

AIM Offers 'Nightclub' Idea for HUB Ballroom

The Association of Independent Men's Board of Governors Wednesday night referred to the AIM social committee the idea of turning the ballroom of the Hetzel Union Building into a kind of "nightclub" every Friday night for the social benefit of independents.

The idea, which came out of a meeting of the AIM executive committee, is based on the assumption that AIM would use the ballroom for such a social event on the Friday nights when another group had not scheduled the room.

Wandering 'Lion' Returns to Campus

After visiting the State College and Bellefonte high schools for the past three days, a wandering paper mache replica of the Nit-tany Lion returned home yesterday morning.

During its travels, the lion was threatened with cremation, but the only apparent battle scar was a large "Beat Bellefonte" painted on its side.

The nine-foot lion, property of Theta Delta Chi fraternity, began its wandering Monday night. According to T. R. Kemmerer, State College High School principal, a group of high school students abducted the statue from the fraternity backyard late Monday night in anticipation of the annual State College-Bellefonte high school football game Nov. 12.

Placed in Auditorium
The lion was painted appropri-ately and placed on the stage of the auditorium, where it stayed for Tuesday and Wednesday.

Kemmerer said he didn't think anything of the lion on the stage. He thought the students had obtained it through legal channels.

The lion was discovered yester-day morning in the lobby of the Bellefonte High School auditor-ium. Apparently, he said, the stu-dents had taken it to Bellefonte Wednesday night.

Upon discovery of the lion, the students decided to hold a cremation ceremony at a "Beat State College" pep rally and bonfire Thursday night. After all, paper burns readily.

However, the plan was foiled by the lion owners. A few Belle-fonte students, seeing the fratern-ity letters painted on the lion's side, called the house early yester-day morning. When asked where the lion was, a fraternity spokesman said "It's out back un-der a tarpaulin where we always keep it . . ."

House Wants Lion

After being enlightened, the spokesman indicated the house wanted the lion returned, pronto. The fraternity called the State College High School principal and told him its plight.

Kemmerer said he instructed the students involved in the inci-dent to get the lion and return it to the fraternity.

No sooner said than done. The lion was returned with due cere-mony, saving him from a fiery death.
