7 College Councils To Hold Elections

By ROG ALEXANDER

A large turnout is expected at the polls today when seven of the nine college student councils will hold elections of council representatives.

Elections will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today and tomorrow. Only two of the councils are holding elections in the card room of the Hetzel Union building in conjunction with the All-University elections. The five other councils are placing ballot boxes at spots around the campus that are more convenient to their college members.

Two councils—agriculture student council, and the physical education student council—will hold their elections at a later date. The 23 organizations that make up the agriculture student council will elect representatives to the council next week.

The physical education student council plans to hold elections the first week after Easter vacation in the various recreation blocks.

Business Administration Council
Thirty seven students will vie for 19 positions on the business administration student council. Ballot boxes for the election will be located in the lobby of Sparks building, and in the card room of the Hetzel Union building.

Running for positions in the senior class council are Patricia Jones, Stanley Lindenberg, Harry Neuman, Michael Znach, Howard Seiten, George Kennedy, Jay Tolson, Harris Dollinger, and Frank McPadden.

Eight posts are vacant on the junior class council. Candidates are Jack Halpern, Byron LaVan, William P. Hillsman, Richard Moon, Marshall Berman, Peter Hirsch, Michael Walker, Hampton Byram, Alan Grossman, Robert W. Adams, Herbert J. Cohen, John Valentine, Richard Horvath, Samuel Wurtzel, Judith Goodrich, Joan Wallace, William Nelson, Leslie Filtabaum, and Dorothea Darlington.

50 Per Cent Vote Is Goal For Election

A 50 per cent voting turnout will be the goal of this year's All-University elections, All-University Elections Committee Chairman Roger Beidler said yesterday.

The highest voting percentage ever recorded was 46.8 per cent—set in 1954. In that election 4420 students cast ballots.

Last year 3679 students out of the 9984 who were eligible, voted for a percentage of 37.7.

In the record year of 1954 a decentralized voting system was used. Polls were located in Waring Hall, the lounge in Old Main, and in the Nittany-Pollock area.

Last year centralized voting—with four voting machines in the Hetzel Union Building was used. This plan was adopted again this year by the All-University Elections Committee. However, this year only two voting machines will be used.

Last year 15.6 per cent of the student body voted on the first day. A total of 1868 students voted. The record for first day vote was set in 1954 also with a percentage of 28.7 and a total vote of 2719 students.

In a breakdown of last year's first day voting the seniors and freshmen who voted for All-University officers had the largest vote total, 1051. Juniors had 423 voting while 394 sophomores voted.

The clique chairmen of both parties, Robert Spadaro, Lion, and William Snyder, Campus, have urged students to vote regardless of party affiliation in an effort to put the voting turnout over 50 per cent.

Food Service Says Blue Plate Special Sales Are Small

Fewer people are demanding the "plate special" now being offered in the Hetzel Union Terrace dining room than formerly demanded the now discontinued "student special," according to Mildred Baker, food service director.

The food service has received requests for the renewal of the "student special," Miss Baker said.

The "plate special" is still in the experimental stage, she said. However, she said, the total number of persons eating in the HUB may have increased slightly.

The increase is not necessarily because of the "plate special," she said. The food service at this time of year is normally busier than at other times, Miss Baker said.

The program will continue until Easter recess and will be resumed afterward unless food service feels it is not worthwhile, she said.

Speaking of food prices, Miss Baker said the management of the HUB dining room is perfectly free to adjust food prices according to costs.

Clear, Warmer Weather

Clear and warmer is the weather forecast for today, the first day of spring. The predicted high, according to the students in the department of meteorology, is 50 degrees. The expected low is 30.

Tribunal Applications Available at HUB

Applications for junior seats on Tribunal are available at the Hetzel Union desk.

A student must be a sophomore and have at least a 2.3 All-University average to apply. Applications are due at 5 p.m. April 9.

Voting for next year's All-University, Senior class, and Junior class officers will begin at 8:30 a.m. today in the Hetzel Union Building.

Next year's Athletic Association president will also be voted upon in the elections, which will run until 5:30 p.m. tomorrow. All students are eligible to vote in the elections, but must present their matriculation card at the polls.

Due to adverse weather conditions, only two voting machines will be available, instead of four which had been originally planned.

The Shoup Voting Machine Corporation, located in Philadelphia, contacted Roger Beidler, Elections Committee chairman, yesterday morning and said that two machines would be delivered last night. The machines will be placed in the Hetzel Union recreation room.

The Elections Committee will meet after the polls close tomorrow night to hear complaints from either political party concerning how campaigns were conducted.

Final elections results will be available shortly after the meeting.

Polls to Remain Open in HUB Until 7 Tonight

All-University Elections Committee last night decided to keep the polls open until 7 tonight to accommodate late voters in today's and tomorrow's All-University elections.

The polls will open at 8:30 this morning and at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow, and voting will end at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow.

All students are eligible to vote for the three All-University positions, and sixth and seventh semester students may also vote for senior class officers. Fourth and fifth semester students may vote for junior class officers. Third semester students will vote only for All-University officers, and in the case of males, the AA president.

Unrest Stirs More Riots In Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 20 (AP)—Hundreds of young Turkish Cypriots stoned and looted Greek Cypriot shops here today in reprisal for anti-Turkish rioting at the village of Vasilia.

They battled police and troops who tried to intervene and shook off the effects of round after round of tear gas fired at them during a three-hour demonstration. They finally heeded an appeal of Dr. Fazil Kucuk, leader of the island's Turkish minority, and dispersed.

The fighting centered in Ataturk Square, named after Kamal Ataturk, founder of modern Turkey. The neighborhood is predominately Turkish. The narrow streets were littered with broken glass, wrecked furniture, scattered books and papers and telephones and fans torn from their fittings.

Despite the fierceness of the attacks, the only known serious casualty was a Greek Cypriot news photographer. He was beaten when he tried to take pictures.

No arrests were reported, although the rioting occurred within 100 yards of divisional police headquarters.
