Pi Lambda Phi Initiation Held Saturday Night

Pi Lambda, local fraternity, was formally initiated as Omega Gamma chapter of Pi Lambda Phi national fraternity at ceremonies held Saturday night.

The initiation marked Pi Lambda Phi's return to campus as a national after a three-year absence.

The initiation ceremonies were performed by the Pi Lambda Phi chapter at the University of Pittsburgh with eight men from the national office present.

Pi Lambda Phi was originally started at the University in 1942. Ten years later, the chapter charter was suspended by the national office and the University.

In September 1954, the fraternity was reactivated at the University as a local fraternity.

Two weeks ago, the local applied to University Senate for permission to become national, and was approved. The initiation took place one day after the fraternity's probationary period had ended.

Nelson Goldberg is president of the University chapter. Other members are Albert Manning, Archon; Harvey Miller, Keeper of the Exchequer; Joseph Wasserman, Scribe; Earl Cooke, Marshal; Alan Furst, Lawrence Heller, Samuel Friedman, Thomas Metser, Sidney Schreiber, Robert Nalbach, Bernard Resnick, and Neal Abrams.

Flashcard Organization Proposed

The University Student Centennial Committee last night voted to recommend a flashcard system which would require freshman participation.

Robert Heck, chairman of the committee, will recommend the plan to Samuel Moyer, freshman class president. The plan suggests that the freshman class organize the system and supervise the operation during the sophomore year.

Societies to Be Asked

According to the recommendation, Delphi, sophomore men's hat society, and Cwens, sophomore women's hat society, will be asked to supervise and coordinate the organization of the students in the flashcard section.

The Centennial Committee previously had recommended that a flashcard section be set up in the senior section. According to this plan juniors would apply for the section at the end of the academic year and be members of the flashcard section in their senior year. It would be counted as a minor activity.

Problems Encountered

Two problems were encountered by the committee in trying to work out this plan. Past experience showed members of the committee that few if any persons attending a game would be able to see the flashcard cheers. Because of the seating arrangement at Beaver Field, it is difficult to see flashcards in the senior section.

The committee also had difficulty in finding a group to take over the organization of the activity.

With the flashcard section in the middle of the horseshoe it is expected that most of the spectators

Moyer, Coale Oath Set for Thursday

Samuel Moyer, newly elected freshman class president, and William Coale, sophomore class president-elect, will be sworn into office Thursday at All-University Cabinet meeting.

Karl Schwenzfeier, Tribunal chairman, will administer the oath.

They will assume their Cabinet seats after taking the oath, according to Earl Seely, All-University president.

Moyer succeeds Arthur Schravensande, and Coale will assume the Cabinet seat of Samuel Walcott.

Voting was light in Friday's elections as only 41.1 per cent of the freshmen and 25.1 per cent of the sophomores went to the polls.

The turnout of freshmen dropped .8 per cent from last year's 41.9 per cent. Sophomore voting was up .5 per cent from last fall's 24.7 per cent.

A breakdown of percentage of voters for freshman and sophomore class elections over the past six years shows:

	FROSH	SOPHS
1950	62	44.6
1951	27.5	30.9
1952	44	32.7
1953	35	27
1954	41.9	24.7
1955	41.1	25.1

The highest voting percentage for both classes was recorded in 1950 as 62 per cent of the freshmen and 44.6 per cent of the sophomores went to the polls.

This was the first elections for the classes under the present student government system, which was established in the spring of 1949.

The lightest freshman voting percentage was registered in 1951 as it fell from a high of 62 to 27.5 per cent. Lightest percentage of sophomores voting was recorded last year with a 24.7 per cent turnout.
