Minker, Harriet Perl, Sally Rosenfield, Phyllis Rubinstein, Ellen Steinberg, Sheila Strauss.

Alpha Gamma Delta, red, buff and green: Jananne Andrews, Eleanor Balderston, Florence Ford, Joyce Frank, Lenore Hamilton, Priscilla Kepner, Gail Klepinger, Kersti Lond, Barbara Lukens, Ellen Lynch, Joan Maraz-zacco, Eileen Moffa, Geraldine Morris, Elsie Nelson, Joyce Richards, Barbara Rodgers, Dianne Schreckengast.

Alpha Kappa Alpha, pink and green: Arlene Roebuck, Grace Smith and Marjorie Washington.

Alpha Omicron Pi, cardinal: Marjorie Hoffman, Carol Jones, Rosemary Keating, Mary Klees, Nancy Lesko, Nancy Sitar, Patricia Stermer, Lynne Tyler, Joanne Yergey.

Alpha Xi Delta, double blue and gold: Joan Bastian, Norma Frankenfield, Joan Kassing, Francisca Meyer, Nancy Showalter, Mary Ann Wagner.

Beta Sigma Omicron, ruby and pink: Elaine Alexander, Janice Clawson, Patricia Connor, Glenna Gilger, Sally Kilmer, Marilyn Marshman, Virginia Mensch, Juanita Quarles, Dianne Reeves, Louise Schmoeyer, Edith Shearman, Mona Sweet, Elizabeth Trezise.

Chi Omega, cardinal and straw: Rebecca Bowers, Edna Bright, Rita Brown, Sylvia Dori, Phoebe English, Martha Fritzsche, Margaret Gray, Joyce Herbst, Nancy Johnson, Ann McKnight, Verna Mather, Mary Mertz, Carol Palmer, Joyce Pfeiffer, Gail Rolfe, Frances Spatafore, Maria Turo, Sara Wagner.

Delta Delta Delta, silver blue and gold: Judith Armstrong, Ann Beckley, Carol Davidson, Alice Eberle, Marilyn Elias, Maureen Funk, Gail Hazen, Carol Keplinger, Blanche Kurtz, Patricia Lumbar, Dorothy Mawson, Nancy May, Sondra Peters, Shirlee

(Continued on page eight)

No 'Series' Slated for Semester

The new Penn State Series of musical and cultural programs, proposed last spring to replace the defunct Community Forum, will not be held this semester.

The Forum, which presented four or five talks by personalities from outside the campus, was discontinued last semester because of poor attendance at the lectures.

Lawrence Adler, president of the Liberal Arts Student Council, has reported that the question of inaugurating a similar series of programs will be brought up before All-University Cabinet within the next few weeks.

Adler was chairman of the Cultural Aspects Committee at Student Encampment which discussed the problem of replacing the Forum with a "lighter" type of series containing more appeal to students.

Cabinet approved the formation of a new series, divided between musical and cultural programs, at its final meeting last semester.

Cabinet's legislation provided for the allocation of $12,000 to the Associated Student Fund to finance the Series. It was not decided from what source the sum should come. In previous discussion, Cabinet heard a plan whereby students would be assessed fees to support the Series.

Feasibility of the Series was one of the topics discussed by the Cultural Aspects Committee, Adler said. Nothing along this line was started this semester, he said, because of the lack of time in which to do so and the "tremendous student apathy."

Originally, Cabinet had provided for the financing of the Series by a student fee of fifty cents a semester.

Light Showers Seen

Today's weather forecast calls for continued cloudy skies and cool temperatures, with the high ranging from 50 to 60 degrees.

There is a slight possibility of light showers beginning in the afternoon.

Yesterday's high temperature was 63 degrees.

Freshmen Suffer Lightly On Joint Customs Day

Freshmen suffered lightly through the second Joint Customs Day yesterday while upperclass apathy showed a marked ebb. Few groups congregated on the Mall in front of Schwab Auditorium to sing or cheer.

During the ten minute break between classes, however, students did pause at the bulletin board in front of Carnegie Hall. But they did little more than watch the frosh pass. Upperclassmen frequently stopped one or two freshmen to ask questions or hear handbook recitations.

Over 50 violations have been turned in this week by upperclassmen, Herbert Black and Margaret Boyd, co-chairmen of the Joint Freshman Customs Board, said yesterday.

Fifteen Violators

Fifteen violators appeared before the Board Friday and Monday, and have been given penalties in connection with the centennial theme, "Penn State Through the Next 100 Years."

The minimum penalty is to write a 300-word paper on the "Value of Customs at Penn State." Most of the violators, however, are instructed to wear a large sandwich-board sign stating the violation.

There were no violations handed in until Monday of this week. Some upperclassmen claim that they don't want to submit the names because they wouldn't want anyone to do it to them. Appearing before the Customs Board does not mean a stiff punishment, but rather a penalty taken in fun.

Boon to Lagging Week

Enforcement on Joint Customs days does provide a boon to the otherwise lagging week. Last week the program started out successfully, and was topped on Thursday with the spirit and interest of Joint Customs.

Today the regular customs rules go into effect once again. The two week period will end at noon Saturday.

The Joint Customs Board will meet at 7 tonight in 212 Hetzel Union. Violators will be summoned to appear by the Board members prior to that time.

Handbooks and signs will not be used after Saturday, but all freshmen must wear dinks to the Navy-Penn State football game at Beaver Field Oct. 15.

Changes Due For Directory

Students have been advised by Woodrow W. Bierly, news assistant of Public Information, to make changes in address or telephone numbers for the student directory as soon as possible at the registration office, basement of Willard Hall.

It is too late for students whose names begin with A or B to make changes, Bierly said, as permanent type settings for these student's names have been made.

Student directories will be placed on sale early in November, Bierly said. Temporary directories were issued to campus and student offices last week.

Directories list the name, local and home addresses, phone numbers, semester and curriculums of all students.

Eisenhower Reported Progressing

DENVER, Sept. 27 (AP)—President Dwight D. Eisenhower made continuing, encouraging progress along the road to recovery today amid a growing belief he will retire to the role of "elder statesman" at the end of his present term.

His condition was so improved that he spent several hours out of the oxygen tent this morning after a long, restful night's sleep, and doctors and family found him "comfortable and cheerful."

Prayers 'Helped' President

Meanwhile, Mrs. Eisenhower, speaking through press secretary James C. Hagerty, voiced her deep gratitude and that of her family to those "who have prayed and are praying for the recovery of the President." She said these prayers "have helped the President" and sustained her.

A 3:45 p.m. (MST) bulletin said Eisenhower's progress was satisfactory "throughout the day." It disclosed he spent all but four hours outside his oxygen tent.

He rested under the tent for two hours in the morning and slept under it for two hours in the afternoon.

Subjection 'Unthinkable'

Personal friends said privately it would be "unthinkable" to subject him to the burdens of a 1956 political campaign and another four years in the White House.

At the same time they ruled out the possibility that he would even consider resigning before the expiration of his present term in the absence of any complications that would block the "complete recovery" for which his physicians are hoping.

White House press secretary Hagerty told a news conference at which he released the noon bulletin that the question of whether the President can delegate authority may not have to be answered.

No Signatures Required

At the present time, he said, there has been nothing reaching the Colorado vacation headquarters which has required his signature and that the usual volume of White House correspondence is being handled by members of his staff, here and at Washington.

Such matters as the budget for the next fiscal year, the foreign program, the economic and state-of-the-union messages are in process of preparation in Washington, Hagerty said, and normally would not require presidential review before December.

Mitchell To Talk at Career Day

James P. Mitchell, United States Secretary of Labor, will be guest speaker at the annual College of Business Administration Career Day, Nov. 1. The announcement was made by Business Administration Student Council President James Ginsburg at a council meeting last night.

Mitchell's speech, scheduled for Schwab Auditorium, will conclude a day-long series of panel discussions pertaining to various fields of business. A limited number of seats will be available to the public, Ginsburg said.

Bunche Previous Speaker

Last year's Career Day speaker was Ralph J. Bunche, director of the trusteeship department of the United Nations.

The panel discussions will be divided into sections, each dealing with a certain phase of business. Panels will be composed of representatives from various business fields.

Panel discussions will be open to business administration students. Students may attend any panel of their choice.

Career Day is designed to give students the chance to explore the opportunities in major fields of business and to learn character qualities and education essentials necessary for success in the business world.

The Business Administration Student Council also set up two committees within the college.

Pre-registration a Possibility

The council established a committee to look into the idea of pre-registration for business students scheduling business courses. Houston Elam was named chairman of the committee.

Another committee was established to co-ordinate the meetings and functions of the nine clubs in the College of Business Administration. The committee will be composed of the nine club presidents.

Juniors Will Hold Meeting in HUB

The junior class will hold an organizational meeting at 7 tonight in 216 Hetzel Union. Any interested junior may attend.

Robert Bahrenburg, junior class president, urged any juniors interested in working on junior class committees to attend.

A proposed junior advisory committee may be appointed at the meeting. The advisory committee will be composed of juniors from the dormitories, fraternities, and various activities. It will serve as a public opinion sounding board for the junior class.

AIM Judicial to Meet

The Association of Independent Men Judicial Board of Review will meet at 8 tonight in 109 Old Main, according to David Sullivan, board chairman.

Collegian Issues Call For Staff Candidates

Candidates for the editorial staff of the Daily Collegian will meet at 7 tonight in 1 Carnegie.

Students interested in joining the Collegian staff need not be journalism majors.