

Golfers Open at Navy; Netmen to Face Terps

Two new faces may appear in the starting lineup when the Penn State golf team makes its 1956 debut against the Naval Academy squad tomorrow at Annapolis.

Pat Rielly is a certainty to start, and there is a strong possibility that Lou Riggs may start in place of returning letterman Leo Kukkola if the latter is not able to play.

Rielly will be making his first appearance in a Lion uniform tomorrow. He is only a sophomore, but already many bystanders have tabbed him as a swinger with unlimited potential.

Riggs May Start

Riggs is a returning serviceman who has only to get into the proper groove to be one of the best Lion players. He played during the winter, is considered in good shape.

Riggs, who was eliminated by Kukkola in a 36-hole runoff for the 7th spot on the team, will play if Kukkola's injured back does not respond to treatment before match time. Kukkola has no trouble playing 18 holes, but the strain of any further action causes pain and hampers his swing. Rutherford fears the long ride to Annapolis and the extra 9 holes of practice that must be played might cause that strain, and so he is taking Riggs along as insurance.

Squad Well Fortified

The rest of the squad is composed of captain Jim Mayes, Johnny Boyanowski, Jim Ginsberg, Gus Gerhart, and John Branish. The Nittany mentor will have a problem deciding which slots to insert his players. The team is so consistently good throughout that it matters little where any of them play.

Match Is Tough

Tomorrow's match is one of the toughest of the season for the linksmen. The Navy squad is fortified by the return of three letter winners from last season. In their only previous match, the Middies walked over Bucknell, 6-1. However, Bucknell is a question mark this season, so the score is not too indicative of the Middies strength.

According to Rutherford, his squad is basically strong with no apparent weak spots in the entire lineup. The big fear, as in every other year, is the fact that the team was not favored with the proper weather to practice regularly.

The Lion tennis team, looking for their first win of the young season, will meet the Maryland tennis squad at the Beaver Field courts at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The Terrapins boast an ace in the person of Junior Dave Sreishtat who was picked by Jack Kramer as one of the future members of the American Davis Cup team, and was under Kramer's tutelage last summer.

Sreishtat, who will be Maryland's number one man, will meet Fred Trust, sophomore who made a good showing at Navy in his first meet for Penn State.

Trust Number One

Trust, who will move up from the number two slot which he played at Navy, will be switching places with Ed Seiling, who was top man at Annapolis.

Other probable changes in the Lion lineup will be the advancement of Al Williams and Joe Eberly to singles matches due to their showing against the midshipmen.

Last year the Maryland squad downed the Nittanies 6-2, occupying the same second spot in the schedule that they have this year.

Seek to Repeat Wins

Winners against the Southerners last season were Chuck Christiansen and Doug Zuker, who are seeking to repeat this year against a Maryland team that has lost two of their aces via graduation.

Yesterday the netmen were granted a rest by Coach Sherman Fogg after the loss to Navy. A rigorous practice session will be held this afternoon in an attempt to tune up the team for Saturday afternoon's contest.

After meeting Maryland the Nittany netmen will travel to Philadelphia on April 21 to meet a Penn University squad, another of their winning opponents last year. After another away game at Colgate the team returns home to face Bucknell on May 1.

Fogg expressed hope that the team will show improvement as the season progresses as they did last year, winning its last six matches.

Karl Schwenzfeier, star gymnast, was graduated from Penn State in February but still remains on campus as a graduate student.

4 NCAA Champions Top AAU Entries

Four National Collegiate men's all-round champions head the list of male competitors who will vie for National AAU titles and a Olympic berth April 27-28 at Recreation Hall.

Heading the list of foremost collegiate standouts is Jack Beckner, Los Angeles Turners. Beckner won the NCAA all-round crown while a senior at Southern California in 1952. He was also a member of the 1952 United States Olympic squad and gained a slot on the 1955 Pan American team.

Karl Schwenzfeier, former Lion star now taking graduate work at the University, is also rated as a strong contender for the crown. Schwenzfeier won the NCAA title last season and was co-holder of the AAU all-round championship with Jack Miles.

Joe Kotys, a member of the 1948 Olympic team, won the NCAA crown in 1949 and 1950 while a member of the Kent State gymnastic aggregation.

Last season, Kotys finished third in the AAU competition and was a member of the Pan American squad. He will represent the Cleveland Swiss Turners.

Don Tonry, Illinois sophomore sensation, won the 1956 NCAA honors at Chapel Hill, N.C. In doing so, he topped the number one man on the Lion squad, Armando Vega, who finished third.

Don Holder, Florida State, is also expected to give the top contenders a run for their money. Holder finished fifth in last year's AAU's, gaining a spot on the Pan American team. He was also a member of the 1952 Olympic squad.

Abie Grossfeld, Illinois University, finished in the sixth slot in the 1955 AAU's. He was named the 1955 National AAU Junior all-round champion and also gained a position on the Pan American squad.

Ed Scrobe, a 1948 and 1952 Olympic team member, Dick Beckner—Jack's brother—, Bill Tom, Carlton Rintz, and Charlie Simms are other top rated male entries.

Applications for Grid Managers Are Wanted

Second or third semester students who wish to become candidates for football manager, and who have a 2.0 all-University average should report to the athletic office in Recreation Hall sometime this week.
