26 Entrants Vie for Trophies At Penn State-Syracuse Rally

By SUE CONKLIN

Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority was named winner of the banner contest held at the Penn State-Syracuse pep rally last night in front of Old Main.

Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon tied for second place in the contest.

The Kappas chanted "Syracuse Indians know we'll burn them down to size," in time to lively tom-toms. The Delta Tau Delta theme was "crushing the orange." The SAE's placed with "Jr. Prom You Must Go or Join the Orange 6 Below."

Tuesday Vote To Determine Sunday Movies

State College voters will decide whether to oppose or favor the showing of Sunday movies when the issue comes up again in Tuesday's election.

Within the past seven years, the borough has twice rejected referendum proposals to permit the showing of Sunday movies.

Close Vote

Robert G. Neilson, manager of the Cathaum theater, described the past votes as being "very close." This time over 1100 people signed the petition to put the referendum on the ballot, he said.

In 1951 the vote was 1564 in favor of legalizing Sunday movies to 1671 votes opposing the movies. This margin of 107 votes, however, was greater than the margin in the 1947 referendum, when a recount of the votes reduced the gap from 85 to 66 votes. Such a referendum may be held only once in four years.

Oppose Movies

Dr. Leon R. Kneebone, president of the State College Council of Churches, a group representing most of the Protestant churches in State College, said that the Council has actively opposed Sunday movies in the last two elections, but has decided to adopt no policy this time.

However, he said, this does not mean that they are in favor of Sunday movies.

A law passed by the Pennsylvania State Legislature on July 2, 1935, made it illegal to show movies before 2 p.m. under any conditions, but said municipalities may decide by popular referendum to permit the showing of movies after 2 p.m.

2 New Events Listed In Spring Week Plan

A faculty-student variety show and a donkey softball game were included as possible activities for Spring Week in a report heard by All-University Cabinet last night. The report was made by Richard Seng, chairman of the Cabinet committee investigating Spring Week.

Seng's report included two possible programs for the week. They are subject to approval by Cabinet and the Senate Committee on Student Affairs.

The first program calls for the variety show to be held Monday night. It would be composed of students and faculty members. At the same time, Miss Penn State would be crowned. Plans call for an admission charge.

The donkey softball game, which would be played under regulation rules, except that the players would have to remain attached to the live mules in any way possible, would be held Tuesday evening.

Opposing teams would be composed of the He-Man contestants and the Ugly Man Contest entrants. At the same time, the winner of the Ugly Man contest would be announced.

Seng said admission would be charged if a suitable site at which to hold the event could be found. He also said the evening's program is subject to approval by Alpha Phi Omega, sponsors of the Ugly Man Contest.

Contest Finals Wednesday

Finals for the He-Man and Mad-Hatters contests are planned for Wednesday evening. At the same time, a collection would be taken for the Olympic Fund.

The annual carnival would be held for one night, from 7 to 11 Thursday. It would be run similar to other years, Seng said. Price for tickets was proposed as 10 cents.

Involves Less Students

Seng explained that although the revised plan has many activities, most of the student body would act only as spectators, except in the preparation for carnival displays. The carnival, under the proposed plan, would be cut from two nights to one. There would be no float parade as in former years.

The second plan called for a float parade, which would be held Sunday evening "if possible." Monday would be open, and a regular softball game—without the use of donkeys and opposing students and faculty members—would be held Tuesday evening. A two-night carnival would be scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Contests Not Mentioned

The second plan did not mention the traditional He-Man and Ugly Man contests.

The committee was established because Cabinet members agreed that Spring Week was becoming too big and getting out of hand.

Cabinet will discuss the two proposals in two weeks. Robert Bullock, Interfraternity Council president, asked that discussion be delayed until IFC, which also has a committee investigating Spring Week, can discuss Spring Week proposals.

Players Present 'Mikado'

By DOTTIE STONE

Players, with the aid of the departments of music and drama, produces some excellent music and singing in the "Mikado" at Schwab Auditorium last night. Gilbert and Sullivan's 'Mikado' is traditionally difficult to produce and Players has difficulty in giving a top-notch performance.

This new combination of departments has some justification—evidenced by the excellent lyrics satirizing Japanese life during the reign of planned marriages and strict civil laws.

However, many lead characters had trouble getting enough volume into their singing lines, while borrowed musical talent has trouble getting action into their roles.

Two exceptions are evident—Nanki-Poo, played by John Cox, and Ko-Ko, played by Wayne Zarr. Nanki-Poo, son of the Mikado of Japan, acts and sings his role of a disguised minstrel who is in love with Yum Yum with great ease. Ko-Ko, the Lord High Executioner, does the best job of all-round acting and singing in distressing plight as a kind-hearted fellow who has to perform an execution—or else lose his position.

Ray Vanderbilt, as the chief of government holding many titles, does a good job of acting his esteemed position, but becomes a little weak on singing his solo parts.

Claire Ganim as the much desired Yum-Yum, promised in marriage to Ko-Ko, but in love with Nanki-Poo, is at her best when with Jane Mort and Betty Harned, the two sisters of Yum-Yum. Their songs, especially when backed up with the women's chorus, are completely delightful. Without support she falls below standards.

Barbara Kabakjian, as the unattractive elderly woman promised to Nanki-Poo, falls short on

725 Volunteer Student Donors Pledge Blood

Approximately 725 students have volunteered to donate blood, Marilyn Zabusky, publicity committee chairman, announced yesterday.

The number will probably be increased slightly by schedule slips returned yesterday afternoon. An estimated 275 walk-ins will still be needed if the drive is to achieve its goal of 900 pints.

Some students will be rejected because of physical disability, and others because of age. Miss Zabusky said that a number of students who are under 18 filled in forms. These students will not be allowed to give blood even if they have a minor release form.

Walk-ins must be at least 21 in order to give blood. Students who have not turned in their minor release forms must bring them to the bloodmobile.

The drive will be held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday in the card and television room of the Hetzel Union Building.

Clear Weather Predicted

Temperatures will remain near freezing today, with clear and cool weather predicted for tomorrow, according to the University weather station.

Entries in the contest totaled 26. Each group appeared separately before the judges and the audience. The trophy will be given during the Junior Prom intermission tonight.

1500 Turn Out

Approximately 1500 students turned out for the rally, making it one of the best this season. Spirit was high as students and banners predicted a sure win for Penn State in the coming game.

Hugh Cline, captain of the cheering squad, mentioned the spirit of the University of Pennsylvania, and asked students to clap with the music along with the cheerleaders.

Cline Introduces

Cline introduced Richard Packer, captain of the soccer team. Packer said he hoped the soccer team could bring back the national intercollegiate championship as they did last year. Cline then requested a "Short Yell Packer."

The Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corp marching band accompanied the cheerleaders. Members of Androcles, junior men's hat society, were present en masse.

Cline announced that 8000 meg-

Israeli, Egypt Fight for Desert Post

JERUSALEM, Nov. 3 (AP)—Israel and Egypt today reported hard fighting between their forces for possession of a frontier checkpoint in the Sinai Desert. There were casualties on both sides, but the figures given were widely at variance, and almost every aspect of the fighting was in dispute.

50 Are Killed

UN truce observers and officials have not given their account of the battle, described here as the most serious since the Palestine war of 1948. Britain today held Israel responsible for starting the fighting.

The Israelis said they killed 50 Egyptians and captured 40 while losing 5 killed and 18 wounded. The Egyptians said they lost 70 killed or missing—but killed 200 Israelis. An Israeli army spokesman said there was "no truth

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Israeli Parliament tonight voted confidence in the new five-party coalition Cabinet headed by elder statesman David Ben-Gurion. The vote was 73-32, with three abstentions.

"We will do everything to keep the peace," Ben-Gurion said in a speech winding up a foreign affairs debate. "But we will not suffer invaders on our soil. They will be met by bullets or shells."

whatsoever" in the report of 200 Israeli dead.

The fighting, which started last night, was for the strategic El Sabha post in the El Auja-Nizana demilitarized zone. The Israelis say the post is in Israeli territory and the Egyptians insist it is in theirs.

Israelis Claim Post

According to the Egyptians, the post changed hands twice and now is held by Egyptian troops. The Israelis claim they still hold the post.

Accusing the Egyptians of occupying El Sabha in violation of the armistice, Israeli forces attacked and seized the post last night. Today the Israeli Foreign Ministry announced the "Egyptian invader" had been expelled from Israeli territory.

The Egyptians indicated there was action by warplanes but the Israeli announcement made no mention of air operations.

Army headquarters in Cairo said the Israelis last night threw 3000 troops against 100 Egyptians at the El Sabha post.

University Cow Sets New Milk, Fat High

A new record in milk and fat production has been reached by Penn State Jester's Dorine, registered Guernsey cow at the University.

Dorine produced 5454 quarts of high-quality milk in 305 days and placed eighth in milk and fat production among the 10 highest for the Guernsey breed.

Skating Rink to Open During Week of Nov. 21

The University ice skating rink located on the east side of Nittany dormitories is scheduled to open sometime during the week of Nov. 21, it was learned yesterday.

The definite opening date will be dependent upon the weather.
