

Five Colleges Elect 19 Frosh to Council Posts

Elections for freshman positions to eight of the nine college councils closed yesterday as five councils added 19 students to their rosters.

Twenty per cent of the freshmen in the College of Education voted seven students to the Education Council.

Blood Drive Goal Is Set At 900 Pints

A 900-pint goal has been set for the student blood drive to be held Nov. 7, 8 and 9.

The original goal of 475 pints was increased when it was learned that additional facilities would be provided by the Johnstown bloodmobile. Donations will be accepted in the card and television room of the Hetzel Union Building.

The competition between advanced Army and Air ROTC units and the entire Navy ROTC will not be held. Instead, each group will strive for 100% participation.

Schedule slips and minor release forms are available at the Hetzel Union desk, West Halls Student Union desk, and the Nittany-Pollock area. The schedule slips must be picked up by Tuesday. The release forms do not have to be turned in with the schedule slips, but may be brought to the bloodmobile when the student gives blood.

Each sorority has been given five schedule slips. They will be collected today.

The drive is sponsored by the Red Cross campus unit in connection with the Johnstown Regional Blood Center.

Cosmopolitan Club To Present Skit

A skit depicting the story of India will be enacted under the sponsorship of the Cosmopolitan Club at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the Hetzel Union Auditorium.

The skit, entitled "Where Dawn Never Dies," is a presentation of the main events in the history of India which have left a mark on the people.

The skit material was organized by Krishan and Shanti Tangri. Krishan, a research associate in metallurgy, will direct the skit. His brother, who helped him prepare the material, is a graduate student in economics at the University of California, Berkeley.

Naval Electronics Unit Will Meet Monday

The Naval Reserve Electronics Unit 4-3 will hold an organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday in 300 Engineering "E".

Any veteran, male or female, or non-veteran male, may join. Each veteran will receive a full day's pay in his discharge pay grade for each meeting that he attends in the fiscal year 1956.

They are Thelma Baker, James Beamer, Judith Berman, John Bott, Sandra Grotzky, Heather Lohrentz, and James Young Jr.

Four freshmen elected to the Liberal Arts Council are Saul Bernstein, Lee Cohen, Richard Friedman, and Mary Peters. Thirty-six per cent of the freshmen in the college voted.

Ann Beveridge, Barbara Bixler, and Sally McCoy were elected to the Home Economics Council by fifty per cent of the freshmen in the college.

3 Frosh Elected
Three freshmen elected to the Chemistry and Physics Council are Patrick Kinney, Daniel Friday, and Maryln King. The names of sophomores elected to the council will not be announced until noon today, Joseph Eberly, council member, said last night. Forty per cent of the freshmen and 25 per cent of the sophomores in the college voted.

Stephen Garban and Nancy Hutchison were elected to the Physical Education Council. Approximately 95 per cent of the freshmen in the college voted as elections were held in joint classes of all freshmen men and women yesterday morning.

Seventh Frosh Elected
Edward Kaleshefski is the seventh freshman to be elected to the Engineering and Architecture Council. Announcement was delayed of his election because of lack of time to count ballots of nominees in the architecture and architectural engineering departments in the college.

Discounting the two sophomore positions not yet counted in the Chemistry and Physics Council election, 33 students were elected to council posts this fall.

Two Elected on Tuesday
The Engineering and Architecture Council, with 49 per cent voting for seven positions, and the Mineral Industries Council, which gained two freshmen, held elections on Tuesday.

The Business Administration Council held its elections Wednesday. Only one college did not hold freshman elections—the College of Agriculture which elects all students, including freshmen to council posts in the spring.

Phys Ed Council to Meet

The Physical Education Student Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in 2 White Hall. The council will discuss the past two events of the Student Major Club and the recent frosh elections.

Change to EST Gives Students An Extra Hour

For the multitudes of University students who suffer from lack of sleep—take heart—relief is on the way.

Centre County will change over from Daylight Saving Time to Eastern Standard Time at 2 a.m. Sunday. What does this mean to bleary-eyed students? It means an extra hour of sleep.

Centre County decided to extend Daylight saving time this year to October 30. Thus, the delay is changing over. Most Pennsylvania counties made the change during September.

In order to make the switch, clocks should be pushed back one hour sometime Saturday night.

Syracuse Game Tickets on Sale

Tickets for the Syracuse-Penn State game are still on sale at the Athletic Association ticket booth, located on the third floor of Recreation Hall.

Only seats remaining for the expected sell-out contest are in the temporary bleachers in the end zone. They are priced at $2.50.

Penn game tickets will be available tomorrow at Franklin Field, according to Edward M. Czeka, AA ticket manager.

Leik Promoted To Senior Board

Ronald Leik, senior in journalism from York, was promoted to the senior board of the Daily Collegian last night.

The promotion, which was made by the senior board, will become effective immediately.

Twelve promotions were also announced by the photography staff of Collegian. Those promoted are:

Junior Board: Joseph Rohrbaugh, David Bavar, John Logan, and Gerald Bretts.

Junior Week Committees

Junior Week Committees will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in 218 Hetzel Union.

Officers Elected By WH Council

West Halls Council Tuesday night elected Ronald Seiders vice president, David Faust, secretary, and Paul Reber, treasurer.

William Eisenberg was named to succeed Preston Hollander as chairman of the housing committee.

John Carlson, president, announced that trophies for outstanding freshman, outstanding senior, outstanding athlete, scholarship, and activities will be presented at next week's meeting.

The winners of the trophies were announced at the Association of Independent Men's banquet last spring. Carlson said that trophies which were awarded to graduated seniors will be mailed to them.
