

9 IFC Workshops Begin With Banquet Tonight

Nine Interfraternity Council workshops will begin at 5:30 tonight when workshop members meet at the houses of discussion leaders for dinner.

The workshops will continue tomorrow night ending with a banquet at 6 p.m. Thursday in the Hetzel Union ballroom, Carl Saperstein, workshop publicity chairman, said yesterday.

Each workshop will pertain to a specific fraternity job, ranging from house managers to pledge-masters. Fraternities have been asked to send at least one representative to each meeting, Saperstein said.

Problems to be Aired
At tonight's workshops, fraternity problems will be aired, and possible solutions to these and other problems will be offered. If the discussion groups feel they need more time for discussion, the group will meet again tomorrow night at the house of the discussion leader.

The speaker at the concluding banquet in the HUB will be Horace Nichol, vice-chairman of the national IFC. Each house is allowed to send three representatives to the banquet; two undergraduates, and the fraternity adviser.

To Publish Booklet
After the workshops are completed, IFC will publish a booklet containing the problem and the proposed solutions which were discussed at the various group meetings. Roger Alexander, Delta Tau Delta, will edit the booklet. The booklet will be distributed to houses at the University. Copies will also be sent to IFC organizations at other colleges and universities in the country.

Workshop chairman is Samuel Wolcott, Delta Upsilon; Robert Noah, Charles Cahan, Delta Upsilon, are workshop assistants. Carl Saperstein, Sigma Alpha Mu, is publicity chairman.

Discussion leaders and the places where the groups will meet are Presidents: William Landis, Theta Chi; Rushing: Richard Seng, Phi Delta Theta; Social: Richard Jamieson, Delta Upsilon; Scholastic: Carl Nale, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Public Relations: Verge Volpe, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Treasurer: Hugh Cline, Phi Gamma Delta; Alumni Relations: Donald Woods, Lambda Chi Alpha; Pledge Masters: Richard Coolbaugh, Chi Phi; House Managers: Frederic Montanari, Phi Kappa Sigma.

Seely to Ask Cabinet OK Of Appointees

All-University President Earl Seely will ask All-University Cabinet to approve the appointments of nine students to committees at Cabinet's meeting Thursday night.

Five students were chosen by Cabinet Personnel Interviewing Committee for membership on the Centennial Committee. Seely approved the selections. The five are: Sandra Guskey, freshman in journalism; Lee Cohen, freshman in journalism; Barbara Kinrier, sophomore in education; Richard Moon, sophomore in business administration, and Patricia Ann Jones, junior in business administration.

Seely also named four students to look into the possibility of revising Spring Week for the spring semester. If a Spring Week plan is approved by Cabinet and the Senate Committee on Student Affairs, the four will serve as the nucleus of the Spring Week Committee.

The students are: William Seng, senior in mechanical engineering, chairman; Elizabeth Rodgers, senior in education; Judith Tame, junior in arts and letters, and Douglas Moorhead, senior in horticulture.

Concert Tickets On Sale in HUB

The Association of Independent Men's block of tickets for the first Community Concert are now on sale at the Hetzel Union desk. Approximately 25 tickets remain for sale.

The Philharmonic Piano Quartet will present the first concert at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in Schwab Auditorium. Independent men and women may purchase the $2 tickets for this concert only. Tickets for future concerts may be purchased one week prior to the concert.

The tickets will be marked with AIM and a number. Persons buying the tickets will sign their name and address at the time of the purchase.

Representatives of AIM will be stationed at the entrances to Schwab Auditorium to collect the tickets.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young engineer pioneers in design and sales of new tiny transistors

The germanium transistor—some smaller than the eraser end of a pencil and able to operate on a few thousandths of a watt—is probably one of the most promising developments in the electronics field today. It opens the way to new midget radios, TV sets flat enough to hang on a wall and many other exciting possibilities.

One of the men who helped design and perfect these tiny transistors—and the man who is now head of sales for all General Electric germanium products—is James H. Sweeney, Manager—Marketing, Semiconductor Products Department.

Sweeney's Work Interesting, Vital

As early as 1948, Sweeney was head of a group that studied the design and possible uses of germanium products. He gained national recognition for his work in developing and introducing these products to other industries, and when a new Semiconductor Products Department was formed in 1953, Sweeney was a natural choice for the job of marketing these products.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When Sweeney came to General Electric in 1941, he worked in many different departments until he finally found the work he wanted to do. Like Sweeney, each of the 25,000 college-graduate employees is given the chance to grow, to find the work he does best, and to realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When fresh young minds are given the freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, the country.

JAMES H. SWEENEY joined G.E. in 1941 after graduating with a B.S. degree in E.E. from the University of Pennsylvania. During World War II he served four years with the Army.
