

3 Seniors End Careers Against Pitt Tonight

Gymnasts, Pitt Open Triple Header at 2

A trio of Lion seniors, the top scorers on the squad, will make their last appearance in Blue and White togs tonight when the Nittany cagers wind up the 1955-56 campaign with the Pitt Panthers at Recreation Hall.

The game will begin at 8:30.

Co-captains Bob Hoffman and Earl Fields and forward Rudy Marisa will bow out of the Penn State cage scene tonight and hope to make it a fond farewell with a win over the Panthers. The threesome has been together for three years on the Lion varsity.

The senior cagers have dominated the Nittany scoring this year and are at present waging a three-way battle for the crown. Hoffman and Marisa are out in front with 344 each and Fields is a close second with 336. Fields has recently been in a late season splurge as he has led the cagers in the scoring column four out of the last five games. Tonight's encounter will decide the winner.

The other two starters for the Lions will be forward Bob Leisher and center Jim Jordy. These five cagers make up the combination which has piloted the Nittanians to a three-game winning streak. If they add the fourth tonight, they will also raise the season's record to the .500 mark. The Lion record is now 12-13.

Pitt will appear in Rec Hall with a winning season at their backs, attempting to write a happy ending to a successful campaign. Only one cager will be ending his career for the Panthers. Joe Fenwick, 6' guard, will be the only loss to coach Bob Timmons' quintet.

The remainder of the lineup is composed of two juniors and the same number of sophomores. The juniors, Bob Lazor and John Riser, account for the rebound strength of the Jungle Cats. Lazor, 6'5" pivotman, tallied 26 points against the Lions in the first contest. Riser, 6'4", was no easier on the Nittanians as he contributed 18.

Sophomores Julius Pegues and Chuck Hursh round out the squad. Pegues, 6'3", is one of the top scorers for the Skyscraper U netters and 6'4" Hursh adds to the rebound strength.

Last year the Nittanians split the home-and-home series with Pitt winning the finale at Rec Hall and dropping the first in the Steel City. The cagers lost by 10 at Pitt but won by nine on their home court. The Panthers already own one victory over the Blue and White as they garnered an easy 78-60 win at the field house.

Tonight is the Lion's first appearance in Rec Hall since they defeated Bucknell several weeks ago. Since then they have played five road games, winning two and losing three. In the 17 away encounters the Nittanians have played this season they have won seven while dropping 10. At home, the cagers have won five and lost three.

This is the eighth season since 1937 that Penn State's basketball leadership has been entrusted to co-captains.

AAU, Court Differ On Santee Ban

NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—The court-ordered return of Wes Santee to the Columbian Mile takes precedence over all other events in the 37th New York Knights of Columbus track meet tomorrow night but today's developments left two big questions unanswered.

They are: Will Santee be permitted to run, after all? And, if he is, what will happen to anyone who runs against him?

Wants Injunction Set Aside
Jay-Ehret Mahoney, attorney for the Amateur Athletic Union, today filed a show cause order in the Appellate Division asking to have the injunction against the AAU, granted yesterday, set aside. The injunction, signed by State Supreme Court Justice James McNally, stopped the AAU from enforcing its lifetime suspension of Santee.

Today's legal action was put on the calendar for tomorrow morning and if the AAU position is upheld, Santee will not be eligible to run in tomorrow night's meet.

Barred on Feb. 19
The Kansan, now a Marine lieutenant at Quantico, Va., was barred from all amateur competition on Feb. 19 after a hearing on charges that he had accepted excessive expense money. Judge McNally's injunction rendered that suspension ineffective, pending a hearing next Friday.

Although Judge McNally assured Santee's prospective rivals that they also were "under the protection of that order" some of them experienced qualms today, in view of earlier warnings from the AAU.

It was uncertain tonight how many of them might run if Santee does.

Paxton Was a Wrestler

Bill Paxton, Penn State tumbler, launched his career as a gymnast four years ago. The Latrobe senior concentrated on wrestling as a schoolboy.

Captain Tony Cline and tumbler Bill Paxton close the book on three years of varsity gymnastic dual competition at 2 o'clock this afternoon when the Lions host Pittsburgh in the opener of the long-awaited triple header.

Today's clash marks the last of the regularly scheduled meets for both men, although they will probably enter the Eastern Gymnastic finals at West Point Saturday.

Cline will again be one of the top Lion entries on the horizontal bar where he has been a season-long scoring threat.

He has a first against Syracuse, seconds against Temple, Army and Navy, and a third against West Virginia to his credit.

Coach Gene Wettstone named junior Dion Weissend and sophomore John Collier as the other Lion high bar entries.

Tom Darling and Jim Mulvihill, sophomores, top the Panther entries on the high bar with Chuck Kerber listed as the number three man.

Paxton will be after his first undefeated season in three years when he puts his 5-0 record on the line.

Paxton won his fifth tumbling first with a close 10-point margin over Weissend in the Navy meet.

Weissend and sophomore Adie Stevens—who finished third against Navy—round out the Lion tumbling entries.

The Panthers, who figure to offer a much stronger tumbling contingent than Navy, will use veteran Will Starz and Hammond in an attempt to gain an early lead.

Armando Vega, one of the most consistent scorers for the Lions all season, will again head the Lion entries in the parallel bars. Vega has a 5-0 record on the bars.

Weissend and sophomore Bob Foht will join Vega.

Mulvihill, Kreber, and Hammond are expected to be the Panther entries.

Sophomore Jack Biesterfeldt, Vega, and Cline will be the Lion entries on the side horse—one of the weakest events for both clubs.

Mulvihill, and veteran lettermen Joe Lamartine and John Petrakes, will oppose the Lion trio on the side horse. The Panthers have won only two firsts in the side horse.

The Nittanians are expected to have a decided edge in the rope climb where the Panthers have failed to win a first all season.

Phil Mullen, Dick Rehm, and Bob Boudreau, who replaces senior Leroy Fritch, will be the Lion entries while Coach Warren Neiger named Bill Cowan, Mike Mongelli, and Dave Ruber as his entries.

Ed Sidwell, Cline, and Todaro, a surprise replacement for Vega, will enter the flying rings against the Panthers' Lamartine, Hammond, and Darling. The rings is Pitt's strongest event.

Pi Sigma Upsilon's Jim McCabe won by forfeit from Dave Adams of Delta Upsilon, and Alpha Chi Sigma's Carroll McDonnell took a forfeit from Gerry Pinati, Pi Kappa Alpha.

Werner Japan-Bound

Charles (Chick) Werner, Penn State track coach, joins Ohio State's Larry Snyder on a return visit to Japan in early March for a series of clinics in the Far East. The two went abroad on a like mission for the armed forces last year.
