

Cabinet to Consider Spring Week Plan; 2 Additions Asked

A revamped Spring week program will be presented tonight to All-University Cabinet.

The proposed plan—which includes two additions to last year's program—will be presented by Richard Seng, chairman of the Cabinet Spring Week Committee.

The agenda also includes a report on last month's Campus

Cart Race Given OK By Senate

Town Independent Men's plans for a push cart race were approved yesterday by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs, according to Wilmer E. Kenworthy, committee secretary.

Fraternal groups or independent groups wishing to enter a contestant in the race must pay an entrance fee of $10 with proceeds of the race to go to Campus Chest. The race will be held about 2 p.m. Dec. 2 or 9 on Pollock road or the parking lot behind Beaver Field.

A cash prize of $25 and a trophy will be presented to the winner. Leonard Phillips, TIM social chairman, is general chairman.

Wheels to Wobble
The carts, which will be constructed by a committee headed by Fred Mauk, will consist of a long board with two rows of wheels attached at one end. The wheels will be designed to wobble when the cart is pushed, making it difficult to push straight forward.

Other TIM committee chairman working on the project are: receipts and appropriations, James Rhodes; publicity, William Norman, and trophy, Leonard Phillips. Judges for the event will be drawn from members of the University administration and faculty.

Vice President Chosen
William Norman was chosen vice president of TIM at a special elections meeting last night at 216 Hetzel Union Building. Gerald Whitney was appointed to fill a vacancy as representative-at-large to the Association of Independent Men board of governors. TIM's next regular meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Dec. 2 at 216 HUB.

Mixer Date Set By BA Council

The Business Administration Student Council Monday night approved Dec. 6 as the date for the intercouncil mixer with the Home Economics Student Council.

On a suggestion made by Jack Seastone, president of the Home Economics Council, the council decided that a representative of the academic honesty system will address the mixer.

The council voted to purchase a Nittany Lion statue for Dr. Philip Young, chairman of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, who spoke at the first Career Day in 1953. Speakers for the past two years, Ralph Bunche, director of the United Nations department of trusteeship and information, and James Mitchell, U.S. secretary of labor, were presented statues.

Robert Krakoff, junior from Pittsburgh, was approved as editor of the Biz-Ad Bulletin by the council. Krakoff replaces Nancy Blaha, senior from Crafton.

'News and Views' to Meet
News and Views candidates and staff will meet at 6:30 tonight in 14 Home Economics.

TODAY'S WEATHER

CLOUDY AND MUCH COLDER

Chest campaign by John Riggs, Campus Chest chairman, and the installation of newly-elected class officers, Samuel Moyer, freshman, and William Coale, sophomore.

Seng will also present an alternate plan to the proposed program.

A day-by-day breakdown of the proposed plan shows:

Monday—A faculty-student variety show, staged like a minstrel show, would be held from 7:30 to 10 p.m. At this time Miss Penn State would be crowned. Suggested admission price is 25 cents.

Tuesday—A donkey softball game, opposing the Uglymen and the He-men, would be played

Installation of new members, Samuel Moyer and William Coale

Report of Committees:
Spring Week—Richard Seng
Campus Chest—John Riggs
Old Business:

Allocation of $130 to Elections Committee

New Business:
Regional meeting of National Student Association Cabinet
Service Keys to Committee Chairmen

Announcements:
Appointments:
Adjournment:

All-University Cabinet will meet at 7:30 tonight in 203 Hetzel Union. The meeting is open to the public. The LaVie Cabinet photo will be taken at 7 p.m. at Penn State Photo Shop.

from 7 to 9 p.m. A charge of admission would depend on where this contest could be held.

Wednesday—Finals for the He-man and Mad-hatters contests would be held at 7 p.m. A donation for the Olympic Fund would be taken.

Thursday—The annual carnival would be held from 7 to 11 p.m. Tickets would be 10 cents.

The variety show and donkey softball game are new events, and the annual float parade has been omitted. Last year the carnival was held for two nights.

Alternate Plan
The alternate plan to the proposed program shows:

Sunday—A float parade and coronation of Miss Penn State would be held at 6:30 p.m.

Monday—The day has been left open.

Tuesday—A student-faculty softball game and the Mad-hat-

(Continued on page eight)

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

VOL. 56, No. 45 STATE COLLEGE, PA., THURSDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 17, 1955 FIVE CENTS

6 Theta Chi Students Seized on Pitt Campus

Six students from Theta Chi fraternity were arrested Tuesday night on the University of Pittsburgh campus when police thought they intended to cause damage to the campus.

The students apparently made a wrong turn into a one-way street and were picked up by Pittsburgh police. Questioning revealed the six were from the University.

Police then called in a night watchman from the campus who told of an earlier group driving on campus. It was rumored these students were from Theta Delta Chi.

The six students picked up by the police were, according to the Associated Press: Richard Gerhard, sophomore in arts and letters from Barnesville; John Keller, sophomore in chemical engineering from Hyndman; George Walker, sophomore in mechanical engineering from Somerset; John Lichliter, senior in chemical engineering from Salisbury; John

West Blames Russia For Geneva Failure

GENEVA, Nov. 16 (AP)—Russia and the Western Powers tonight broke up the Big Four conference in confessed failure to secure the peace of Europe, unify Germany, or expand East-West relations.

The three Western foreign ministers bitterly accused Russia's V. M. Molotov of bad faith in all his major proposals during the three-week conference.

Molotov, in his concluding speech, claimed that only the Soviet Union had maintained the "Geneva spirit" which marked the summit conference here four months ago.

In a separate declaration directed to Germans on both sides of the Iron Curtain, the U.S., French and British ministers said their governments would "not cease their efforts to end the injustice and wrong now being done by dividing the German people."

Ministers Agree
All four ministers agreed on only one thing—no commitment to meet again.

The final conference communiqué said they would "report the result of their discussions to their respective heads of government and recommend that the future course of the discussions of the foreign ministers should be settled through diplomatic channels."

In 21 days, the conference scored a series of massive failures.

Contribute Nothing
Contrary to the directive from the heads of government at the summit meeting last July, the ministers contributed nothing to "the relaxation of international tension and the consolidation of confidence between states." Instead, their prolonged psychological warfare here created new distrust.

They froze harder the division of Germany between Western and

(Continued on page three)

3 Records Set During Campus Blood Drive

Three records were set last week during the three-day blood drive sponsored by the campus Red Cross unit.

Second day contributions, totaling 290 pints, were the highest collected in one day by a bloodmobile in the Johnstown area. The three-day total of 672 pints was the largest amount collected in any one campus visit.

The Johnstown Red Cross Blood Center, associate sponsor of the drive, was able to make its highest weekly blood collection since 1952. A minimum weekly collection of 600 pints is necessary to supply the Johnstown area.

The blood drive this fall was held three days instead of the usual two. This extension was made possible by the increased facilities provided by the Johnstown bloodmobile.

A 900-pint goal had been set for the three days by the campus Red Cross committee. Committee chairmen said that the number of broken appointments was responsible for the failure of the drive to meet its goal. More blood was donated this year, however, than in previous years.

BULLETIN

A member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity from the University of Pittsburgh is being held at Kappa Delta Rho fraternity, the Daily Collegian learned last night.

The captive, known only as 'Bill', was caught Wednesday night by members of the fraternity as they were taking their turn guarding the Nittany Lion.

At 10 p.m., Wednesday, five persons ran out of the woods behind the lion, paint brushes in hand, and attacked the group guarding the lion. In the scuffle that followed, one student was captured. The four others escaped to a waiting car behind the Nittany Lion Inn.

The student will be released at Beaver Field, prior to Saturday's football game, according to David Hamrick, spokesman for KDR.

Beachley, senior in agronomy from Berlin; and Lawrence Reader, sophomore in horticulture from Malvern.

All six students are members of Theta Chi.

After picking them up for the traffic violation, police reasoned the students were the ones who painted the words, "Penn State beat Pitt," on the sidewalks in front of Pitt's Cathedral of Learning. The building was also painted.

Wanted to Burn Sign

The students admitted they had driven to Pitt with the intention of burning a large PSU in the lawn in front of the Cathedral of Learning. Police reported they found jugs of gasoline in the car.

The students were detained in jail until yesterday morning on charges of malicious mischief. They denied responsibility for the painting of the sidewalks and building.

Choice of Penalties

A Pittsburgh magistrate heard the case and offered the students three choices of action: spend six months in jail, pay a $100 fine, or clean up the paint.

They chose to clean up the paint and were put into the custody of the nightwatchman who

(Continued on page two)

Coach's Son Reported Taken by Pitt Students

In further developments in the pre Pitt-Penn State football game ruckus, it was revealed in an anonymous phone call to the Daily Collegian last night that Charles "Chip" Engle, son of football coach "Rip" Engle, had been kidnaped by students from the University of Pittsburgh and was on his way there.

An unknown speaker called the Collegian at 11 last night and said that Engle had been found and was being taken to Pitt. Efforts by Collegian staffers to locate Engle were unsuccessful and his whereabouts were still unknown at 1 a.m. His fraternity brothers at Phi Delta Theta had not seen him since 6:30 last evening and his parents had no information concerning the matter. At Collegian deadline, no other information was obtained concerning the alleged kidnaping.

Pollock Road Flooded

Students shushed to classes yesterday after approximately one and one-half inches of rain fell on campus.

The heavy showers caused the partial flooding of Phi Kappa Psi lawn, at the corner of Nittany ave. and Locust lane. Today is predicted to be the coldest day of the season.

The water reportedly reached the motors of cars parked in the vicinity. Many streets in the borough were covered with approximately one foot of water by 7 a.m.

Pollock road was hit hard in front of Willard Hall, causing a long traffic tieup. By 8:30 workmen had cleaned street gutters and the water receded.

The high temperature yesterday was 55 degrees. The low was 46.

Today's weather is forecast to be cloudy, windy, and much colder with snow flurries, according to students in the meteorology department.

The maximum temperature will be approximately 29 degrees.

—Photo by Walker