

Today's Weather:
Cold With
Snow Flurries

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

Racism and Prejudice
See Page 4

VOL. 56, No. 57

STATE COLLEGE, PA., FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 9, 1955

FIVE CENTS

Student Suspended For Auto Violation

A third semester student in the division of intermediate registration has been suspended from the University for one semester for failing to remove his car from campus.

Dean of Men Frank J. Simes said yesterday that the Senate Committee on Student Affairs, subcommittee on

TIM Asked To Give Up Office—Cole

Robert Cole, Town Independent Men president, told TIM members Wednesday night that the organization would lose its office in Waring Hall, effective at the end of the semester.

Cole said Otto E. Mueller, director of housing, told him that his department would need the TIM office, as well as an adjacent room, for expansion.

Cole reported that Mueller said the organization should attempt to find space in the Hetzel Union Building because it does not truly belong in Waring Hall as none of its members live in dormitories.

Cole said he will see University officials about securing a place in the HUB or keeping the present office.

Cole also announced the following appointments:

Fred Mauk, chairman, projects committee; John Sapper, chairman, social committee; James Goodwin, parliamentarian; John Christian, Association of Independent Men secretary; Leonard

(Continued on page eight)

2d Semester Coed Hours Advanced

Second semester freshmen women will assume upperclasswomen's hours as of today for the rest of the semester, according to Pearl O. Weston, dean of women.

Hours for first semester freshmen women will remain unchanged.

Second semester women will receive a 2 o'clock permission tonight, and a one o'clock tomorrow night. Regular weekend hours for upper class women consist of a one o'clock Friday and Saturday nights.

First semester coeds may take a one and a twelve o'clock permission interchangeably this weekend.

discipline, passed the suspension ruling because the student ignored an order from the dean of men's office to take his car home after five traffic violations.

Traffic Court Provisions

A Traffic Court regulation stipulates that a student having five violations must take his car home for 16 weeks.

Simes said that the student asked permission to keep the car on campus until he could leave campus for the Penn game. He said that he would have difficulty in getting the car home Oct. 10—the weekend when he received the order from the dean's office.

Simes said that he agreed to this with the stipulation that the car should not be moved under any circumstances.

Car Spotted

On Oct. 22 Campus Patrol reported seeing the car at McElwain Hall. Questioning revealed that the student had lent the car to a friend.

However, the Campus Patrol again reported seeing the car in parking area 70 shortly before the Thanksgiving vacation.

The student said that he was unable to take the car home but saw no harm in keeping it on campus over the deadline as long as he didn't move the car.

The student will be allowed to finish the current semester and will be eligible to apply for re-admission next fall.

Frosh Receives Suspension

Another student, a freshman in aeronautical engineering received a deferred suspension from the disciplinary committee for a traffic violation.

The student violated the freshman car ban by bringing a car to campus on Nov. 20. The Campus Patrol reported the presence of the car.

The student said he was forced to bring the car on the campus because he was unable to get a bus out of Pittsburgh that would get him to school in time for Monday morning classes.

Aware of Ban

He said that he was aware of the freshman car ban but thought that there was little chance of being discovered if he kept the car off campus. However, he drove the car on campus because he was late for a class.

(Continued on page eight)

Cabinet Dress Rule Is Unconstitutional

—Photo by Watts

EARL SEELY, All-University President, standing, discusses constitutionality of the cabinet dress rule for men's dining halls at the first session of the Supreme Court last night. Bruce Lieske, president of AIM, seated, waits his turn to speak against the dress ruling.

High Court Suggests Continuation

By MIKE MOYLE

The Supreme Court last night ruled that the dress rule passed by All-University Cabinet on Sept. 24, 1953, is unconstitutional because it violates that section of the All-University constitution which states that Cabinet "shall not pass legislation which lies exclusively in the scope of any member organization."

The Court recommended, however, that some form of dress rule be carried out in the dormitories.

Court Chairman Karl Schwenzfeier said that although there are both fraternity and independent men living in the dormitories, the court considered the dormitories as a group which lies under the jurisdiction of the Association of Independent Men instead of considering the dormitory residents as individuals.

Legislated to One Group

This means that Cabinet legislation in the scope of a single member organization—AIM—instead of legislating to a group which came under the jurisdiction of two member groups—AIM and the Interfraternity Council.

Schwenzfeier said that if the court had made the latter interpretation, it would have to rule in favor of constitutionality because in that case Cabinet would have been ruling under that section of the constitution which states: "Cabinet shall have the power to make any recommendations concerning the general student welfare."

Seely Statement

All-University President Earl Seely, present at the meeting to clarify any confusion which might arise over the interpretation of the All-University constitution, said he felt that Cabinet's action was illegal. He added, however, that he thought Cabinet should have merely suggested to AIM

(Continued on page eight)

Sophomore Dies Of Throat Ailment

Gaius Frost, 19, sophomore in mechanical engineering from Lancaster, died of a throat obstruction yesterday morning in the University Hospital, ten and a half hours after being admitted.

Frost died at 2:30 a.m. of an acute laryngeal edema, a swelling in the throat that blocked his windpipe, Dr. Herbert Glenn, hospital physician, said.

The swelling that caused Frost's death, is unusual, according to Dr. Glenn. "The last time he treated such a case was three years ago," he said.

Frost first complained of a sore throat Tuesday at Acacia where he was a pledge. He attended classes Wednesday and then reported to the University Hospital.

Admitted to Hospital

He was admitted to the hospital at 4 p.m. He was also found to have a fever.

At 1 a.m. a nurse called Dr. Reid Brader of the health service staff. She found Frost having trouble breathing. After examination, Dr. James Campbell, Jr., State College throat specialist, was called in.

Dr. Glenn said that people afflicted with the swelling have

(Continued on page eight)

Gaius Frost Dies in Infirmary

UN Assembly Approves Admission of 18 Countries

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 8 (AP)—By a thumping majority the UN General Assembly today approved simultaneous admission of 18 new countries. But a possible big power veto in the Security Council still threatened the entire package deal.

Applause rippled through the big hall after President

Jose Maza of Chile announced the 52-2 vote in favor of seeking a favorable recommendation from the Security Council on breaking the long-existing membership deadlock.

As in the Political Committee yesterday, only China and Cuba voted against the package deal. The United States, Belgium, France, Greece and Israel abstained.

The UN announced that Saturday morning had been set for a Council meeting.

Membership Problem

The big question was whether Nationalist China would veto the application of Outer Mongolia one of the five Communist states seeking membership. The Soviet Union has said it will accept 18 states or none.

Dr. T. F. Tsiang, the Chinese delegate, was under ever increasing pressure to at least abstain in the Security Council, but aides said he was determined to block the application of Outer Mongolia by any necessary steps.

A Council recommendation must obtain approval of seven of the 11 members, but a veto by any one of the five permanent members would kill it. The United States, France, Britain, China and the Soviet Union make up the five.

Expresses Opposition

In approving the package deal resolution, the General Assembly heard only two voices expressing outright opposition—Tsiang and Dr. Emilio Nunez Portuondo of

Cold, Snow Flurries Forecast for Today

Today's weather will be cold and continued cloudy with snow flurries, according to students in the Department of Meteorology.

The high temperature will reach approximately 36 degrees, with a low of 22.

The maximum temperature yesterday was 40 degrees. The low was 27.

Anthony to Crown Queen at Mil Ball

Ray Anthony and his orchestra will play at the Military Ball from 9 to 1 tonight in Recreation Hall.

Anthony will crown the Mil Ball queen at 10:45. The queen and her court will pass through a cordon formed by members of Pershing Rifles, national military honorary society, and an arch of sabres by the sabre team of Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary group.

Members of Angel Flight, Air Force Reserve Training Officers' Corps auxiliary organization, will present a bouquet of roses to each of the finalists.

Silver Trophies to Be Given

Cadet Col. Gordon Fee, master of ceremonies, will award a silver plated trophy to the queen and to each member of the court.

The five finalists are Rosemary Bass, sophomore in journalism from Camp Hill, sponsored by John Lyo, Cadet Major of the AFROTC; Jane Hartzell, junior in home economics from Lancaster, sponsored by Arthur Bates, Cadet 1st Lt. of the AROTC.

Marilyn Myers, senior in arts and letters from Scotia, N.Y., sponsored by Reid Eschallier, NROTC; Toni Lisinichia, freshman in elementary education at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, sponsored by Donald Tinsman, AFROTC.

Patricia Maloney, freshman in pre-medical from Pittsburgh at Duquesne University, sponsored by Donald Dobroski, Cadet Sgt. 1st Class AFROTC.

The queen will be chosen at the dance by Col. Richard Reidy, professor of military science and tactics; Col. Daniel Riva, professor of air science; and Capt. V. B. MacCrae, professor of naval science.

The finalists were selected from 40 entries by the cadet commander and his staff at the Pennsylvania Military College, Chester, (Continued on page eight)