

Moore on AP, INS All-East First Team; Co-Captains Honored

Fleet-footed Lenny Moore was named by the Associated Press to its All-East first team yesterday.

Lion co-captains and linemen Otto Kneidinger, tackle, and Frank Reich, center, and guard Sam Valentine received "honorable mention."

Moore, who was voted by the International News Service to its All-America second team along with 10 other backs,

Lenny Moore on INS All-East Team and Reich were also named to the INS All-East grid squad last week.

Despite his showing against Pitt, Moore was still in the top ten ground gainers last week. In ending his nine-game season with 697 yards Moore was ninth just behind Henry Moore of Arkansas, who had 701 in 10 games.

Arizona's Art Luppino, with one game to play, had 1245 yards last week to rank first in front of TCU's Jim Swink, with 1152.

In addition to Moore on the AP's All-East first team are fullback Charlie Sticka, Trinity; halfback Jim Brown, Syracuse; quarterback George Welsh, Navy; ends John Paluck, Pitt, and Ron Beagle, Navy; tackles Phil Tarasovic, Yale, and Tom Powell, Colgate; guards Bill Meigs, Harvard captain, and Army sophomore Stan Slater; and John Cenci, Pitt center.

Moore, Beagle, and Meigs made the All-East squad last year as juniors. This year's line averages

Moore Picked By Colts in 1st Round of Draft

The Baltimore Colts of the National Football League yesterday made a decision which will have a direct bearing on the how's and wherefore's of Lenny Moore's future when the Lion flash leaves Penn State.

Colt coach Keith Molesworth selected Moore as his club's choice in the first round of the annual player draft, held this year in Philadelphia.

Upon hearing of his selection, Moore held a telephone conversation, arranged by Penn State sports publicity director Jim Coogan, with Molesworth and expressed great satisfaction in being drafted by the Colts.

"I'm looking forward to playing with Baltimore," Moore said, "and it will be nice to be close to home."

Asked what his opinion was of the Colts as a football team, Moore commented, "I've been following them, and their progress this year has pleased me. I'm especially looking forward to playing with Alan."

Alan, of course, is Alan Ameache whom Moore played against in his first collegiate varsity game three years ago when Penn State opened its season with Wisconsin. Now in the Colt offensive backfield, he is currently the NFL's leading ground gainer.

Although Baltimore got to Moore first, a number of other NFL teams had showed interest in the past season, both by personal contact and through Coach Rip Engle. Among these were the Green Bay Packers and the Philadelphia Eagles.

Yesterday's selections were tabbed a "partial draft," which made up only three of the usual 30 rounds in the pro player draft. The early drafting was decided upon in order to meet competition from the Canadian leagues in signing America's top gridiron talent.

Otto Kneidinger Receives AP Mention

201 while the backfield averages 189.

The INS All-East team showed a backfield of Moore, Welsh, Sticka, and Brown on its first-team nominations. The line, however, showed considerable difference from the AP selections, with Pitt's Joe Walton and Beagle at ends; Tarasovic and Lehigh's Bill Dormeus at tackles; Meigs and Jim Buonopane of Holy Cross at guards, and Reich at center.

Notable on the INS All-East team was the absence of an Army player; the AP selected one—Slater. Army did place fullback Pat Uebel on the second team, but didn't win a notch on the first squad for INS.

AP's second team was Monte Pascoe, Dartmouth and Jim Ridlon, Syracuse, at ends; John Hopkins, Navy, and Jim McGuinness, Brown, at tackle; Buonopane, Holy Cross, and Bob Howard, Rutgers, at guards; center Bob Adelizzi, Dartmouth; and backs Claude Benham, Columbia, Uebel, Army, Alfred Ward, Yale, and Dick Martin, Princeton.

Twenty opponents from seven Eastern opponents which faced

Frank Reich Gets AP, INS Selections

3 Gridders Picked For Shrine Tilt

Head football coach Rip Engle, halfback Lenny Moore, center Frank Reich, and tackle Otto Kneidinger have been selected to represent Penn State in the East-West Shrine football game at San Francisco.

It is the third time in the school's history that three players have represented the Lions in the annual New Year's classic.

In 1927 George Green, Bill Pritchard and Ken Weston were the Lion's representatives, while in 1949 the Penn State gridgers were represented by Larry Cooney, John Finley and John Simon.

Engle, who has just completed his sixth season as head coach of the Nittanians, will be making his first appearance in the Shrine contest. Engle had previously coached the North team in the post-season Blue-Gray battle at Montgomery, Ala.

The Lion's most recent standard-bearer at San Francisco was quarterback Don Bailey, who won the Most Valuable Player Award in the contest.

George Delp was the first Lion football player to play in the East-West game in 1928. He was followed by Neil Stahley, presently head coach and athletic director at the University of Idaho, in 1930.

Leon Gajecki was the Lion contribution to the East squad in 1941, while Len Krouse and Bill Smaltz, current freshman coach at North Carolina State College, played in the 1942 tilt.

Aldo Cenci and John Jaffurs, the latter now freshman coach at Cornell University, were members of the East team in 1944.

Chuck Drazenovich and Bronco Kosanovich, 1946, and Bill Moore and Paul Weaver, 1947, were other Penn State representatives in the traditional struggle.

The Lions this year were listed under Honorable Mention. They were ends Walton, Pitt, Bob Lebegood, Penn, and Don Althouse, Syracuse; tackles Jerry Cashman and Jim Brill, Syracuse, and Dick Stephenson, Army; guards Cal Smith, Syracuse, Vernon Dander, Navy, and Flay Goodwin, Army; centers Wilson Whitmore, Navy, and Ed Scvetez, Army; and backs Ed Albright, Syracuse, Cornelius Salvaterra, and Lou Cimarrilli, Pitt, Pete Lash and Dick Murtland, Army, and Ed Oldham and Dick Guest, Navy.

Cagers Prep for Tough 1955-'56 Season; Arnelle, Weidenhammer Missing

By RON GATEHOUSE

Coach John Egli's Lion basketball team—for the first time in four years beginning a season without the services of Jesse Arnelle and Ronnie Weidenhammer—opens its 1955-'56 campaign Saturday with a visit to North Carolina State at Raleigh.

Egli, prepping for his second term as Penn State cage mentor, already finds a two-fold challenge confronting his present crop of Lion cagers.

In addition to selecting a starting five from a varsity roster which lists 13 cage hopefuls, Egli must ready his charges for a 26-game season which finds 17 contests scheduled away from the Rec Hall boards.

A scan over the Nittanians' '55 card reveals that two of those 26 opponents—the Wolfpack and DePaul, number three foe—could very likely provide the Blue and White with their stiffest tests of the season.

For the second consecutive year the Lions will be one of four teams entered in the Motor City Tournament at Detroit, Mich., during the Christmas vacation. They will play two tourney games on Dec. 27 and 28.

Egli has indicated no major change in strategy for the coming season, and will again depend on the zone defense to keep enemy offenses in check.

Without Arnelle, who set the Penn State scoring pace for four years, Egli will not be able to count on the board strength he had last year when the Lions won 17 and lost eight in regular season play. They then went on to win one of three games in NCAA tournament play.

Arnelle set 10 of the 11 Lion individual cage records, with only the number of foul shots completed in one game eluding him. The big center began to rewrite the record books in 1952, and the 10 he eclipsed were registered by Lion players dating back to 1896—the first year Penn State competed in intercollegiate basketball.

The 1955 schedule follows with home game in bold face:

Dec. 3, North Carolina State; 7, Dickinson; 10, DePaul; 14, Rutgers; 17, Colgate; 27-28, Motor City Tournament; Jan. 3, Carnegie Tech; 7, Lehigh; 11, Syracuse; 13, West Virginia; 14, Pittsburgh; 18, Bucknell; Feb. 1, Navy; 4, Boston University; 6, Lehigh; 8, West Virginia; 10, Temple; 11, Pennsylvania; 15, Bucknell; 17, Syracuse; 18, Colgate; 22, Army; 25, Rutgers; 29, Carnegie Tech; March 3, Pittsburgh.

26 Fighters Open IM Boxing Tonight

By VINCE CAROCCI

Twenty-six intramural boxing entries will get their first taste of ring action tonight when this year's edition of the IM boxing tournament gets underway at 5 p.m. in Recreation Hall.

Tourney bouts will be held every weekday night through December 15 when the final matches will take place.

The tournament is divided into two brackets—the fraternity and the independent bracket. Fraternity boxers will be vying for the championships running from the 121-pound class to the unlimited heavyweight class. Independents will box at 135, 145, 155, and 165-pound weights.

Five of last year's fraternity champions will return in an attempt to win their second consecutive crowns. They will not be defending champs, however, since IM rules stipulate that any champion returning for the second time in the tourney must advance one weight in order to be eligible for a title.

Steve Haky of Sigma Nu—winner of the 165-pound title two years ago and 175-pound conqueror last year—will attempt to gain his third consecutive title boxing in the unlimited class. Al Brahm, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, will jump from the 165-pound weight which he won last year to the 175-pound bracket. Phi Kappa Sigma's Guy Tirabassi, who won the 155-pound championship in last year's tournament, will be bidding for the 165-pound crown.

Walt Hough of Sigma Nu—145 titleholder—and Bob Hoffman, Beta Sigma Rho, winner of the 128-pound crown, will be among the missing champs this year.

John Gilleland, Phi Sigma Kappa, will jump to the 145-pound class this year after winning the 135-pound title in 1954.

Tiny Tony DeJulius, rugged scrapper from Delta Upsilon, will be seeking to cop the 128-pound championship this year. The DU battler was the cream of the 121-pound crop in last year's tournament.

The only independent champion of last year to return in the current tourney is 155-pound champ Dick Hartmann who will box in the 165-pound bracket.

Smith's barber shop

Hi. I hope you had a good vacation. I know I did. Of course, being a razor I can't eat turkey or pumpkin pie; but I did have a Thanksgiving feast. And like everyone else I didn't know when to stop. Brother, was I sick Friday. But it was worth it—I had the most delicious plate of turkey feathers I've ever eaten.

210 S. Allen

For news of the . . .

'Pancake-Break'

(Between the Movies)

. . . read Wednesday's Collegian

Thank Your Hostess

Show your Thanksgiving hostess how much you appreciated her hospitality by sending

"FLOWERS BY WIRE"

From

BILL McMULLEN, Florist

AD 7-4994

122 E. College Ave.