

Herald Tribune Reporter To Speak at Matrix Table

Judith Crist, general reporter for the Herald Tribune, will be the guest speaker for the annual Matrix Table to be held at 6 p.m. Monday in the Hetzel Union ballroom.

The dinner is the annual event sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, women's national professional journalism fraternity, to honor outstanding women on campus.

Approximately 180 reservations for the banquet have been turned in at the Hetzel Union desk. Deadline for accepting invitations is noon today.

Tickets Requested

Coeds attending the Matrix Table have been asked to bring the tickets they received when reservations were made by Constance Anderson, Theta Sigma Phi president. Tickets are necessary for admittance to the HUB ballroom.

Mrs. Crist will speak on "Personalities Behind the News." She has been with the Herald Tribune for 11 years.

She worked on the Tribune's Sunday feature page for four years before going to the city staff for general assignment.

Has Had Articles Published

Mrs. Crist has written articles for Collier's, Better Homes and Gardens, Redbook, Reader's Digest, and other publications.

A graduate of Hunter College, Mrs. Crist completed work for her master's degree at Columbia University School of Journalism. She also studied at the State College of Washington.

Mrs. Crist has been awarded the Education Writers Association award, the Polk Award for education reporting, the domestic reporting award from the Newspaper Women's Club of New York, and the Heywood Brown citation, and the Newspaper Guild Page One citation for reporting.

Three Seniors to Be Honored

Three senior women will be honored after the dinner tonight with the Cap, Quill, and Matrix awards. Cap Girl and Matrix Girl are chosen by members of Theta Sigma Phi. Cap Girl is an award recognizing the woman participating in the most varied activities and who is or has been a hat society member. Matrix Girl is awarded to the coed who has given the most service to the University without recognition from a hat society.

Quill Girl was elected by women students during the Women's Student Government Association elections. The winner will be announced at the banquet.

Candidates Named For Open Posts In Rec Society

Twelve students have been nominated for offices in the Recreation Society.

Nominated for president Wednesday night were Edward Sheltenberger, Ralph Cryder, and John Bischoff.

Vice presidential nominees are Jack Hartman, Jack Giles, and Dion Weissend.

Patricia Peters, Mary Conrad, and Marilyn Doan were nominated for secretary.

Nominated for treasurer were Helen Cummings, and Rodney Mott.

Williard Sutherland, personnel director of the National Recreation Association, will speak at the society's student-alumni May 2 in dining room A of the Hetzel Union Building. The banquet will cost $2.50 a person.

The group is now negotiating for a cabin at Raystown Lake area as a weekend camping spot. The lake is 40 miles from the University.

Counselor Jobs Open In Dorms

Students interested in applying for resident counselorships in the men's dormitories next year should obtain application forms at the dean of men's office, 119 Old Main.

While the majority of counselors are graduate students, the dean of men's office is encouraging undergraduates of fourth semester standing or higher to apply.

Resident counselors receive room and board. Each counselor is responsible for 60 to 100 students, depending upon the dormitory unit.

Duties of the job include the counseling of individual students, assisting in the establishment of a unit government, and supervising of group activities. He is charged by the University with establishing standards of conduct in the dormitory that are favorable to group stability and moral, a dean of men's office spokesman said.

Previous experience in personnel work or group supervision, although not required, is considered desirable by the dean of men's office.

2 Seniors' Trial Set for Monday In County Court

The two seniors in forestry arrested for an April 5 burglary in Beaver Field are scheduled to appear at 10 a.m. Monday in Centre County Court before Judge Ivan Walker.

Grey Oliver of Concordville, charged with burglary and assault and battery, and Robert Wenner of Allentown, charged with burglary, were arrested by State Police Thursday.

State Police said the students broke into the training room under the stands at Beaver Field and stole fly-tying equipment.

Campus Patrolman Fred N. Hite saw the students as they were leaving the room by a window. Police said when Hite stopped the two, Oliver swung around and hit the patrolman in the face. It was reported that he suffered cuts of the lip and cheek and that a partial plate was broken.

Oliver and Wenner fled from the scene. Wenner carried two pillow cases of fly-tying articles to the rear of a house on Ridge avenue, police said. The articles were recovered.

State Police and Campus Patrol made the arrest after interviewing members of a physical education fly-tying class held in the room. Oliver is enrolled in the course and failed to appear for the interviews.

'Hatters' Blanks Available at HUB

Groups who plan to apply for the Mad Hatter's Parade and who have received only one application in the mail should pick up an additional application form at the Hetzel Union desk.

Application forms are due at 5 p.m. Tuesday at the HUB desk, according to Richard Seng, Spring Week chairman.

Don J. Bostock, chairman for the He-Man Contest, said he has received very few donations for the Olympic Fund. Bostock requested groups donate to the fund when they apply for the He-Man Contest.

'Engineer' Staff Names Graybash, Hansom as Editors

Peter Graybash and Herbert Hansom have been announced as co-editors of the Penn State Engineer by the retiring senior board.

Other promotions are Charles Cairns, business manager; Gilbert Freedman, managing editor; Forney Miller, promotions manager; Ronald Romesburg and John Yorkovich, co-circulation managers.

James Henry, national advertising manager; Martin Harris, local advertising manager; George Seiders, business accountant; Jean Rowland and Richard Coates, co-feature editors; Sandra Gusky, illustration editor; Edward Klevans, office manager.

The new senior board will work with the old staff for the May issue of the Engineer and will take over full responsibility in the fall.

The next issue of the Engineer will go on sale Tuesday.

Measles Cases Increase to Nine

Nine students are confined to Grange Dormitory with German, or three-day, measles, according to the University Infirmary authorities.

Two new cases were admitted yesterday.

Dr. Herbert Glenn, director of the University hospital, said the only way the hospital can diagnose the disease is by the rash.

He said there are probably many students who have the measles but do not know it. About 60 per cent of persons susceptible to measles do not get a rash, he said.
