

'Flight' to Sponsor AF Living Course

A course on Air Force living, sponsored by Angel Flight and assisted by the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps staff and cadets, will be held from Feb. 22 to April 25. The course will consist of nine weekly Wednesday night meetings, and will be entitled "The Blue Yonder Workshop."

Frosh Council Sets Tea Date For March 11

Plans for the annual Freshman Tea, sponsored by the freshman class, were made by the Freshman Council Tuesday night.

The tea will be held from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. March 11 in Atherton lounge. All undergraduate women will be invited.

The tea will be further organized by seven committees. Chairmen for these committees will be appointed by the Freshman Senators to the Women's Student Government Association. Membership on the committees is open to freshman women, who should contact their dormitory unit presidents if they are interested.

Anne Nitrauer, sophomore senator to WSGA, announced that a foods committee will be set up in the near future. The committee will be composed of one representative from each dormitory unit, and will meet with the University dietitian. Representatives for the committee will be elected by the dormitory units within the next three weeks, Miss Nitrauer said.

The purpose of the course is to provide the wife-to-be of a man who is a member of the Armed Forces with information to aid her complex role of hostess, household manager, and confidante to her military husband.

Col. Daniel F. Riva, professor of air science, stated that 117 coeds registered for last year's course, "The Life of the Service Wife."

Improvements Made
He said that improvements have been made in the course and it will be conducted on an informal workshop basis. He added that although the wives of Air Force officers will make the major contribution, the course will also try to have coeds and cadets, as well as officers and their wives, in the informal panels and discussion groups.

The subjects to be included in this workshop were chosen by the Air Force ROTC cadets and Angel Flight, assisted by Lt. Col. Carroll L. Buhman, director of education and training, who is coordinating this project.

Registration Dates
Registration for the course will be held Feb. 1, 2, and 3 at the AFROTC office in the Armory. There will be no fees.

Further information can be obtained from Rosemary Bass, 226 Atherton; Mary Stahl, 336 Simmons, Barbara Lynn Kinnier, 7 Atherton Hall, or the Department of Air Science, room 107 Armory.

Alpha Kappa Lambda has most of its chapters at western universities and colleges. Forrest said the national is interested in establishing chapters on eastern campuses. The national representatives told the chapter Alpha Kappa Lambda had bypassed an opportunity to establish a chapter at the University of Pittsburgh since it felt this University had a better fraternity system.

Sigma Phi Alpha local fraternity was established at the University in 1930. If the local does decide to affiliate nationally, it will leave the campus with three local fraternities.

corresponding secretary; Florence Silver, treasurer; and Judith Gropper, rushing chairman.

NSA Question--

tify the National Student Association felt qualified to give an opinion on the organization.

Miller, in the lead editorial in yesterday's Collegian, said:

"NSA must merit the cost before Cabinet can conscientiously vote it in. At present it does not. . . There are more than enough worthwhile projects at the University for which the money can be spent."

Miller said the cost of NSA membership would be $600 in dues "plus travel expenses for up to 14 delegates and alternates to conventions which may well be held thousands of miles distant."

Cites Opinion
Earl Wunderli, student government president at the University of Utah, in a letter to Beard writes:

"I think of dues (NSA dues) as I think of my tuition, or fraternity dues, or taxes. Now with none of these three do we attempt an evaluation of material benefits to be gained, for we know the benefits are many, some tangible, but most of them intangible."

If Cabinet approves resumption of NSA membership, Beard will ask that four NSA committees be set up at the University. Each would be composed of a chairman and four other members, and the chairman would also be a member of another committee, the "Committee of Five."

In other business, Roger Beidler, chairman of All-University Elections Committee, will recommend that if the proposed "floating" holidays are established by the Senate Calendar Committee, a referendum be held in the spring semester to allow students to select one football game for a half-holiday; that voting machines again be used in the Hetzel Union Building for elections, and that the committee's budget "for impartial voting" be increased to $125 for the spring elections and $75 for the fall elections.

To Present Motion
Beidler, in his report to Cabinet, will also recommend that "no elected officer of one political party will be permitted to run for an office in any other political party for a period of not less than one year following his resignation."

This motion is the result of William Snyder's resignation as vice clique chairman of Lion party, to run for the same post in the Campus party. He won the election.

Daniel Land, chairman of Junior Prom and Junior Week, will submit his final report, which shows a profit of $666.48 on the annual dance. Vernon Sones, fall semester Orientation Week Chairman, will report on Orientation Week.

Sones will suggest the present system of counseling for Orientation Week, that of grouping by curriculums, be continued.

Committee Reports

Other business will include two committee reports, a motion to allot $125 to the junior class for its Christmas party for children of faculty members, a motion to purchase miniature Nittany Lions for members of the Swiss gym team, a motion to appoint a committee to study the possibilities of a student bookstore, and that the constitution of the Student Government Association be amended in accordance with the new grading system.

A "state of Cabinet" message will also be presented by the Executive Committee. The message will include past accomplishments of Cabinet and plans for the future.

Ten O'Clock Deadline Fouls Joe College

He didn't ask for information—but he got it.

Calling a coed in the dorms really isn't difficult for most college men, but there's an exception to every rule.

Asking the dormitory operator for 350 Simmons was easy, but when the girl he was calling was in another room and her roommate went to find her, strange things happened.

The operator announced that it was 10 o'clock and not realizing that there's a 10 o'clock deadline on all campus calls, a bewildered Joe College looked at his watch and thanked the operator for giving him the correct time.

He became more baffled when she cut in again with the same message. He was also getting impatient since no one had answered the phone.

The operator was also impatient as she announced the time again, more emphatically than before.

"I know it's 10 o'clock," he finally told her. "I have a new watch that keeps excellent time and I just heard Old Main strike."

Now even more confused than Joe College, the operator explained that he couldn't call the dorms after 10 p.m. but realizing

Seltzer Appointed To Head Committee By WSGA Senate

Women's Student Government last night approved the appointment of Marilyn Seltzer, junior in home economics, as chairman of the implementation committee. The implementation committee was organized Dec. 14 to investigate ways of student enforcement to WSGA rules which are now being enforced by the dormitory hostesses.

Lois Masket, acting chairman of Judicial and chairman of the orientation program of the implementation committee, reported that an investigation of student government rules of other colleges and universities has been started and that the committee has met with the hostesses.

The WSGA election code was read by Martha Fleming, chairman of the elections committee. The code will be voted on at a later meeting. The dates for the WSGA and May Day elections will also be decided at the next meeting of the Senate.

his plight she promised to explain what had happened to the girl he was calling—if and when she came to the phone.

Our hero's comment on his enlightening phone experience—"I was so embarrassed I could have crawled in the coin box."
