

Moorhead Sixth, Frosh Second in IC4-A Run

By RON GATEHOUSE

Captain Doug Moorhead crossed the finish line in sixth place in yesterday's IC4-A cross-country meet in New York City to add a ray of light to an otherwise dismal Centennial season for the Penn State harrier squad.

According to an Associated Press notice last night, Moorhead covered the spacious Van Cortland Park five-mile course in 25:29 for sixth honors. The Lion captain was one of Nittany varsity runners entered in the annual Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletics hill and dale classic. Junior Don Woodrow failed to place among the top 20. Some 230 participated in the meet, representing 78 schools.

The Lion freshman team, rated among the pre-meet favorites for the yearling title, took second place behind St. John's of New York. The winners took the title with 54 points. The Lions were second with 76, and Manhattan third with 118.

Coach Norm Gordon's Nittany frosh entered the meet with an unscored-upon regular season record—they had scored shutout wins over both Navy and Cornell.

The yearling entry was composed of Ed Moran, Fred Kerr, Bob Thompson, Clem Schoenebeck, Charlie King, Sam Sherba, and Bill Kirby.

Henry Kennedy, Michigan State sophomore from Toronto, Canada, captured the varsity individual title in 24:30.3.

Pitt Scores Upset

However, Pitt upset the favorite Spartans for team honors with 99 points. Arnie Sowell led the Panthers by notching third place behind Villanova's Ron Delany. Delany was the winner of last year's freshman race.

St. Joseph's of Philadelphia was third in the team race, with New York University and Cornell, Ivy League champion, fourth and fifth.

Kennedy, unbeaten in six dual meets this year, was just two-tenths off Charley Capozzoli's 1952 course record. However, the course varies from year to year,

Gatehouse 1st, Williams Close 2nd in Grid Poll

Assistant Sports Editor Ron Gatehouse—by virtue of Tennessee's 20-0 victory over Florida—took over first place Saturday in the Daily Collegian's weekly grid poll.

Gatehouse, climaxing his climb from the bottom of the pack, hit on 11 of the 15 picks to advance one game in front of Sports Editor Roy Williams in the poll.

Williams, occupant of the top slot for the past five weeks, dropped to second by picking only 10 of 15 selections correctly.

The Nittany Lion coaches, represented by head coach Rip Engle, dropped into third place in the standings, two games off the pace. Engle picked 10 winners to match Williams' record for the day.

Sports writer Fran Fanucci fell into the cellar when he missed six of the 15 selections. Fanucci is one game behind the coaches, three games from top.

making all records unofficial. Kennedy took the lead just past the mile mark, and from that point on it was no race. He finished 415 yards in front of Delany.

The Lions wind up their Centennial season Nov. 28 with the NCAA tourney in East Lansing, Mich.

Races Tighten After 5 Weeks Of IM Bowling

With intramural bowling halfway through its first half schedule, only Dorm 14, of independent league A, is making a runaway of the first place races. With a 19-1 mark, Dorm 14 is out in front of its nearest opponent by seven games.

In the other leagues, at least two teams are battling it out for the top spot.

Delta Tau Delta remained on top of fraternity league A, one game ahead of Alpha Gamma Rho. Both teams limited their opponents to one win last week. DTD has a 17-3 record, while AGR is 16-4.

Delta Sigma Lambda's victory over Sigma Alpha Epsilon last Wednesday boosted the winners into first place of league B. Delta Sigma Lambda, 6-4, is one game ahead of Theta Delta Chi, 15-5.

Sigma Chi kept its slim one-game margin over Alpha Chi Sigma in league C. Sigma Chi, with a 19-5 record, shut out Pi Kappa Phi last Thursday, but Alpha Chi Sigma kept right behind also with a shutout.

In the other independent loop, the Dark Horses, 14-6, took over the lead from the Newman Club, 13-7.

MILT PLUM who just made this six-pointer early in the third period, bolted over from the nine, after commanding a 43-yard TD drive. Rutgers' end Ed Burkowski, 185-pound, 6-0, of Plymouth, is about to pounce on Plum. This score gave the Lions a 20-6 lead as Plum kicked the extra point.

Intramural Boxing Entries Due Today

Intramural boxing is now open for entries, according to Dutch Sykes, IM athletic director. Anyone wishing to participate in the boxing program should stop at the IM office, Recreation Hall, before 4:30 p.m. today.

Entry fee is 25 cents per man. Each entrant must call at the IM office himself.

Matches will be held between 5 and 6 p.m., starting Nov. 29.

Hockey All-Stars Gain Experience

None of the Penn State representatives on the Central Pennsylvania hockey coed team were selected for the Mid-East team at Shippensburg on Saturday, but the hockey coeds feel they gained worthwhile and lasting experience.

From the six teams which competed at Shippensburg, three teams, or 73 players, were picked to try out for national honors during Thanksgiving weekend.

The six teams represented Finger Lakes, Pittsburgh, and Central Pennsylvania. Each area sent two teams.
