

Ike Asks Russia to Join In 'Spirit of Conciliation'

DENVER, Oct. 26 (AP)—President Dwight D. Eisenhower, on the eve of the Big Four foreign ministers conference, put it up to Russia today to join in promoting "a peace of justice" in a spirit of reconciliation.

With the conference opening tomorrow in Geneva, the convalescing President said "peaceful progress for which the world longs" can be achieved there if the Soviet Union matches the sincerity of the Western powers—the United States, Great Britain and France.

Eisenhower's statement underscoring his deep and active interest in the conference in the midst of recuperation from a heart attack came as his doctors continued their encouraging reports.

Reflecting the optimistic note of the doctors, a newsman who saw the President yesterday for the first time since his Sept. 24 heart attack wrote "you never would guess" from the way Eisenhower looks that he had an attack.

Garnett D. Horner of the Washington D.C. Star said "the famous Eisenhower grin is working nearly full time."

For the first time this week Eisenhower's still highly limited business schedule was clear of official visitors today. Tomorrow he will do a little work with a couple of aides on his January state of the union message.

In his statement on the foreign ministers conference, the President harked back to the summit meeting he had at Geneva last July with Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden and French Premier Edgar Faure.

He recalled he said at the start of the conference that the purpose was to "create a new spirit that will make possible future solutions of problems which are within our responsibilities."

But Eisenhower recalled, too, that he said after the July conference that the "acid test" of Soviet sincerity would come at about to open.

Former Attendant Admits Beating Girl Inmates

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 26 (AP)—A former attendant at the Pennsylvania Training School at Morgantown today admitted physically reprimanding girl inmates of the institution but denied any brutality in the acts.

Testifying before a bipartisan legislative investigating committee Robert L. Price, 30, denied that he ever administered brutal beating as charged earlier by four girl inmates of the school for delinquent children.

Price said that under a program put into effect by George W. Miles, superintendent, physical reprimands were authorized to punish unruly inmates.

"I used a belt and one time a paddle to discipline some of the girls and I may have used open hands at times," Price told the committee in the Washington County Court House.

Asked if he ever had struck girls in the face with his hand, Price replied "no," in a sharp tone.

Four girl inmates of the institution, ranging in age from 14 to 16, testified behind closed doors earlier today that they were "brutally beaten, kicked and in other ways mistreated."

Strike Closes 40 Electrical Plants

Westinghouse Electric Corp. today counted 40 plants closed by two striking unions in deadlocks over wages and contracts.

The two unions—the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and the Independent United Electrical Workers represent more than 61,000 employees. Both are demanding a 15-cent hourly wage increase.

The CIO-IUE called its 44,000 members out on strike Oct. 16. The IUE members walked off the job at midnight last night.

The company has offered to increase wages a minimum of 23½ cents an hour over the next five years in a five-year contract that also provides for a cost of living escalator clause.

National Assembly Hits Faure's French Policies

PARIS, Oct. 26 (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure came under sharp attack from all sides in the National Assembly tonight during a one-day debate on general policies. His position was considered perilous.

A barrage of bad news for France from all over the world contributed to his predicament. But to a large degree, speakers in the debate were firing opening campaign guns in anticipation of December elections. Party doctrine was a key point in every speech.

The proposal for the early voting was made by Faure and if tonight's debate turns against the government, it might be the end of the project. Many deputies in favor of waiting until the regularly scheduled election date next June were itching to oust Faure before the proposal can be translated into action.

Twice in the last two weeks Faure has come back from what looked like almost certain defeat to win votes by unusually large majorities. He may be able to find some unexpected friends during the final backstage maneuvering tonight. If not, he has Cabinet authorization to call for a vote of confidence. This would automatically delay the vote until Friday and give Faure a little more time to seek support.
