

Booters Extend Streak, 3-1, as Packer Stars

By FRAN FANUCCI

Penn State's soccer team swept to its 11th straight victory yesterday afternoon at West Point by eking out a 3-1 win over the Army Cadets as Dick Packer scored two goals, his second breaking a 1-1 deadlock in the fourth quarter.

The game, marred by a steady rain throughout the day, was the first win for the booters this year. The other 10 wins were notched over a two-year span extending back to 1953.

But, as one streak was extended, one was broken. Yesterday's loss was the first time since 1949 that an Army soccer team has been beaten on its home grounds.

The Cadets played aggressive ball throughout the contest, but it was the all-round teamwork of the Lions that spelled the difference.

For the Lions it was their leading scorer, Dick Packer, who headed the offensive brigade.

Dick Packer Scores Twice

Packer, who scored 18 goals last year to lead the team, scored his second goal at the most crucial moment in the game.

With the score tied 1-1 going into the final quarter, the booters began to move. A pass to Packer about 40 yards from the goal was all that was needed. The high-scoring ace then outraced the Cadet fullback to score and break the tie.

Army Takes Early Lead
Army had taken an early lead in the second quarter after both teams battled to a standstill in the initial one. Bob Alsheimer, center forward, scored the only Army goal with seven minutes having elapsed.

But, three minutes later Packer kicked one in to knot the score and set the stage for his tie-breaking goal in the fourth quarter.

The third Nittany goal was scored by Don Shirk, with six minutes gone by in the last quarter. The goal proved to be an important insurance marker, for the men of John Kress began to roll.

Tempers Flare
With the rain falling at a continuous rate throughout the game, accurate passing was practically impossible, causing each team to lose the ball a number of times. The game was hard fought and as it drew to a close tempers flared as each team 'roughed it up' when fighting over a loose ball.

Coach Ken Hosterman said that both his fullbacks looked good after they had shaken off their nervousness, but, he said, it was Ihor Stelynk and Steve Flamporis who played terrific games at defense.

Hosterman was hampered on the line when his first string inside right player, Ian Springer, became sick before the team left for the infirmary.

Hill Stands Out
Another player deserving of high credit was junior Ward Hill, who started at left halfback. Hill played good defensively and offensively for a player who had no previous varsity experience.

Hosterman said that the wet grounds definitely held down the ground attacks for both teams. He said it was hard keeping stable footing, which caused bad passing and plenty of falls.

The Lions return home this weekend and after a two day rest will begin heavy practices for the home opener against West Chester next Saturday.

Four Indie Teams Cop IM Victories

By MEL HERTZLER and DAVE BRONSTEIN

Fancy passing and brilliant running, especially on the return of punts, highlighted intramural football action last night on the Beaver Field practice fields.

After three hours of gang-rushing action, four independent grid teams advanced into the second round of tournament play.

Dorm 39 topped the Tigers, 20 to 0; the Crewcuts whitewashed the Screwballs, 13 to 0; the Raiders squeezed past Dorm 26, 7 to 6; and the Susies beat Dorm 12, 7 to 0.

Dorm 39 Wins, 20-0
The Tigers showed a lot of courage, especially on the line, but didn't have the power to overwhelm the spirited nine from Dorm 39. The winners scored twice in the first half and then added a third score in the second half for an easy 20-0 win.

Midway through the first half, Bill Gosnell lobbed a pass to Don Veater who in turn lifted the ball to Jon Hoffman to tally. Gosnell later scored the second touchdown on a five-yard scamper around end. He set up the score with a 55-yard return of a punt.

After Ken Gettie kicked-off for the Tigers in the second half, the ball exchanged hands four times before Dorm 39 was again in scoring territory.

Gosnell threw a bullet pass to Veater who was downed on the Tiger's 20. Gosnell then threw to Jim Herr for the third tally.

Botlock Leads Crewcuts
The Crewcuts, sparked by the passing of Tom Botlock, scored quickly against the Screwballs, and won 13 to 0.

The sharp passing by Botlock connected three consecutive times with Jim Lingle, the third accounting for the six-pointer. Botlock kicked the extra point.

The Screwballs had a threat going in the first half when Pete

Bazile intercepted a Crewcut pass. Austin Summerlin then went to the air for two quick first downs. The unyielding Crewcut line never let the losers go any further.

The Crewcuts were again on the march in the second half with Botlock throwing. On the receiving end of his aeriels were Lingle, Don O'Brien, Bill Whitman, and John Ferreri. Lingle scored the second touchdown.

Raiders Beat Dorm 26
The Raiders had the scare of their lives before they came out on top of Dorm 26, 7 to 6. All scoring was in the second half.

Don Rusiewicz, midway in the second half, dropped back and threw hard to Fred Altman. Altman made a fancy catch in the end zone. Mike Vignola kicked the extra point which turned out to be the deciding factor.

Tom Wooden tallied the lone six-pointer for Dorm 26.

The Susies, a scrappy team showing an abundance of hustle, scored a touchdown in the second half of its contest with Dorm 12, and that was all it needed, winning 7 to 0.

A 20-yard pass play from Harry Mann to Joe Sepko proved the margin of victory. Forbes' interception of a Susies pass stopped a drive on the Dorm 12 five yard line. Dave Belz showed well on offense for Dorm 12.

Lone Non-Stater

Only non-Pennsylvanian currently listed as a Penn State starter is quarterback Milton Plum, of Westville, N.J.

Pigskin Coin Flips . . .

Out On a Limb

As collegiate football moves into its second big week of play, the Daily Collegian sports staff will be out to reduce the Lion grid coaching staff's lead in the Collegian's weekly pigskin forecast.

Represented by "Tor" Toretti, the coaches last week jumped into an early lead on the basis of a 13-2 slate, good for an .866 percentage.

Roy Williams, chief on the Collegian sports desk, is in second place, followed by Assistant Sports Editor Ron Gatehouse, with .733 and .666 percentages respectively.

Staff writer Fran Fanucci trails the pack with a .600 mark. This week's representative for the coaches is J. T. White, Lion end coach.

Williams, Gatehouse, and White all picked underdog Colgate over Cornell while Fanucci went along with the favorite in today's poll.

Penn State Sports—

ON THE LINE

By ROY WILLIAMS Sports Editor

WEST POINT, N.Y.—This is the Point—home of the United States Military Academy. And Michie Stadium has been like "home" for the Cadets since its official opening in 1924.

Since then, Army has played 150 games in this concrete, horse-shoe-shaped stadium. It has won 136, lost only 12, and tied two.

Playing in front of the "home crowd" of the Corps of Cadets—2496 to be exact—the Black Knights hate to lose.

"The moment ya walk into Michie Stadium," Coach Rip Engle says, "you're two touchdowns down before the opening whistle blows."

Army hates to lose, but even more so in Michie Stadium.

BLAIK'S RECORD AT ARMY:

Won two national and six eastern championships; completed five undefeated seasons; compiled winning streaks of 32 and 28 games; named Coach of the Year in 1946, and similarly recognized by the Touchdown Club of Washington in 1953; record at Army since 1941—95 wins, 25 losses, and eight ties. During his regime the Cadets have averaged less than two defeats a year.

Capt. Pat Uebel, fullback, was the first back since Doc Blanchard to score three TD's against Navy when he turned the trick as a soph.

Ralph Chesnauskas, tackle, led the country in points-after-touchdown last year, converting 27 of 36. A three-letter man, he plays baseball and is captain and defenseman of the hockey team.

When Army dropped Penn State in 1950, the Lions were one of the four teams that scored on the Cadets, as they rolled to an 8-1 log. Penn and Navy each notched two TD's, while Michigan and Engle's squad each tallied once. Navy inflicted the only loss, 14-2.

Longest runs recorded in Michie Stadium were by Bob Vinson in '47 with an intercepted pass, and Bob Mischak on a punt return against Dartmouth in 1951. Both were for 96 yards.

Eight of Army's present gridders are on the Dean's list.
