

Bowl-Minded Pittsburgh DU, Phi Tau, Phi Kappa Sig Set to Snap Lion Streak Enter IM Swim Quarterfinals

Bowl-minded Pitt, a team that first bowed to Oklahoma and classy Navy but pulled two upsets with wins over Duke and West Virginia, comes to Beaver Field for the first time since 1942 Saturday, and the bowl bid won't be the only thing Coach Johnny Michel-sen and his Panthers will be kicking about.

In this 55th collision between the Keystone State's two major grid powers, Pitt. wants nothing more than to drop the Lions to gain the satisfaction of whipping the Nittanies on their home grounds, and to end the three-year jinx the Lions hold on it. Pitt has failed to score on the Lions in the last three games.

And Pitt's followers must think their team has the workings to engineer the win. They'll pack State College as the expected swarm by either train, plane, or auto will swell the crowd to record proportions. The present single high game attendance is 33,112.

Pitt has rolled up a 6-3 win card, with losses to Miami, Oklahoma, and Navy. It has dropped California, 27-7; Syracuse, 22-12; Nebraska, 21-7; Duke, 26-7; Virginia, 18-7; and West Virginia, 26-7.

Penn State, which has won 22 of the 54 games while losing 30—two ended in ties—since the whole affair started in 1893, has a 5-3 card. That gives the Lions the lone distinction of being the only team in the East credited with more wins than losses during each of the 10 postwar years. Oklahoma and Kentucky have comparable records.

Engle, for the first time this year, didn't have anybody sidelined as a result of Saturday afternoon football action. He's expected to start the same team that opened at New Brunswick.

With Milt Plum the No. 1 man now at quarterback, Engle has one less worry.

Fullback Buck Straub also played an outstanding game Saturday. According to Engle, "Straub is a much improved football player. I've never seen him better than he has been the last three weeks."

Against Rutgers Penn State opened for the first time this year with a 1954 feature that it hadn't shown all season. That was the long run.

Dark Horses, Dorm 14 Pace IM Bowling

Dorm 14 and the Dark Horses continued their first-place leads in the independent intramural bowling league Monday night.

Dorm 14 copped a forfeit win from the Centovards, 4-0, in the A division, while its counterpart in league B, the Dark Horses, shut out Pin Splitter, 4-0.

Four other whitewashes were recorded, two by forfeit. The Dark Horses' nearest opponent, Newman Club, took over undisputed possession of second place over the idle Erieites with a 4-0 win against the Flying Dutchmen.

Other shutout victories went to the Screwballers in league B and the Alley Cats and Dorm 23 in the A circuit. The Screwballers beat P.S.U.; Unit 6 forfeited to the Alley Cats; and Dorm 23 won on a default over Pollock 2.

In other games, league A saw the Watts Rollers best the Weather Men, 3-1, and the Engineers tie Mogambos, 2-2. Frazier Dorm won three games from R.A.R., and East Five stopped the No Threats, 3-1, in league B games.

Despite the Engineers' deadlock, it emerged the scoring leader in league A, rolling 808 for the high single and 2131 for the high team triple. The Dark Horses were the high team scorers in the other loop with 827 in one game and 2299 in the three-game series.
