Nittany Council Monday night voted to set aside $100 for use by the Nittany Dormitories for mixers and other social functions.

Each Nittany dorm can draw $10 from the fund each semester. Council president George Mauler said additional funds will be supplied as needed by the Association of Independent Men.

Harry Leopold, Donald Vance, and Pat Gandinetti, were appointed to a screening committee which will interview individual dorm representatives who seek the money.

William Hansen and Charles Welsh were appointed to a committee to investigate with Pollock Council representatives the facilities necessary for publishing a Nittany-Pollock area newspaper.

Final action upon the newspaper will be taken when the committee report is given at the council's Nov. 28 meeting.

Both Nittany and Pollock Councils have discussed the establishment of an area newspaper. According to council discussion, the paper would deal exclusively with the problems of the area.

Mauler announced that three of four newly constructed asphalt basketball courts located behind the ice skating rink are now open.

Joseph Bass, who will be assisted by Mauler, was appointed to a committee to revise and modernize the present Nittany Council constitution. The final draft will be subject to approval by the council.

Senate Upholds Tribunal Ruling For Probation

The Senate Committee on Student Affairs subcommittee on discipline yesterday upheld a Tribunal recommendation for disciplinary probation for two freshman men.

The probation will extend until the end of this year for the two students who removed a flashlight from a borough police car Nov. 3.

Notation of this action is to remain on the students' record until their eighth semester, at which time they may petition for its removal.

Tribunal also recommended periodic checks by the Office of the Dean of Men with their adviser or residence hall counselor.

Edward O. Pollock, assistant to the dean of men in charge of fraternity affairs, was an eye witness to the incident. He said he saw the students remove an object from the car and followed them to their residence halls. They were identified next day on the basis of Pollock's description.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young engineer decides what colors are best for G-E reflector lamps

Which color of light makes people look natural? Should a blue-light be used more often than a red? What kind of effect does a violet light have on merchandise?

In recent years, color lighting has become so important in stores, restaurants, theaters, and displays that General Electric developed a line of new easy-to-use color-reflector lamps for this market.

The man responsible for deciding which colors are most effective for users of these lamps is 29-year-old Charles N. Clark, Application Engineering Color Specialist for General Electric's large lamp department.

Clark's Work Is Interesting, Important

In a recent series of tests, Clark made a critical appraisal of literally hundreds of color-filter materials to find the ones that produced maximum results but were still suitable to high-production techniques, practical stocking and simplified selling. This experimental work also had to take into account all the information on human perception of color.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When Clark came to General Electric in 1949, he already knew the work he wanted to do. Like each of the 25,000 college-graduate employees, he was given his chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When fresh, young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

CHARLES N. CLARK joined G.E. in 1949 after receiving his B.S. and M.S. (in E.E.) from the University of Wisconsin. He served two years with the Navy during World War II.
