Winless Cavaliers Host Lions Today

By ROY WILLIAMS

RICHMOND, Va. — The Lordly Cavaliers of Virginia rolled out the red carpet in welcome last night to Penn State on the eve of the Virginia-Penn State football game that will celebrate this city's colorful annual Tobacco Festival classic.

Virginia, maintaining an undefeated record in Richmond Tobacco Festival games, however, will do a direct about face this afternoon when it meets Penn State in Richmond's City Stadium in a game that could turn out to be a battle of

Billotte Sent To Morocco By Faure

PARIS, Oct. 7 (AP) — Premier Edgar Faure today sent his new defense minister, General Pierre Billotte, to take a first hand look at Morocco. His government was fighting for its life on the question of reforms in the terrorist-ridden North African protectorate.

Billotte's precise mission was not clear. He spoke of going to inspect the military situation and to talk with Gen. Pierre Boyer de Latour, the French resident general.

Debate in 2nd Day

But in view of the tense political atmosphere, with debate on Moroccan policies in its second day before the National Assembly, there seemed little possibility a member of the government could go to Morocco without discussing the political situation.

On the same plane with Billotte was Francois de Panafieu, the resident general's top deputy for civil affairs.

De Panafieu has been at odds with Boyer de Latour and has been absent from Rabat more than a week.

No Major Debate

The Assembly debate produced few developments. The orators were mostly of secondary importance and their positions of opposition either to the government's policies or the execution of the plan were well known.

The future of the government was still uncertain. Backstage strategists were hard at work, some for and some against Faure.

Faure may decide not to make the issue a matter of confidence in his government. The original plan was to call such a vote Monday.

FMA Application

Application blanks for two positions on the Fraternity Marketing Association's board of trustees may be obtained at the dean of men's office in Old Main.

The positions are open to all juniors belonging to fraternities which are members of FMA.

Lion Steering Committee

Lion party will hold an open steering committee meeting at 2 p.m. tomorrow in 217 Willard. Thomas Dye, clique chairman, will appoint remaining positions to the steering committee.

Today Is Deadline For Book Refunds

The Used Book Agency will stop refunding money at noon today. Refunds are available in the television room of the Hetzel Union Building.

Unsold books will be returned for "about two weeks yet," according to UBA officials. The books may be picked up in the Book Exchange.

All unclaimed money and books become the property of the agency.

left halfbacks. For the Lions, it's halfback Lenny Moore, who Virginia's coach Ned McDonald rates as the best back that his team will face this year.

And for Virginia it's Herb 'Snapper' Hartwell, 190-pound pre-med student, who has been handling the opposing defenses with the finesse of a high-priced surgeon.

Hartwell is the fastest of Virginia's backs. Against Clemson and George Washington, he carried Radio station WMAJ will carry the play-by-play coverage of Penn State's football contest with Virginia today at Richmond, Va., at 3:15 p.m. (EDT). Warm-up time for the game will start at 3 p.m. with Bob Prince broadcasting the game 15 minutes later.

ried 16 times for 147 yards. That gave him an average of 9.2 yards per carry, and more than doubled his average of a year ago, when he lugged the pigskin 93 times for 390 yards and a 4.2 average.

But with all this from Hartwell, McDonald's offense has shown little. Despite Hartwell, who is not as fast as Moore but is a hard-runner, McDonald's attack has netted only seven points in two outings.

For the Lions, Coach Rip Engle will go with Moore, Billy Kane at right half, Bob Hoffman at quarterback, and Buck Straub at fullback.

With Straub fully recuperated after suffering a broken hand six weeks ago running fullback and doubling at linebacker, plus Moore on the defense, Virginia meets a double threat to both its passing and ground attack.

Penn State's front line, however, is being sponsored by the office of the dean of men.

'Indie' Dance Band To Hold Tryouts

Tryouts for a dance band to provide music for Independent functions will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday in Hamilton lounge.

Future plans for the band include a series of dances and Sunday afternoon jam sessions.

An invitation to participate in the activity has been issued to all Independent men.

The group is being sponsored by the office of the dean of men.

Parties Will Hold 1st Clique Meetings

Campus and Lion parties tomorrow enter the first week of a month of nominating speeches, voting, campaigning, and publicity with the first of three Sunday clique meetings held to nominate and elect clique and class officers.

Nominating speeches for clique offices will be heard at tomorrow's meetings. Campus party will meet in 10 Sparks and Lion party in 121 Sparks. Both meetings will begin at 7 p.m.

All-University elections for freshman and sophomore class offices will be held Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 9 and 10, in the basement of the Hetzel Union Building,

Band to Use Foster Theme At Virginia

The Blue Band will use the theme, Stephen Foster, Pennsylvania's composer of southern life, for its half-time performance at the University of Virginia football game in Richmond this afternoon.

The band will enter the field playing "Nittany" and then form a "U of V" and play "Carry Me Back to Dixie," a combination of the songs "Dixie" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia." Then the group will form a "PSU" and play the Alma Mater.

To carry out the theme, the band will play four of Foster's songs. The group will form a cabin and play "My Old Kentucky Home." Reforming into a banjo, the band will play "O Susanna."

A race track and small band will be the formation for "Camptown Races." Then the group will make the regular band formation and do a soft shoe dance routine to "Swanee River."

The band will march off the field playing "Victory."

Members of the band left State College early yesterday for Richmond. Last night, the Blue Band was one of the featured bands in the seventh annual Tobacco Festival parade.

Heat Causes 'Cold' Increase

The temporary 'heat wave' that hit the campus yesterday caused a rush of new cold cases to descend upon the dispensary.

Approximately 130 patients were treated at the dispensary from 8 a.m. to noon yesterday. Of these, about 40 were cold cases.

Thursday, approximately 180 students were examined at the dispensary. Officials considered it a 'light day,' with only 40 cold complaints.

The University infirmary announced 18 patients with nine of these confined due to the effects of the 'cold bug'.

Leader Says Taxes Should Increase

By RON LEIK

Governor George M. Leader said last night he believes the state and federal tax bill the people have to carry should get bigger each year, and the local government should get a larger share of it.

The governor spoke in the Nittany Lion Inn before the Municipal and Local Finance Officers of Pennsylvania, which is holding a two-day conference at the University.

He cited as reasons for his belief in a bigger tax bill the growing complexity of government and the "increasing demands and increasing productivity of our society."

However, he said he thinks the local and state governments should get "bigger slices of the tax pie." He is in favor of more "home rule" and less "pyramiding" of the government structure, he said.

"An idea of the immensity of this tri-level taxation problem was borne home to me during tax conferences intended to achieve a solution of the state's tax muddle," he said.

They discovered, he continued, nearly 50 federal, state, and local taxes in existence. In addition there are hundreds of sub-classifications of taxes and a myriad of licenses, fees, and other levies, he said.

"The extent of tri-level taxation staggers the imagination," he said. Pennsylvanians pay more than $5 billion a year in federal taxes, more than $800 million to the state treasury, and almost $500 million to city, borough, school district, and county treasuries. "Certainly the federal government has become overextended in recent years. This is a view shared by many Republicans and Democrats alike," he said.

The federal government, the governor said, has no prior right to the tax money. The wealth of the nation is to be found in the states, he said.

"When we send tax dollars to Washington that are ultimately intended for local use, we increase the power of centralized authority and the cost of administration," he said.

He mentioned as an example the federal gasoline tax, through which Washington collects more than $41 million a year in Pennsylvania. However, he said, he cannot criticize this tax so long as the federal government uses either in the card room or the pingpong table thoroughfare, according to Elections Committee.

Students must attend one of the first two meetings in order to vote for candidates for class offices at the final clique meetings on Oct. 23. Membership cards will be distributed by Elections Committee members and members of Alpha Phi Omega, national service honorary, at tomorrow night's and next Sunday's meetings.

Besides attending one of the first two meetings, a student must present his membership card for the party of his choice and matriculation card in order to vote for candidates Oct. 23.

At next Sunday's meetings, clique office nominations will be closed and voted upon and class offices will be opened for nominations. After nominations are closed at the final meeting, clique members will vote for class candidates.

Dates Moved Back

Originally, Elections Committee had planned for the meetings to be held Oct. 16, 23, and 30. However, lack of time in arranging of campaigns and promotion of candidates and platforms before the elections only nine days away from the final meeting caused the dates to be moved back a week.

Doors to the voting rooms at the final meetings will be closed 15 minutes before voting begins. Students will not be allowed to enter the rooms after this time even though they may bear membership cards.

In last year's elections, membership cards distributed by Elections Committee were not used and many mix-ups, including voting for both parties, occurred.

Six Positions Opposite

Freshman and sophomore clique and class offices are open to all students in these classes. Six positions will be filled in the class elections. They are freshman and sophomore class president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer.

Friends of students wishing offices may nominate them by means of short speeches at the clique meetings.

Although the parties will distribute publicity and campaign for their candidates before elections, Elections Committee will also distribute signs and banners on campus.

Ticket Sale Warning Sounded

Douglas Moorehead, president of the student Athletic Association, warned students yesterday that it is illegal to sell their football tickets.

In a discussion at the All-University Cabinet meeting Thursday night he pointed out that there is a University rule against selling the tickets and a revenue law which prevents selling them above $3.50.

The warning was addressed particularly to student "scalpers" who reportedly were selling their tickets for the Navy game as high as $20 apiece.

Moorehead asked students to notify him or the Athletic office in Recreation Hall of anyone who is selling tickets, especially at high prices. Dean of Men Frank J. Simes reiterated Moorehead's statement that students may be apprehended under two separate laws.

In other Cabinet business, Robert Bahrenburg, junior class president, moved that committee chairmen submitting reports to Cabinet also specify to which committee the report is to be referred. The list is only a suggestion for Cabinet to work on. The motion passed unanimously.

All-University President Earl Seely appointed three persons to a committee to investigate the possibility of having Sunday movies in Schwab Auditorium. Chairman of the committee is Richard Rigling. Other members are Dean Mullen, and Kenneth Cumblidge.

CPIC Committee Alters Membership

Cabinet Personnel Interviewing Committee has changed its membership from the presidents of the nine student councils to the vice presidents of the councils.

Two weeks ago All-University Cabinet approved the switch in committee members because it was felt that the work would allow the vice presidents more practical experience and would permit the presidents more time to perform their council duties.

Members voted Edmond Kramer, of the Council of Business Administration, president of the group, and Barbara Hill, vice president of Home Economics Council, secretary.

Other members and their councils are: Robert Neiman, chemis-
