

Yanks Whip Bums 6-5; Collins Homers Twice As Ford Notches Win

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—Joe Collins, part time first baseman, bench warmer and pinchhitter, smashed two home runs today to give the New York Yankees first blood over the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-5 in the opener of their sixth World Series.

The 32-year-old infielder ripped into Don Newcombe, the Brooks' 20-game winner, for the two homers, and drove in three runs.

Not even an electrifying steal of home by Jackie Robinson in the eighth and homers by Carl Furillo and Duke Snider could save the Dodgers who never have won a Series. Once again they opened the Series on the same frustrating note of defeat.

After Whitey Ford, the chunky lefthander, appeared to tire in the two-run eighth inning, Manager Casey Stengel brought on Bob Grim to pitch the ninth.

The fast-balling righthander struck out Pee Wee Reese, yielded a single to Snider, got Roy Campanella on a deep fly to Hank Bauer and flipped a third strike past Furillo's swinging bat to nail it down.

63,869 Attend

"Why don't they change the script," a reporter moaned as he left for the clubhouse and the customary post mortems while the crowd of 63,869 slowly streamed out of Yankee Stadium.

It was Ford's victory and another auspicious start for the Yanks who own a fabulous 16-4 record in Series competition. The winner of the opener has captured 32 of 51 previous Series. Grim deserved his share of praise and so did Elston Howard who tied the score with a two-run home run in the second inning.

Collins Hits Pair

But the big man was Collins from the coal fields of Scranton, Pa. His first homer, lined into the lower rightfield seats in the fourth sent the Yanks out front 4-3, and his second smash, a 400-

4949 Cars Set Record On Campus

More than 4949 cars have been registered with Campus Patrol during the past two weeks, Captain Philip A. Mark, Campus Patrol, said yesterday. The registration total is the highest ever recorded, Mark said.

Of the total number of cars registered, 2680 are staff and faculty cars. Student registration went over the 2000 mark. Eight hundred cars were registered without permits for students living off campus, and 1469 cars were registered with permits for students living in dormitory areas.

The record registration total was reached despite the ban on freshman cars. This is the first year freshman cars have been prohibited at the University. In previous years, seven or eight hundred freshman cars have been registered with the Campus Patrol.

The number of permits issued exceeds available parking space, Mark said. There are 3000 parking spaces on campus, 1949 less than the number of permits issued.

Traffic rules this year are basically the same as last year. Students who receive tickets for parking violations must report to Campus Patrol office not later than one class day after they receive the ticket. Failure to report will result in an automatic $1 fine.

Students will be fined $1 for the first offense; $3 for a second offense; $5 and Traffic Court Probation for the third offense; and $10 and suspension of driving privileges for 60 days for a fourth offense. Five time offenders will be forced to send their cars home for a period of ten weeks.

Soph Hat Societies To Hold Pep Rally Tonight for Game

An All-University pep rally for the Army-Penn State football game at West Point Saturday will be held at 8 tonight in front of Old Main, instead of the Hetzel Union Building as erroneously reported in the Daily Collegian yesterday.

Delphi, sophomore men's hat society, and C w e n s, sophomore women's hat society, will be in charge of the rally. The hatwomen will enter the dorms at 7:30 p.m. and round up the women students.

This will be the first pep rally of the year since the one scheduled last week for the Boston University contest was rained out.

Two hat groups have been assigned to take charge of each pep rally, according to Hat Society Council officials.

Delphi members will meet at 7 tonight at Beta Sigma Rho in order to leave for the rally as a group. Delphi members will divide into small groups when they arrive on campus to publicize the rally among male students living in dormitories.

Froth Candidates

Candidates for the Froth editorial staff will meet at 7 tonight in the Froth Office in the basement of the Hetzel Union Building.

Encampment Plans Slated for Cabinet

Two chairmen of Student Encampment committees will present reports of the committees' recommendations before All-University Cabinet at 7 tonight in 203 Hetzel Union.

Chairmen are Lawrence Adler, of the Cultural Aspects Committee, and Patricia Farrell, of the Academic Policies Committee.

Philip Beard, All-University secretary-treasurer, will move to amend a Constitution by-law regarding substitution on a Cabinet seat in case a member is absent.

Roger Beidler, Elections Committee chairman, will report on recommendations made by the committee at a meeting last night.

The promotion and financial backing of a music-culture series, called the Penn State Series, will be asked of Cabinet by Adler. The Series would replace the defunct Community Forum which was suspended last semester because of the lack of student interest.

New Course Suggested

Other suggestions concerning culture include a freshman course which would be used as an introduction to "broad" fields other than their own; programs of culture which would be encouraged within fraternities, sororities, and independent units; and the appointment of a committee on cultural aspects to establish and promote cultural programs.

Interest would have to be created for the Penn State Series, according to the report. This could be done by varying programs and making the first one so interesting students will be interested in more.

Would Use Cabinet Funds

If the experiment was started by engaging various artists singly, Cabinet's funds would be enough to back one performance at a time. Members talked over the possibility of the adding of a $1 assessment to the student tuition fee.

Other subjects taken up by the committee were ideas for the second half of the Centennial year, how Spring Week can be improved, how interest in Community Concerts can be improved, and how participation in Reli-

Committee Will Ask For Funds

Roger Beidler, Elections Committee chairman, announced last night at a committee meeting that he will ask All-University Cabinet tonight for $100 for the fall class election and $75 for each succeeding election.

The money would be used by Elections Committee to finance expenses incurred in supervising the elections. Twenty-five dollars would be spent for printing clique membership cards.

Beidler said that the fall elections for freshman and sophomore class officers will be held Wednesday and Thursday, No. 9 and 10.

Parties to Hold Meetings

Lion and Campus parties each will hold three clique meetings on Oct. 16, 23, and 30. In order to become a party member and vote for candidates, a student must attend two consecutive clique meetings.

Clique membership cards will be distributed at the second clique meetings attended by students. In order to vote for candidates, students must present their membership cards and matriculation cards, the committee decided.

Doors to the voting rooms, 121 and 10 Sparks, will be closed and guarded 15 minutes before voting begins. Students will not be admitted to the rooms after this even though they may bear membership cards.

Change in Procedure

This is a change in voting procedure from last year when membership cards were not used and many mix-ups occurred, according to the committee.

Voting for student class officers by the entire freshman and sophomore classes this fall will be in a centrally located place, preferably the lobby of Schwab Auditorium, Beidler said.

Voting for student council officers will be held the same days. Beidler said he will speak with the present council presidents in an effort to have them hold council elections at the same spot as class elections.

This would draw both class and council voters together and increase voting for both factions, Beidler said.

Elections Committee will print and distribute non-partisan signs and banners on campus at election time. The signs would be labeled with the one word, "Vote," in an effort to get students to vote for candidates regardless of party membership.

Homecoming Contest Entries Due Monday

Entries for the Homecoming Queen Contest, sponsored by Thespians musical-comedy organization, are due at 5 p.m. Monday at the Hetzel Union desk.

Entries may be sponsored by any campus group. Candidates must submit a 5 x 7-inch or larger picture, Arnold Hoffman, chairman of the queen committee, said.

6 Students Elected to AIM Board

Town Independent Men last night elected six students to represent the organization on the Association of Independent Men's Board of Governors.

Named were Leon Phillips, Norman Hedding, Philip Levine, Joseph Janus, Raymond David, and James Goodwin.

TIM also passed an amendment giving the group the right to decorate downtown store windows for the Homecoming Weekend.

To Welcome Alumni

The theme used will be "Penn State in the Next Hundred Years" with special emphasis on welcoming returning alumni.

TIM's publicity chairman announced that during the next two weeks, a large scale publicity campaign will be conducted to increase the number of active TIM members.

In describing the coming publicity campaign the projects chairman said, "We just don't have enough members."

Last night's meeting was attended by 37 students including officers.

Resolution for Mixer

As part of the program, TIM passed a resolution for a mixer to be held in four weeks at the HUB. Final arrangements are incomplete.

TIM has entered a team in intramural football competition and plans for a basketball team are now pending.

TIM's meetings are held on alternate Wednesdays with AIM. No permanent meeting place has yet been selected.

Clear and Fair Today

Today should be mostly clear and fair with a high in the high 60s and a low in the high 40s, according to the forecast of the department of meteorology. The high yesterday was 72 degrees.

Tribunal Probation Decision Upheld By Dean's Office

The dean of men's office yesterday accepted a Tribunal ruling that a junior in labor management be placed on office probation, according to Harold W. Perkins, assistant dean of men.

The student admitted before Tribunal Tuesday night to giving a false address in State College in order to receive a commuting permit.

He gave the address of 1233 W. College avenue, outside of the resident zone in the borough. His true address, according to Perkins, is 241 S. Barnard street.

Besides the office probation penalty, the student was warned that any parking or driving violation "would lead to consideration of banning his car from the University," Perkins said.

Office probation requires that the student make periodical visits to the office of the dean of men. No record of the act is placed on the student's transcript.

AIM Judicial Backs Hours Penalty

By MIKE MOYLE

The Association of Independent Men's Judicial Board of Review last night decided to include in their list of disciplinary measures, the "hours penalty" which was adopted, in experimental form, by Tribunal last week.

David Sullivan, AIM Judicial chairman, pointed out that this new form of judicial punishment will be very flexible and will be changed to fit the individual case.

Sullivan also stressed the fact that the new rule will not necessarily be made a rigid part of the penalties assessed by the board. The board is always open to new ideas that will preserve the student welfare, he said.

Under the setup adopted by Tribunal, a student would be required to stay in his dormitory or in his own unit (in the case of the West Dorms) during the evening hours. Time would be allowed for evening meals and studying.

According to Sullivan enforcement of the new penalty would have to come from the members of the board themselves. Sullivan said that they would have to make spot checks during the interval of the penalty.

The flexibility of the plan agreed upon by the Judicial Board, Sullivan pointed out, would reach even to the area to which the student would be restricted as well as the hours, and the length of the penalty.

A warning note was sounded by Harold Perkins, assistant dean of men, who told the board that they should not be too quick to formalize any plan of this sort for fear of falling into a rut of assigning a specific penalty to a specific misdemeanor.

Perkins also said that the new penalty system might not even work in some cases and added that the board should be quick to recognize this fact.

In other action the board clarified its position on which cases it will handle and which cases will be handled by Tribunal.

Sullivan, who mentioned the fact that this position has been very vague in the past, said that beginning this year AIM Judicial Board will hear cases involving independent men, "occurring or originating in residence areas." Tribunal will hear cases involving conduct unbecoming students which occur outside residence areas.

Dean Perkins pointed out that the final decision as to which board will hear the cases rests with the Dean of Men's office.

Perkins also said that it would be impossible to make a clear cut decision, in some cases, as to how the case should be handled.
