

HUB to Offer 'Plate Special' Starting Monday

A low cost "plate special" will be offered in the Hetzel Union dining room beginning Monday, according to Mildred Baker, food service director.

In an interview with Robert Cole, Town Independent Men president, and Thomas Emerick, Penn State Veterans Club president, yesterday, Miss Baker said the special will

27 Freshmen In Chemistry To Be Honored

Twenty-seven freshmen will be honored for doing outstanding work during the fall semester in basic chemistry courses next week.

Dr. Grant W. Smith, professor of chemistry, who is in charge of the freshman program, said that only students with 4.0 averages in basic chemistry courses were considered for awards. Instructors nominated students for the award. From this group 27 were chosen.

Each student will be given a copy of the Handbook of Chemistry and Physics. The books are inscribed, "Freshman Chemistry Achievement Award, 1956. The Pennsylvania State University." The freshman are:

Charles Hinderliter, Alton Kendall, Carl Burmeister, Donald Shiffler, David Schleicher, Richard W. Wilson, David Houghton, Lawrence Hutchinson, James Porter, and Marilyn Rabenold.

Joe Balogh, Allan Cohen, David Goldstein, John McArthur, Edward Frymoyer, George Sellers, David Stelman, Ronald Thomke, Richard Klinger, and Forest Mintz.

Glenn Gerber, Frederick Young, Donald Zepp, Frank Warner, III, John Andrews, Carolyn Quarles, and Raden Sumantri.

Cover Girl Contest For Roto Section Has Single Entry

Only one entry has been submitted for the third annual Campus Cover Girl Contest, sponsored by the Roto Magazine section of the Pittsburgh Press.

University coeds wishing to enter may submit a photograph of any size with their name and address on the back to the Hetzel Union desk by 5 p.m. Monday. Any undergraduate coed is eligible to enter and need not be sponsored by an organization.

A panel of three judges, to be announced later this week, will select a local winner. Her picture will then be sent to the Pittsburgh Press, where another panel of three judges will select a winner from the tri-state area of Pennsylvania, Ohio, and West Virginia.

The winner from the tri-state area will have her picture published in color on the cover of the April 1 Roto magazine along with a biographical sketch.

Frosh Tea to Present Spring Fashion Show

A fashion show of spring styles will be presented at the annual Freshman Tea to be held from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sunday in Atherton lounge.

The tea is given in honor of upperclass women.

Women students and guests may attend. Coed executives of campus organizations will be present to meet guests.

West Halls' Constitution Amended

The West Halls council has passed an amendment to the Association of Independent Men's constitution concerning the impeachment of members of the AIM board of governors.

Under the proposed amendment, a member of the board of governors can be impeached by a vote of three-fourths of the board.

According to the AIM constitution as it now stands, "Impeachment proceedings against a member of the board of governors must be brought before the entire voting membership of AIM."

John Carlson, president of the West Halls council, pointed out that through a loophole in the constitution, impeachment proceedings against a member could be halted if any member of the board of governors absented himself from the proceedings.

The amendment must be approved by three of the four AIM councils at two successive meetings before it can be written into the constitution.

During the meeting, Carlson gave a report from the food committee. He said he had talked with Otto Mueller, director of housing, concerning the placement of candy and soda vending machines throughout the West Halls area.

Such machines are presently located in Thompson hall. According to Mueller, Carlson said, the machines were placed throughout the area during the summer months when the snack bar located in Waring Hall was closed.

At the beginning of the fall semester, the food service committee ordered the machines removed from the dorms, Carlson said. The vending machines were left in Thompson.

Hort Students Will Sponsor Booth in Show

Students in the Horticulture Club will sponsor an educational booth at the annual Philadelphia Flower Show next week.

The exhibit was designed and built by student volunteers from the horticulture department.

This year's display will include a garden shelter in an outdoor living area setting complete with a small pool, redwood fence, flagstone terrace, and stone wall.

Flowers and grass particularly grown for the display will be taken to Philadelphia from campus.

Approximately 15 students will assist in erecting the display at the show and will remain to tend the booth during the exhibition.

Serving as advisers to the group are Robert W. Dyas, instructor of land horticulture, and Lawrence D. Little, instructor of ornamental horticulture.

Model Convention To Be Held by ICG

A model national political convention will be held by the Central Region Intercollegiate Conference on Government in the Hetzel Union building tomorrow.

The conference will open at 9:15 a.m. with registration and will conclude with the nomination of a presidential candidate at 4 p.m.

About 185 students are expected from 10 universities and colleges in Central Pennsylvania: the University; Bucknell; Dickinson; Lebanon, Valley; Elizabethtown; Hershey, Jr.; Wilson; York, Jr.; Millersville; and Shippensburg.

At the opening plenary session at 9:50 a.m., the Rev. Dr. Luther H. Harshbarger, University chaplain, will give the invocation. Dr. Ben Euwema, dean of the College of the Liberal Arts, will deliver the address of welcome. Convocation speaker and clerk will also be nominated, and convention rules will be adopted.

The convention platform committees will meet at 10:30 a.m. The seven committee chairmen who will preside are Loretta Wentz, Bucknell, agriculture and natural resources; Jack Higgins, the University, commerce, industry, and transportation; and Dennis Castelli, Hershey, civil rights.

Charles Zettlemeyer, Lebanon Valley, foreign policy and defense; Mort Levitt, Dickinson, health education and welfare; William Bechtel, Elizabethtown, judiciary and government operations; John Jones, Millersville, taxation and finance. The position for labor committee chairman has not yet been filled.

The general session for adoption of the political platform will be held at 1:30 p.m. in Assembly Hall. After consideration of all eight committee reports, one final political platform will be adopted.

Carole Hite, junior in education from Hershey, has been named convention registrar and Harold Dean, senior in arts and letters from Uniontown, convention secretary.

ICG is a state-wide organization for students interested in learning how government operates. It consists of five regional groups in which 50 colleges and universities are represented. Every four years, before the Republican and Democratic national conventions take place, ICG holds a bipartisan model convention to "nominate" a candidate for president.

Hell Week

(Continued from page one) veterans returning to the University, looked upon Hell Week as a childish practice. One again, Hell Week began to fade out, and pledges undertook civic improvement programs during Hell Week.

Public Displays Outlawed
Public nuisance displays, previously characteristic of Hell Week, were outlawed by the IFC in 1949. Such practices as missions to dorms, and weirdly garbed pledges cavorting in the down-town areas were considered a disgrace to the fraternity systems by the IFC.

Hell Week tended to revert to previous extremes as the University became more and more inundated with a younger brand of student, fresh out of high school. As college life reverted to pre-war normalcy, there was a stronger feeling in favor of a harsher Hell Week. The IFC attempted to halt the movement by levying fines on fraternities permitting detrimental Hell Week activities, according to 1951 Collegians.

Robert Bullock, IFC president, commenting on Hell Week practices, said there has been a gradual evolution of a more grown up treatment in progress since he has been a student at the University. Hell Week in some instances has been carried out between semesters in order that the so called derogatory influence on scholarship would be removed.
