Candidates Discuss Compensation Plan

Propose 2 Methods For Next Year

By RON GATEHOUSE

The two candidates for next year's All-University presidency yesterday each took a negative stand on student compensations in their present form and proposed a means of dealing with them in the future.

William Johnson, Lion party, and Robert Bahrenburg Campus party, expressing their views on major issues facing the student body at the third annual Daily Collegian press conference, agreed that although the compensation issue is finally settled for the present, it will undoubtedly be brought up again next year.

Johnson listed compensations as one of student government's "hundred and one faults." Instead of having a set sum go to a student leader each year, he proposed that each student working "for the betterment of the University" be allotted an expense account.

The Lion party candidate picked coffee hour chairmen as an example, but said that the expense account system could be made to fit the needs of any student leader, including the three All-University officers.

Johnson said that the Associated Student Activities office might be against the idea since it would involve a great deal of added book-work, but commented that the plan has been carried out at other universities without added difficulty.

"This plan would also somewhat do away with the 'Jeffersonian spoils system' which is over-emphasized at the University," Johnson stated.

Bahrenburg said that an expense account would not be feasible and said, "The whole problem is that too many individuals are out for themselves."

Rare Book Room Opened in Library

The Fred Lewis Pattee Library has opened a rare book room, Ralph W. McComb, librarian, has announced.

The details of the operation have not been worked out yet, but students, faculty members, and visitors may use the facilities of the room.

The faculty of the Liberal Arts College has petitioned the administration to appropriate money for a curator for this room and also for the purchase of further books, manuscripts and letters. This petition is now under consideration.

The room was opened to bring rare books of the library to one place so that students and scholars could get easy access to them.

To Provide More Material

The room, which will help to provide a more adequate source of material for the increasing number of graduate students, is adjacent to the librarian's office, room 102.

Prior to the creation of the rare book room, the books, manuscripts and papers were kept in the librarian's office and in the Library vault.

Contains 400 Year Old Books

The collection includes 5 "incunabula," which are books that were printed before 1500. It also has several first editions of American and English authors such as Hawthorne, Emerson, Irving, and Longfellow, and files of rare periodicals and early works of American travel.

In the future, the papers and books of Fred L. Pattee, first president of the college, will be housed here. (Continued on page eight)

Physical Plant Prepares Spring Seeding Program

Snow or no snow, the Physical Plant is making preparations for its annual Spring seeding and spraying program.

Work started this week with the placing of additional posts and connecting chains designed to keep students from using popular "short cuts."

Meanwhile, members of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, have been working on humorous "keep-off-the-grass" signs, according to Walter W. Trainer, supervisor of landscape construction and maintenance and farm maintenance.

Trainer expects to begin re-seeding work this week "if the weather is right."

½ Ton of Grass Seed Used

The job of re-seeding "short cuts" will take one-half ton of grass seed, while another 1½ tons will be used to seed new areas, such as the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Meditation Chapel and the University Hospital.

In addition to the seed, about 30 tons of fertilizer will be used.

Winter Causes Damage

Trainer explained that more damage is done by students walking on the grass in the winter than in the summer.

Although the grass looks as if it wouldn't matter if it were walked upon, it is often killed by tramping it against the frozen ground.

Begins About April 1

Spraying of trees and shrubs will begin about April 1.

An emulsified oil spray will be applied to the trees and shrubs. A solution of DDT will be added to the spray for application to elm trees.

The DDT is designed to kill the Dutch elm beetle, carrier of the Dutch elm disease, which has killed six campus trees since 1954.

About 20,000 gallons of oil and DDT spray will be used.

The application will be done by a high-pressure power sprayer.

Case Defends President On Segregation Charges

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)—Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D.-NY.) suggested today that President Dwight D. Eisenhower is a "neutralist" standing above the segregation battle. This brought a retort of "unwarranted and unfounded" from Sen. Clifford P. Case (R.-NJ.).

In a brief Senate flurry, Case contended Lehman was injecting politics into the segregation question. This was countered by a claim from Sen. Richard Neuberger (D.-Ore.) that it was Vice President Richard M. Nixon "who put politics into this vital issue."

The exchange began when Lehman called upon Eisenhower to "assume the responsibility" for enforcing the Supreme Court order outlawing racial segregation in the public schools.

"I cannot stand above the battle, like President Eisenhower, and say with fine impartiality that both sides must show restraint," Lehman declared. He quoted Eisenhower as having warned against "the extremists" on both sides, and asked if the President pictured himself as a "mediator" or a "neutralist."

Case replied: "Any suggestion that the President is a neutralist or is standing above this quarrel is unwarranted and unfounded."

"And I hope that there will be, from no side, even an implied injection of this question into politics, because such a tone, I regret to say, did arise in the remarks of my colleague from New York."
