

Dulles Hits Political Policy Disputes Says Quarrels Would Injure United States

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles urged today that America's politicians keep their foreign policy quarrels on a constructive level, and not get into fights that would hurt the country.

"Those hostile to the United States and its ideals are not going to take a vacation so that we here can safely concentrate on a domestic political battle," he told a news conference.

"We should not encourage them to become bolder," he added, "calculating that the months ahead, because they are an election period for us, will provide opportunities for them."

Saying he was talking about Republicans and Democrats alike in raising his word of caution, Dulles said "careless or uninformed indulgence in partisan excesses" could imperil the nation.

Invites Retaliation
Earlier today, Sen. Alexander Wiley (R.-Wis.), former chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a statement that "if Republicans are to conduct reckless personal attacks, that will only invite Democratic retaliation and the vicious circle will go on and on."

At the same time, Wiley said some Democrats "have given strong implications that foreign policy may become a political football." And if the Republicans expect the Democrats to refrain, he added, "we have got to make sure that we Republicans don't kick it around ourselves."

"Must Show the World"
Sen. Walter F. George (D.-Ga.) meanwhile elaborated a bit his statement that "We must assure the world that we are capable of having a non-partisan American foreign policy and that, regardless of who wins or loses in 1956, our foreign policy will go on substantially as it is."

George told the Washington Post and Times Herald he did not mean to bar "constructive criticism or legitimate debate" and that in an election year it was only to be expected for an opposition party to "find things to criticize in the conduct of foreign policy and everything else."

Dulles likewise said he had no doubt foreign policy will be debated in the forthcoming campaign.

Jet Crashes at Base
FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Nov. 29 (AP)—A jet fighter plane, apparently suffering control failure on the takeoff, plunged into several residences at the Eielson Air Force Base today, killing an estimated 10 to 15 persons and setting the buildings on fire.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 29 (AP)—President Dwight D. Eisenhower shifted his attention back to defense planning today by summoning the National Security Council to a meeting Thursday and his two top military strategists to Gettysburg Friday.

Low Temperatures Sweep East Coast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Record cold pushed south and eastward Tuesday and triggered blinding snow storms that caused at least eight deaths in the Great Lakes region.

Polar air surged eastward to the Atlantic, completing its sweep of the eastern two-thirds of the country.

A storm that punched out from the Great Lakes left wide areas of Michigan and the sprawling Buffalo, N.Y., industrial area wallowing under a heavy blanket of snow.

Senate Will Investigate GM Funds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—A Senate subcommittee today turned aside protests and decided to examine publicly details of General Motors' welfare and pension funds. GM had protested that this would disclose confidential information.

The decision was announced by Sen. Paul Douglas (D.-Ill.), who said General Motors would not receive "different treatment" from other firms which have been required to provide information on their insurance program.

Douglas heads a Senate Labor subcommittee which has just renewed an inquiry into the operation of union welfare funds and the need for any legislation to forestall abuses.

Douglas called his colleagues into closed session for a vote on how to conduct the GM phase of the investigation after Paul Cotter, subcommittee counsel, charged the company with not giving its full cooperation.

Harry F. Benjamin Jr., a GM attorney, objected to a public airing of details on such matters as insurance reserves. He contended labor unions with which the firm bargains would use the information divulged.

Up to four feet of snow was reported to have fallen south of Buffalo. Drifts piled five and six feet high in northern Michigan.

Causes 5 Deaths
Five deaths were attributed to the Buffalo storm. Even main thoroughfares in the city were clogged, when up to 16 inches of snow fell.

All city schools, public and parochial, were closed. All downtown department stores remained closed. Workbound thousands were stranded on street corners and in marooned cars. Numerous buses were stalled and their passengers took refuge in hot dog stands, restaurants or industrial plants.

Bus Service Canceled
Many bus runs south and west of the city were canceled. A number of air line flights were called off in the morning, but business returned to normal later in the day when skies cleared.

The area around Ironwood, Mich., had 16 inches of new snow in 24 hours. All schools closed in Gogebic and Ontonagon counties in Michigan and adjoining Iron County in Wisconsin. The area had a foot of snow on the ground when the new storm struck.

Cars jammed up for miles when the snow fall reached 12 to 15 inches in the Kalamazoo, Mich., area. Most highways in the area became impassable. All village and rural schools and some city schools were closed.

Consumers' Levy Draws Opposition in Senate

HARRISBURG, Nov. 29 (AP)—A proposal by Sen. Albert Pechan (R.-Armstrong) to transform the 3½ per cent manufacturers' excise tax plan into a consumers' levy drew a cool reception in the Senate tonight.

Both Sen. Rowland S. Mahany, Senate Republican floor leader, and his Democratic opposite number, Sen. John Dent, expressed their opposition to the Pechan plan.

Pechan, who conceded his amendments would in effect make the excise tax a direct sales tax, said they were designed as "a compromise" which Gov. George M. Leader should accept.

"Whoever consumes the product should pay the tax," he told a newsman. "That's the intent of my amendments."

The governor's office declined comment on the Pechan plan which the GOP senator disclosed on the eve of two days of public hearings by the Senate Finance Committee on the excise levy.

But Mahany described the idea as "impractical," adding:

"In the first place, if this Legislature is going to pass a sales tax, it should pass a type that has been tested in other states."

It was Dent's position that the Pechan plan was "a thinly disguised" direct sales tax.

"The Democratic party is definitely opposed to a sales tax," Dent told a reporter. "Sen. Pechan's idea is fuzzy and I'm sure unworkable."

Soviets Reject Protest of Holding U.S. Congressmen

BERLIN, Nov. 29 (AP)—Soviet authorities today flatly rejected a protest against detention at gunpoint of two American congressmen when they visited East Berlin.

Maj. Gen. Charles L. Dasher, U.S. commandant in the city still under four-power occupation, delivered the protest. He said it was made clear to him that the Soviets now consider East Berlin a part of Communist East Germany and subject to East German law.

This attitude, Dasher said, puts the four-power character of Berlin in a new light. But he told Soviet Maj. Gen. P. S. Dibrova that he would recognize no other authority than the Soviet command in East Berlin.

When Reps. Edward P. Boland (D.-Mass.) and Harold C. Ostertag (R.-N.Y.) and Mrs. Ostertag drove into East Berlin Sunday in a U.S. Army car escorted by Lt. James T. McQueen of Mullins, S.C., they were detained four hours by both East German police and Russian officers. The reason given was that the car was equipped with a two-way radio. The Communists said foreign cars so equipped violate East German laws.

China to Veto Mongolian Bid For UN Seat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 29 (AP)—Despite an appeal from President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Nationalist China went ahead tonight with plans to veto Red Outer Mongolia's bid for UN membership.

The Mongolian bid had been the last point of difference between East and West on admission of 18 applicant nations. The United States had yielded finally on it in a package deal with the Soviet Union.

Authoritative sources said Eisenhower made two direct appeals to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek not to veto the Mongolian bid. Chiang Kai-shek answered the first appeal negatively. His second answer has not been received, it was reported.

But Nationalist China's Chief Delegate T. F. Tsiang gave an answer here. He told a reporter his government is opposed to admission of Outer Mongolia and would use the veto on it if necessary.

HOW TO BE A BWOC

A few weeks ago in this space I passed on some hints to college men who wished to become BMOCs. I would be remiss not to do the same for college women who wish to become BWOCs.

The first and most basic step on the road to being a BWOC is to attract attention. Get yourself noticed. But be very, very careful not to do it the wrong way. I mean, any old girl is bound to be noticed if she goes around with a placard that says, "HEY! LOOKIT ME!" Don't you make such a horrid gaffe. On your placard put: "ZUT! REGARDEZ-MOI!" This, as you can see, lends a whole new dimension of tone and dignity.

Once you have been noticed, it is no longer necessary to carry the placard. It will suffice if, from time to time, you make distinctive noises. If, for instance, every three or four minutes you cry, "Whip-poor-will!" you cannot but stay fresh in the minds of onlookers.

We come now to clothes, a vital accessory to the BWOC—indeed, to any girl who wishes to remain out of jail. But to the BWOC clothes are more than just a decent cover; they are, it is not too much to say, a way of life.

This year the "little boy look" is all the rage on campus. Every coed, in a mad effort to look like a little boy, is wearing short pants, knee socks, and boy-shirts. But the BWOC is doing more. She has gone the whole hog in achieving little boyhood. She has frogs in her pockets, scabs on her knees, down on her upper lip, and is followed everywhere by a dog named Spot.

All this, of course, is only by day. When evening falls and her date comes calling, the BWOC is the very picture of chic femininity. She dresses in severe, simple basic black, relieved only by a fourteen pound charm bracelet. Her hair is exquisitely coiffed, with a fresh rubber band around the pony tail. Her daytime scuffs have been replaced by fashionable high heeled pumps, and she does not remove them until she gets to the movies.

After the movies at the campus cafe, the BWOC undergoes her severest test. The true BWOC will never, never, never, order the entire menu. This is gluttony and can only cause one's date to blench. The true BWOC will pick six or seven good entrées and then have nothing more till dessert. This is class and is the hallmark of the true BWOC.

Finally, the BWOC, upon being asked by the cigarette vendor which is the brand of her choice, will always reply, "Philip Morris, of corris!" For any girl knows that a Philip Morris in one's hand stamps one instantly as a person of taste and discernment, as the possessor of an educated palate, as a connoisseur of the finer, gentler, higher pleasures. This Philip Morris, this badge of savoir faire, now comes to you in a smart new pack of red, white and gold, in king-size or regular, at popular prices, wherever cigarettes are sold. ©Max Shulman, 1955

To all on campus, big or small, men or women, the makers of Philip Morris, who bring you this column, extend a cordial invitation to try today's gentle Philip Morris, made gentle to smoke gentle.
