

Nationwide IFC Is Possibility—Bullock

By LARRY JACOBSON

There is a possibility that a national interfraternity council will be established in the near future, Robert Pollock, president of Interfraternity Council, said yesterday.

Bullock said the idea was discussed at the National Interfraternity Conference held last weekend in St. Louis, Mo., and might be brought up before IFC.

Bullock, with O. Edward Pollock, assistant to the dean of men, and Donald Reidenbaugh, head of the Fraternity Affairs Office, represented the University at the conference.

If established, Bullock said, the national IFC would be composed of delegates from each member university and college. Bullock said he did not know what would be the exact duties of the group, or how much power it would have.

Differs From NIC

This setup would differ from that of the National Interfraternity Conference, in that the delegates to the NIC are composed of officers, not undergraduates, of the 62 national fraternities in the country. The NIC is not a legislative group. It acts as a sounding board for ideas and problems of mutual interest to fraternities at colleges in the country.

Undergraduates attending NIC meetings at the present time are actually guests of the NIC, Bullock said, not representatives or delegates.

In addition, Bullock said the University delegation brought back many good ideas and innovations from the conference. He declined to name the ideas, but said they would all be brought up before IFC after Christmas vacation.

Bullock was a student leader of a discussion session at the NIC on "pledge training."

NIC to Furnish Data

In addition to establishing a central office, the NIC decided to collect and furnish to the various IFC's any information which the IFC's needed.

Ninety-one college administrators, 431 undergraduate guests, and 258 alumni delegates from 138 colleges attended the conference.

ACEI to Trim Mitten Tree For Children

Christmas is starting early for the local chapter of American Childhood Education International.

The group will decorate its annual Christmas mitten tree at 7 tonight in Atherton Lounge. Knitted by ACEI members, half of the mittens will be sent to the county children's home and the other half given to the Friend's Service Committee for children abroad.

The mitten-decorated tree will be taken to the lobby of Pattee Library after the program and will remain there until December 21.

Donna Springer, ACEI publicity chairman, said that anyone wishing to buy or make additional mittens may do so and hang them on the tree in the library.

Christian Science Talk To Be Given by Pickett

John D. Pickett, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Mineral Science auditorium.

Sponsored by the Christian Science Organization, the lecture will be on "Christian Science: The Power of an Active Faith." Admission is free. The lecture will be open to the public.

Juniors Ask For Support Of NSA

The junior class advisory board last night asked for students interested in backing the National Student Association to sign up at the Hetzel Union desk for information concerning the organization. The board also furthered plans for the junior class sponsored party for faculty children on Dec. 17 in the HUB.

Freshman, sophomores and juniors may acquire an information pamphlet at the HUB concerning the NSA program. NSA is a confederation of college student governments that exchange information among member colleges.

Robert Bahrenburg, junior class president, requested that students sign up for the pamphlets before Saturday. A meeting for those receiving pamphlets will be held Tuesday in a room and a time to be announced.

All-University Cabinet voted at its last meeting on Nov. 17 to send a group of observers to a regional convention of NSA to be held this month at Allegheny College.

Bahrenburg also urged faculty members who wish their children to attend the Christmas party to sign their children's names to the lists that have been distributed to most of the buildings on campus.

The children will be treated to two movies, and acts by a magician and a ventriloquist. Refreshments will also be given to the children.

Guides will be used to help in the program which is hoped to attract over 300 children.
