The Scarlet Knights, trying to avert their fifth defeat in seven games and their fourth in a row, moved on a 61-yard drive early in the first period, after Bob Kelley picked up Moore's fumble on the Rutgers' 23.

With a fourth-and-three situation, Bill Whitacre, quarterback, missed a pass to Lee Lusardi, and Penn State took over on its own 19 to end the drive. Fullback Buck Straub then picked up a yard to his 20.

Then Moore struck off his own right end for the 80-yard jaunt. Picking up blocks for the first 35 yards, Moore walked in the end zone with the nearest man five yards behind him. His run, as that one which Ron Younkens turned in last year against Virginia, tied a similar 1938 mark.

Half a dozen plays after Moore scored, after Rutgers picked up a first down, Penn State took over on its own 20 when Greg Holmes, forced to punt, kicked into the end zone.

Plum was instrumental in the next Lion score seven plays later. He moved the ball 80 yards and carried for a total of 40, with halfback Bill Kane picking up 25 more yards through the line.

Straub hurdled the line to score at 3:25 but Plum missed the point after touchdown for a 13-0 lead.

Rutgers, with a stumbling ground attack, inserted Bill Gatyas at quarterback for Whitacre. Gatyas, gambling with pitchouts and options, succeeded with his cocky demonstration to pace a 53-yard touchdown drive, capped by Holmes scoring at 8:20. Toshimasa Hosoda missed his first extra point attempt of the season after making 11 straight to make the score read, 13-6.

Penn State fumbled again two plays after the kickoff, and Ed Farrell recovered on the Lions' 28. Coach Harvey Harman's eleven, picking up a five-yard loss at the outset, moved to the Lion 14 before Gatyas took to the air as the clock moved slowly to the end of the half.

plays and a pass that fell incomplete, Penn State's line stiffened to throw him for a three-yard loss to the nine. The scoring threat ended as Gatyas' fourth-down pass fell incomplete.

Penn State's big period was the final stanza when it collected two insurance touchdowns, but it took only four minutes of the second half for Plum to open a new TD-march.

With his ground game sputtering as Moore got 10 yards but also was thrown for a four-yard loss, and Kane getting knocked for a two-yard deficit, Plum went to the air for the first time with a pass to sophomore end Jack Farls who carried from the 28 to Rutgers' nine. Plum scored two plays later from the nine over center to make it 20-6.

MOORE made his run on this play against Rutgers when the Queensmen used a seven-man line. Brush blocks are thrown by the left side of the Lion line which then fades deep to the right for the downfield coverage.
