McCoy Names Top Facilities

Sixteen modern bowling alleys, an 800-capacity outdoor ice skating rink, and 20-capacity rifle range were named as 1955's top contributions to Penn State's ever-expanding student recreational program.

Two of the contributions—bowling alleys and rifle range—are housed in Recreation Hall. Four of the 16 alleys are located in White Hall, women's physical education center.

These and other improvements, according to E. B. McCoy, director of athletics and Dean of the College of Physical Education, are designed to meet the insistent and growing demand for recreational opportunity on the part of the University's 14,000 students.

Dean McCoy named an indoor swimming pool, a classroom building along the general lines of the present Recreation Hall, and field house as the most urgent needs of the future.

Student's Mother Killed in Accident After Graduation

The driver of the truck, John Garber, Hollidaysburg, attempted to swing away from the car. The truck hit the car and sent it against a tree.
