

Waring to Present Show 'Hear, Hear' In Recreation Hall

Fred Waring will present his two-hour musical show, "Hear, Hear," which opened on Broadway and went on tour in the Midwest, in Recreation Hall on Feb. 24.

The show, which is a survey of American music from spirituals to "pop," features among other performers baritone Frank Davis, drummer Poly McClintock, the only member who was with Waring's original band; and Ray Sax, noted vaudeville performer.

Waring opened the show with a limited four-week run in the Zigfield theatre in New York. After this run he played in Atlantic City for one week and then went on tour through the Midwest, which he has just completed.

He is scheduled to start a tour of the East. He will be sponsored at the University by the Panhellenic Association, the Association of Independent Men, the Interfraternity Council, and Leonides.

About 50 performers appear in his show, half are vocalists, and half instrumentalists.

The first half program is divided into four sequences, each dealing with a segment of American music. The opening patriotic sequence will present songs closely affiliated with the nation.

In a folk song scene, Waring will present mountain and country music. Frank Davis will be featured as a traveling preacher in a religious sequence, and the first half of the show will end with a minstrel show.

The second half will be a musical variety, in which Waring will play the type of music he is most noted. In this segment of the show, he will feature individual soloists and parts of his band. The finale will be "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

'Picnic' Ticket Sales

Players' officials request that persons planning to attend the final weekend run of "Picnic" Friday and Saturday buy their tickets in advance. Tickets are on sale at the Hetzel Union desk for $1.

Eng Council Hears Plan For Building

The Engineering Student Council last night put off recommendations that the inadequate lighting facilities in the engineering units be improved, after learning of a possibility for a new engineering building to be constructed.

The lighting problem had been raised by many engineering students working in the units and had been under long discussions at the council's meetings.

The construction of a new building for engineering students would have many modern facilities, including lighting.

A new building had been discussed at the Board of Trustees' meeting, according to the lighting committee's report to council.

According to present plans, the building will be located in front of the present units along College avenue. In this case, all engineering facilities would be moved to the new building and the units could be made available to graduate students doing research, the report said.

The present lighting situation in the units along with possible solutions will be explained to the students in a letter written by council and published early in the spring semester, a member of the committee said.

Song Contest Remains Open

Applications for the Leonides theme song contest are still available in the AIM-Leonides office, 203 Hetzel Union.

Leonides, independent women's organization voted to extend the contest deadline to the weekend of February 17.

Ruth Oram, treasurer, reported at the Leonides meeting Monday night that the treasury contained a balance of $727.61 and an additional $350 was coming in at the beginning of the new semester.

Representatives will serve coffee and tea in the women's dormitories one-half hour each evening during final examinations.

Clouds, Freezing Rain Predicted for Today

Seven Proposals Selected for Gift

By BARB BUDNICK

Seven suggestions were selected last night by the Senior Class Advisory Committee to appear on a prepared ballot for January graduates. Approximately 50 suggestions were collected.

The suggestions are a recreation cabin at Beaver Dam, a fountain in the Hetzel Union Building courtyard, a new public address system for Beaver Field, furnishings for the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Memorial Chapel, medical equipment for the infirmary, a color television set for the HUB, and a collection of books for Pattee Library.

January graduates will vote on the suggestions when they pick up their caps and gowns at the Athletic Store Jan. 26, 27, 28, and 30. The three top suggestions will then go into another ballot on which June graduates will vote in the spring.

P.A. System, TV Linked

The public address system and color television suggestions will be put on a separate ballot because of the relative inexperience of these two items in comparison with the probable cost of the other items. The P.A. system would need approximately $500 to pay for the rebuilding of the broadcasting booth and new broadcasting equipment. The color television set for the HUB would cost about the same amount.

It was suggested that a collection of books for the Pattee library by some famous author who is associated with the University would bring fame to the University in some way. Authors mentioned were Edgar Lee Masters, author of "Spoon River Anthology," whose wife is a teacher at the Ogontz Center; and the late Dylan Thomas, famous poet, who spoke at the University some years ago.

Cabin Would Be Replaced

The recreation cabin at Beaver Dam would take the place of the one operated by the Outing Club which was burned down. A cabin of this type would be available to all students for picnics and cabin parties.

A gift of furnishings for the Chapel would make the fourth consecutive year that the senior class gift would be contributed toward the new chapel. Last year's senior class presented $10,000 to the University for pews and furnishings.

New medical equipment for the infirmary would be placed in the new wing. Type of equipment would be chosen by the University hospital staff.

Approximately $9500 has been set aside for the senior class gift. This is a total amount taken from student fees and accumulated from the tuition over eight semesters.

Women's Chorus to Meet

The Women's Chorus will hold a business meeting at 7 tonight in 100 Carnegie. Women not present will be dropped from the chorus.

Leiske Names McCabe Head Of AIM Board

John McCabe, senior in chemical engineering from Troy, has been appointed acting chairman of the Association of Independent Men's Judicial Board of Review, according to Bruce Leiske, AIM president.

McCabe will replace David Sullivan, senior in electrical engineering from Monongahela, who resigned last week. Sullivan gave the reason for his resignation as "academic and personal."

Sullivan had served as chairman since last spring.

Leiske said a permanent chairman will be appointed in the spring. He added he would be a fifth or sixth semester man.

The AIM Board of Governors will meet tonight to vote on a motion to present keys to the members of AIM Judicial.

Harold Dean, social committee chairman, will present a progress report on the "nightclub" idea that has been under discussion for the past several months. Dean said that the plans concerning

Two Freshmen Are Suspended

Two freshmen have been suspended from the University for having cars on campus, according to Harold J. Perkins, assistant dean of men.

Last spring the Council of Administration passed a rule banning freshmen cars on campus or in the borough because of limited parking facilities.

The first violation occurred before Christmas and involved a freshman in the College of Business Administration.

The second case which involved a student in the College of Engineering was decided yesterday. Both students will be allowed to complete this semester.

Leaders Agree to Push Farm Action

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP) — Eisenhower administration leaders agreed today to push for quick congressional action on the farm problem. They talked also of the need to get started on a big highway construction effort.

Democrats, who control Congress have also shown a desire to get going with farm legislation. Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) called his Senate Agriculture Committee to meet with Secretary Ezra T. Benson Thursday morning and with representatives of farm organizations Thursday afternoon. The House Agriculture Committee went to work in a preliminary meeting today.

In the meantime, President Dwight D. Eisenhower arranged to send his special message on federal aid to school construction to Congress Thursday morning. His next message will be the important one on the federal budget, next Monday.

Eisenhower called the top Republican leaders of the Senate and House to the White House this morning on his second full day of work there in his convalescence from his heart attack.

President Looks Fine

Sen. William F. Knowland of California, the Senate GOP leader, said the President looked fine. Knowland and Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, the House Republican leader, agreed there was no talk bearing on the question of whether Eisenhower will run again.

Knowland said the Republicans want action as soon as possible on the Eisenhower farm message, which went to Congress yesterday.

He said the feeling of urgency was based on a desire to deal fairly with the farmers as a vital element of the economy, rather than to seek votes for November.

A central feature of the program received bipartisan support. This was the idea of a soil bank, under which farmers would get cash or commodities from the government for cutting back on unnecessary production.

Democrats Claim Idea

Democrats, including Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, maintained that the soil bank idea actually originated among them.

However, the biggest objection raised to the Eisenhower program — by some Midwestern Republicans as well as many Democrats — was that it wouldn't act quickly enough to help farmers whose prices and income have been steadily dwindling.

Prexy's Word Could Solve Problem -- CDT

The Centre Daily Times, in an editorial, said yesterday that "only" a statement from Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the University, would clear up reports that he is a possible Republican presidential or vice presidential candidate if his brother decides against running.

The newspaper continued: "But Dr. Eisenhower is on record that he'll talk for publication only on University business."

The newspaper made this comment as a result of columnist Roscoe Drummond's story in the latest edition of Collier's magazine.

Drummond, nationally syndicated columnist for the New York Herald Tribune, has repeatedly mentioned Dr. Eisenhower's name as a possible candidate.

Drummond has been termed the "most authoritative" writer on the Republican administration.

A news article of Drummond's statements concerning Dr. Eisenhower in the magazine article appeared in Friday's edition of The Daily Collegian.

Banquet to End Centennial Fete

The third annual Brotherhood Banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 19 in the Hetzel Union Ballroom.

Rabbi Arthur J. Lelyveld, national director of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation and chairman of the board of trustees of the United States World University Service, will speak at the banquet, which will conclude the University's Centennial celebration.

Rabbi Lelyveld's talk will be the last in the series of Centennial Lectures on Religion, sponsored by the Committee of Thirteen on Inter-religious Affairs.

The Committee of Thirteen is made up of faculty members, student leaders of campus religious organizations, and local clergy of the Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish faiths.

West Hall Council Airs Dress Rule

The West Hall Council last night passed a motion to refer to its individual units a dress rule amendment which would allow men to remove their coats in the dining halls.

If the units give their approval, the amendment will be added to the West Hall dress regulation.

The present dress rule for the West Hall area states that men students will wear a coat, tie, and dress shirt to Sunday meals.

The original motion was passed by the West Hall Council after the Supreme Court ruled that the dress rule passed by All-University Cabinet on Sept. 24, 1953, was unconstitutional.
