

Three Western Nations Propose 'Atom' Conclave

Atomic Energy For Peace Use Topic for Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 7 (AP)—The United States, Britain and Australia today called for a second conference within three years on the use of atomic power for peace.

In a resolution put before the UN Assembly's Political Committee, those three powers said continuing international cooperation in developing and expanding the peaceful uses of atomic energy is essential for the benefit of mankind.

They reported widespread satisfaction with the first conference held in Geneva last August.

Another Resolution

In a separate resolution, India, Yugoslavia and Burma also proposed another conference but suggested it be held at an "appropriate" date.

As the committee debate opened, Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.), U.S. delegate in the Assembly, disclosed the Soviet Union has replied to American proposals for an international atoms-for-peace agency. He said the reply would be considered carefully.

Reds To Aid Pool

The Russians have promised to contribute atomic materials to a peaceful pool but have withheld agreement on joining the scheme which first as put before the UN by President Eisenhower on Dec. 8, 1953.

Pastore predicted an agreement on the international agency would be reached early next year. American sources said they expected the agency to be operating by the end of 1956.

Statute Opposed

Some small and medium countries, especially from Asia, were dissatisfied with the proposed statute sent out by the United States in August. These countries were said to feel the big powers were given too much authority.

The statute gives final authority on actions of the proposed international agency to a group of five powers—the United States, Britain, France, Soviet Union and Canada.

The statute does not outline the exact relationship of the agency to the UN.

Peron's Plan Called Farce

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 7 (AP)—"The atomic farce of the 20th century"—a pipedream that cost Argentina an estimated billion pesos ($71.5 million).

That was the way investigators for the new provisional government described today the atoms-for-peace project Juan D. Peron dramatically announced in 1951.

The dictator—now in exile in Paraguay—created a worldwide sensation when he proclaimed that Argentina had discovered the secrets of atomic power and was on the threshold of producing nuclear power for peaceful purposes.

Craig Heads Home To Open Meetings On Strike Riots

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Oct. 7 (AP)—Governor George N. Craig sent word he is hurrying back to Indiana from Florida late today, a few hours after Perfect Circle Corp. won city officials' permission to re-open Monday its foundry where eight persons were shot in rioting Wednesday.

Gov. Craig's office in Indianapolis immediately arranged for a conference of company, union and law enforcement officials Sunday afternoon in the Statehouse.

Craig's aides would not say whether his return was prompted by the piston ring company's decision, approved by Mayor Paul F. McCormack of New Castle, or how he was traveling.

Meanwhile, ranking National Guard officers had informed McCormack that they intend to withdraw their men and equipment from the foundry property before it opens Monday. They said, however, that their strength would be immediately available if needed in case of any disorders.

West Proposal Told

BOURNEMOUTH, England, Oct. 7 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan announced today the West will offer Russia a "military understanding" in exchange for a Soviet agreement to reunify Germany by free elections.

This proposal will be made by the U.S., British and French foreign ministers at the four-power Geneva talks Oct. 27, he said.

Student Attacked

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 7 (AP)—Donald Wolfe, 15, a Butler High School pupil, today bore scars that formed the letters 'H' and 'HB.' The initials were cut into his skin by four youths who accosted him on a street at night.

Wolfe is one of four Butler High School pupils to be attacked since the Butler and Har-Brack High School football teams played to a 7-7 deadlock Friday. Police theorize the intense football rivalry brought on the attacks.

James C. Hagerty told a news conference, "that the secretary would discuss with the President matters with which the President is very familiar and topics which will come up at the Geneva conference of foreign ministers which opens Oct. 27."

These topics include unification of Germany, European security, disarmament, and increased East-West contacts.

The Eisenhower-Dulles talks will follow a weekend visit by Vice President Nixon.

DENVER, Oct. 7 (AP)—For President Eisenhower's lunch today there was a surprise—a bowl of his favorite vegetable soup, prepared by his valet, John Mooney. Using the President's own recipe Mooney put the soup on to simmer two days ago.

The announcement that Dulles will fly to Denver came as the chief executive neared the close of his first critical two weeks on the recovery road. Medical bulletins today repeated the familiar theme that Eisenhower is making satisfactory progress "without complications."

An ever-present "if" still is attached both to the Nixon visit and the Dulles conference. They will take place "if" the chief executive's doctors allow them. But if Eisenhower continued to make the expected headway, as his physicians say he has done so far, no medical barriers will be erected to the meetings.

Nixon is due here from Washington early tomorrow afternoon aboard the President's plane, the Columbine III. Flying with him will be Eisenhower's White House chief of staff, Sherman Adams; the President's son, Maj. John Eisenhower, and the Boston heart specialist, Dr. Paul Dudley White.

Mexican River Recedes

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 7 (AP)—The swollen Panuco River at Tampico remained at the same level overnight after dropping a few inches and neartened 100,000 persons driven from their homes by hurricanes and flood.

But the water still was 19 feet above flood stage and the forecast of rain later today posed the danger the river might rise again.

Lewis Leaves Hospital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—John L. Lewis, 75, president of the United Mine Workers, left Emergency Hospital today after a two-week convalescence from "a very minor heart attack."

Lewis went from the hospital to his home at nearby Alexandria, Va.

Stevenson Hits GOP Farm Program

GREEN BAY, Wis., Oct. 7 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said tonight the nation's farm problem is a "desperately difficult one," and the present Republican policy of sliding or flexible supports "is not working."

"Instead of eliminating surpluses, as advertised," Stevenson said "it is eliminating farmers, as not advertised. After two or three years of heroics, ballyhoo and unprecedented applause from the Republican press, our past problems are all still with us, just as we Democrats foresaw."

"Export subsidies, import quotas still sharply conflict with our declarations about freer world trade. There is still indefensible discrimination between different commodities, storables and perishables. And the burdensome surpluses are still burdening us. As a result the problem of controls, effective controls, still remains."

In a speech prepared for the Wisconsin State Democratic convention Stevenson added:

"Yet the difficulties that now beset the farmer pose grave problems and also dangerous temptations. It will be tempting to us Democrats to say: 'Return the Democrats and the farm problem will be solved.' And let me say, parenthetically, thank heaven it is a problem of too much instead of too little as it is in so much of the world where I have been."

"Well, let's leave that kind of talk to the Republicans. For such promises, or even more moderate ones, will do us no credit in the eyes of an awakened American farmer.

"The farm problem is a desperately difficult one. It has been made more difficult by the neglect, the indifference, the postponement and the slogan-making of these past years. Let us not promise what we cannot perform. Farmers will trust the Democratic party next time but they will not trust it to perform miracles."

The former Illinois governor, who has not announced whether he will be a candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, told the Wisconsin convention "it is unfair and dangerous that farmers, alone among the great economic groups in our country, are not sharing in the current prosperity. The farmer's lot gets worse while for everybody else things get better."

tims.

Government and airline officials sifted the wreckage in an effort to determine what caused the United Air Lines DC4 to smash headlong into the top of 12,005-foot Medicine Bow Peak yesterday.
