

Couple Forms Club To Promote Prexy For President Race

A couple in Washington, D.C., has formed a club to promote Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the University, for the presidential candidacy in 1956.

The vice president of the Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce has named Dr. Eisenhower as a possible successor to President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

University Denies Union Accusations

The University yesterday denied a charge by a service employees union that it is not dealing in good faith in regards to recent commitments on the practice of "split-shifts" and job posting.

Local 417, Building Service Employees, AFL, has accused the University of not complying with certain agreements made at a meeting on July 28. The union has organized the janitors, maids, food service workers and similar employees at the University.

Dixon Reports on Meeting
Kenneth Dixon, president of the local, said the officials of the University at the meeting proclaimed a great desire to eliminate the 'split-shift' and job posting.

The split-shift means that employees work for several hours at a time, are free several hours, then must return to work for a couple more hours. Job posting, which the union requested, is the practice of making job vacancies available for competition and not having a supervisor move an employee into a position.

In answer to the charges, the University said the administration is "pursuing both issues in good faith."

Split-Shift Practice
The split-shift practice is used in only one isolated area of the University and affects fewer than 20 employees, the administration claimed. In that area, a spokesman said, a new supervisor has recently been employed and he has been asked to give suggestions on the split-shift question.

In the matter of job posting, the University has been following this practice in one area—affecting nearly 1000 employees—for two and a half years.

The procedure is difficult to install quickly everywhere, the spokesman said, but the administration is confident that eventually this matter will be solved to the satisfaction of everyone interested.

These are the latest developments in the series of events in which Dr. Eisenhower has been suggested for the 1956 presidential race.

However, Dr. Eisenhower has not indicated his sentiments on the question one way or the other. He was still in Denver yesterday visiting his brother in Fitzsimons Hospital. He is expected to return to the University today.

On this, his second trip to Denver, Dr. Eisenhower was accompanied by Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Couple Forms Club
The Milton Eisenhower Club was formed by Dr. and Mrs. Harold M. Dudley in Washington, D.C., to boost Dr. Eisenhower for next year's Republican presidential nomination, according to the Associated Press.

Dudley is executive secretary of the Greater Washington Industrial Council, and his wife is a former president of the Federation of Republican Women in Montgomery County, Md.

Two Acted Alone
The Dudleys emphasized they were acting without Dr. Eisenhower's knowledge or consent. The couple said: "He is the Republican most likely to obtain the support of independent voters and win the election."

Meanwhile, in Philadelphia Monday, in a totally unrelated incident, Dr. Eisenhower was boosted as the president's possible successor by Frank Binswanger.

Name Called 'Magic'
Speaking at a board meeting of the Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, Binswanger said the name of Eisenhower "possessed such magic throughout the world" that in the event "Ike" chooses not to seek a second term, his brother Milton could carry out the plans of the Eisenhower administration.

Binswanger returned recently from a 35,000-mile tour of 15 countries as Philadelphia's "business ambassador." He is a prominent Philadelphia realtor.

At least four top Republicans have cited Dr. Eisenhower as a possible candidate. The list includes Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Presidential Assistant Harold E. Stassen, and Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Dulles Discloses Talks Between U.S., Red China

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles disclosed today the United States and Red China have begun formal discussions of their Far East disputes.

Dulles also revealed the Chinese Communists, in ambassadorial talks under way at Geneva since Aug. 1, have formally raised for the first time their proposal that he meet personally with Red China's Premier Chou En-lai.

The United States has in the past held itself aloof from diplomatic involvement with the Peiping regime, which it does not recognize. This country agreed reluctantly to the Geneva talks in the hope of freeing 41 Americans detained inside China.

Red China, slow in following through on a Sept. 10 agreement to free the Americans, has been pressing for talks on the other half of the agenda—"other practical matters." These include such differences as free world curbs on trade with Red China and Peiping's claims to the United Nations seat occupied by Nationalist China.

The United States heretofore has held back on discussing these questions at Geneva, demanding proof first that 25 Americans still in China will be allowed to leave. Dulles' disclosures represented somewhat of a departure from this policy, possibly signaling U.S. satisfaction that Red China will fulfill its promise.

New, too, is word that the Chinese Communists have formally raised their proposal for high-level talks, although a number of trial balloons have been floated by Peiping propaganda and neutralists like India.

Dulles made it clear at a news conference that he opposes this kind of a meeting until the U.S. and Red Chinese special envoys at Geneva have squeezed all they can out of negotiations.

Dulles' news conference, expected to be his last in Washington before the Oct. 27 big four foreign ministers conference at Geneva, touched also on European and Middle East questions.

Solicitations Begin For Campus Chest

The first day Campus Chest contributions were termed satisfactory by committee officials last night; however, no figures or tabulations were given.

The goal is $1 per person, or $6000 for the entire solicitations drive. For each contribution, the student will sign a card designating to which group or groups he wishes to give the money.

An engraved trophy will be presented to the fraternity and sorority with the highest percentage and amount of contributions. However, several of these groups have already contributed 100 per cent, so the winner will be selected on percentage plus the highest

Lieske to Start Informational AIM Program

Bruce Lieske, Association of Independent Men president, will begin an informational program at the AIM Board of Governors meeting at 7 tonight in 203 Hetzel Union. Lieske will report on Student Encampment, which was held last month at the Mont Alto Forestry School, and the National Student Association.

Board of Governors members will also receive copies of the Hetzel Union directory and calendar and the AIM calendar.

Lieske said yesterday that he feels "student leaders should be informed."

An optional test on things in general concerning the University will be given to AIM governors in the near future, he said. Another means of information to be used in the near future, according to Lieske, is mimeographed agendas and reports.

Simes Includes Second Semester Frosh in Car Ban

Dean of Men Frank J. Simes said yesterday that the freshman car ban applies to second semester students as well as first semester.

Simes said he believes that some second semester freshmen do not realize they are included in the ban.

Freshmen discovered with cars on campus or in State College are subject to suspension.

Applications for hearings by the Association of Independent Men freshman car screening committee are now being accepted at the Hetzel Union desk.

Freshmen who feel they should be permitted cars on campus should apply in the form of a letter for an interview, according to Bruce Lieske, AIM president.

Interviews will probably begin Thursday if the AIM Board of Governors tonight approves the appointments to the committee.

Profs to Visit Rutgers

Dr. Benjamin A. Whisler, professor and head of the department of civil engineering, and Frank A. Peikert, professor and head of the department of agricultural engineering, are members of an Engineering Council for Professional Development inspection team visiting Rutgers University this week for accreditation purposes.

Froth Editorial Candidates

Old and new candidates for the Froth editorial staff will meet at 7 tonight in the Froth office in the basement of the Hetzel Union building.

Collegian Candidates

Students interested in working on the editorial staff of the Daily Collegian will meet at 7 tonight in 1 Carnegie. Students need not be journalism majors to join the staff.

amount of contributions. Kappa Kappa Gamma has begun a car-washing project for Campus Chest, and so far has earned $10.

Last year the top fraternity contributed $53 and highest sorority gave $66.

Organizations Combined

Campus Chest is a combination of 15 organizations. World University Service provides aid to students and professors in furthering education in underdeveloped and war-torn countries. Penn State Scholarship Fund is solely supported by contributions of the student body and sponsors scholarships to students.

The Women's Student Government Association Christmas Fund buys gifts for orphans, provides services for hospital patients, and sets up a loan fund for University students.

'Chest' for Community

State College Welfare Fund is the State College community "Chest." American Red Cross serves any disaster that may occur in the United States, and the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund devotes its entire resources to research in the field of cancer.

The American Cancer Society is devoted to the control of cancer through a program of education, service, and research. The National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students enables hundreds of negro students to enroll in colleges all over the country.

Sponsors Research

The American Heart Association sponsors and finances research in heart diseases. United Cerebral Palsy is a fund used for the establishment of clinics, treatment centers, and special education facilities.

The Salvation Army provides physical and spiritual service to persons in all walks of life, and has established rehabilitation and worship centers throughout the world. The Center County Heart Association expends its efforts in the State College area, although it is a chapter of the Pennsylvania Heart Association.

Patrol Ousts 14 'Camped' In Rec Hall

By LARRY JACOBSON

Fourteen students, prepared to stay all night in order to buy tickets to the Penn-Penn State game, were ousted from Recreation Hall last night by two Campus Patrol officers.

The officers, acting under orders from Ernest B. McCoy, dean of the College of Physical Education and Athletics, removed the students at 10:15 p.m.

When questioned, the patrolmen declined to disclose their names.

The students, complete with books and blankets, were sitting in the corridor adjacent to the ticket office. Tickets will go on sale at 8:15 a.m. today.

When asked why they were waiting all night for tickets, the students replied they wanted tickets on the 50-yard line. Most of the group felt the student allotment of tickets for the game would be sold out early. "There are only so many tickets available," one student said, "and we want good ones."

The ticket office announced yesterday tickets would be limited to four per student.

Chem-Phys Council To Plan Frosh Elections

The Chemistry-Physics Student Council will set up final plans for the election of freshman representatives at 7 tonight in 214 Hetzel Union.

The council will also discuss arrangements for the Chem-Phys Open House and the student-faculty mixer.

APhiO Votes to Oppose Ugly Man for Pitt Week

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, voted Monday night not to hold their annual Ugly Man Contest prior to Pitt weekend.

The group voted instead to hold a contest of stick posters. According to present plans, the entries would be paraded around the track of Beaver Field immediately before the Pitt game. Judging would take place at that time.

Robert Stroup, member of the University Student Centennial Committee, presented his committee's idea concerning having the Ugly Man Contest at that time. He also suggested that if APhiO was opposed to this plan they could have a Pitt Man Contest which could be run very similarly to their Ugly Man Contest.

Will Not Sponsor Contest

Members of APhiO said they did not want to have the Ugly Man Contest this fall because that would take away their major spring activity.

They said they did not want to have a contest of this type for Pitt Weekend because they didn't feel they had the time to prepare for it; there are too many contests at this time of year that require putting someone up from the fraternity groups; fraternities would not welcome the additional work involved in the contest at this time; the weather might be harmful to the contest; it would not improve the University in the eyes of others to hold the contest at this time; it would be difficult to collect money as the Campus Chest drive would have just been completed; and independents do not have a very good chance to participate in such a contest.

Better Time Suggested

Stroup said he felt that there would not be a more advantageous time for the fraternity and (Continued on page eight)
