

1200 Students Watch Pitt Pep Rally Bonfire

McCoy Urges Student Support For Last Game

Approximately 1200 students gathered around a bonfire at the Pitt-Penn State pep rally last night, heard Ernest B. McCoy, dean of the College of Physical Education and Athletics, say that the football team has a good chance to win today's game.

He said that Penn State has been the underdog for three years and Pittsburgh hasn't scored a point against us in any of these games.

40-foot Bonfire

Students circled around the bonfire, which was about 40 feet in diameter, for cheers and songs. The Penn State Blue Band played once before the parade and also as the cheerleaders led the crowd to the bonfire beyond the Nittany area. The cheerleaders at the head of the parade rode in an open convertible.

4 Players Predict Win

Four members of the football team; Frank Reich, Buck Straub, Jim Harding, and Bobbie Hoffman each spoke briefly to students at the pep rally.

The players said that if everyone supports the team today like they did last night they are sure they can win.

Reich accepted the coal scuttle from Hugh Cline, head cheerleader. The scuttle is kept each year by the winning team of the Penn State-Pitt game. It has been in the Dean of Men's office at the University for the last three years. Reich will keep the scuttle over the weekend and return it to the office Monday.

Cline Thanks

Cline thanked Sally McKnight, president of Mortar Board, senior women's hat society, and Charles Christenson, president of Parmil Nous, senior men's hat society, for the part their respective groups played in taking care of the bonfire and working on the rally.

A dummy dressed like a Pitt football player was thrown in the bonfire as a climax for the pep rally. The Blue Band closed the event by playing the Alma Mater.

Chinese Reds Release Alum

A 1925 graduate of the University was among the three Americans to be released from Communist China last year, it was learned yesterday.

She is Mrs. Homer V. Bradshaw, a Presbyterian missionary, who is the former Wilda Hockenberry. She majored in home economics at the University.

Mrs. Bradshaw, who had been in China for about 20 years, was released from jail because of poor health. Her husband, who received his medical degree at the University of Pittsburgh, is being held by the Communists.

The Rev. Donald W. Carruthers, of State College, is well acquainted with Mrs. Bradshaw.

Possible Showers Seen Late Today

Today's weather will be cloudy and continued cool with a chance of showers by late afternoon, according to students in the department of meteorology.

Tonight will be cloudy and cold. The temperature is expected to reach a high of 38 degrees, with a low of 33.

Occasional showers are predicted for tomorrow. The high temperature yesterday was 35 degrees. The low was 26.

Neuberger to Address Faculty Luncheon Club

Dr. Hans Neuberger, professor and head of the department of meteorology, will speak at the Faculty Luncheon Club meeting at noon Monday in the Hetzel Union Building.

Having spent more than a year with the Turkish Weather Service, Dr. Neuberger will speak on "Some Experiences in Turkey."

A University trustee, Frederick Watts, designed the first barn on the campus.

AIM Judicial Seeks Probation for Three

The Association of Independent Men's Judicial Board of Review Thursday night recommended to the dean of men's office that a junior from the West Halls area be put on judicial probation and that two freshmen from the Nittany area be put on board probation.

The student from the West Halls was apprehended by a counselor while trying to ring a fire alarm bell by means of a home-made rubber-band gadget.

He said that he had no reason for the action, but indicated that seeing other students trying to do the same thing probably led him into the prank.

The board gave consideration to the student's outstanding scholastic and extracurricular activities.

The other case involved the throwing of food in the Nittany-Pollock dining hall.

The students were reported for throwing a pear which struck a nearby diner in the head. The student was not injured. The board said that they felt that although the incident was of relatively minor importance, action should be taken to prevent a recurrence of this type of action. The board decided to send a letter home to the parents of one of the students since he had also been in a small run-in with his residence counselor.

Judicial probation subjects the student to periodical calls from the board to sit in on the judicial meetings to see how the board functions and to learn some of the problems with which it deals.

Board probation, similar to judicial probation, provides that the student attend the weekly meetings of the board. The length of the probation is decided by the board.

Turnout Falls At Leadership Training Talks

Attendance at the leadership training lectures Wednesday evenings in 119 Osmond has dropped from approximately 200 students to 130 because students are automatically eliminated from the program for missing a meeting, Barbara Hendel, member of the committee, said yesterday.

A cut of one of the eight weekly programs automatically eliminates a student from the program, Miss Hendel said. As originally planned, students in the program would hear 45-minute talks on aspects of leadership and then participate in 45-minute discussions on the speakers' comments.

Miss Hendel stated that the procedure now is to hold a question and answer period after the talk. This action was taken because rooms in which to hold debate sessions were difficult to obtain, she said.
