Phi Gamma Delta was awarded the Outstanding Fraternity Award last night at the Interfraternity Council-Panhellenic Council banquet in the Nittany Lion Inn.

The Phi Gams broke a three-year streak of wins for Beta Theta Pi, who this year finished fifth. Phi Gam finished second to Beta Theta Pi last year.

After Phi Gamma Delta came Beta Sigma Rho, Alpha Zeta, and Tau Kappa Epsilon in that order. Alpha Zeta and Beta Sigma Rho were in the top six last year.

This year only the top five houses were announced. The point totals were not released. The award is based on fraternity activities throughout the year rated on a point basis. The chairman of the Evaluation Committee was Richard Shillinger, Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Came from 50th to 13th

For coming from 50th to 13th place in the fraternity scholastic standings, Sigma Alpha Mu was awarded the Sigma Chi trophy for academic improvement. The trophy is given annually by the Sigma Chi foundation.

Two other fraternities won scholarship awards, also. Alpha Zeta won the title in the social-professional division. In the general fraternity division, Alpha Epsilon Pi won the scholarship award.

This year the distinction was made among fraternities. A social-professional fraternity is one in which 50 per cent of the members are enrolled in one College.

Hanson Cites Loss Of Family Unity

The Rev. Henry W. A. Hanson, retired president of Gettysburg College, said last night that this country's fundamental trouble today is that "we have lost love from the American home."

Speaking to approximately 250 persons at the Interfraternity Council-Panhellenic Council banquet in the Nittany Lion Inn, Rev. Hanson said that this love is the one thing which is needed to make families able to stand up to modern-day pressures.

Citing a main reason for this fault, he said that too many people today are taking up their time being pessimists and worrying about the advances of Communism instead of trying to get along with their neighbors.

"Nations no longer have walls," he said. "Today they are very close together, a fact which calls for an adaptability which will be more than just a few years in coming."

Just as 100 years ago, today has its pessimists who say that this is a world of fear and bewilderment in which there is no room for honesty or dreams, he said.

Another trouble with the world today is that it is "troubled with anemia," he said. Explaining this statement, Rev. Hanson said that today's world leaders are not able to stand up for their convictions. In connection with this, he added that no one knows where they will be able to find leaders today. "They are all around—in back alleys as well as in mansions," he said.

Rev. Hanson gave what he considered the three main requirements which young people today need to cope with the world and its many problems. The first is physical mastery. A young person must be able physically to take the hard knocks which await him in the future and get up to take more, Rev. Hanson said.

The second requisite is intellectual ability. Rev. Hanson said (Continued on page seven)

TKE, Theta Repeat Greek Sing Honors

Tau Kappa Epsilon and Kappa Alpha Theta repeated as winners in the Interfraternity Council-Panhellenic Council Sing and received permanent possession of the Sing trophy last night at the IFC-Panhel banquet in the Nittany Lion Inn.

The finals of the Sing were held Sunday night in Schwab but the winners were not announced until last night.

For Tau Kappa Epsilon, directed by Charles Springman, it was the sixth straight title. The first win in this streak came in 1951. The Tekes sang the "Teke Toast" with which they have won their six straight titles.

The Thetas, directed by Dixie Waring, captured their third title in a row. They used "Thetas Everywhere" for all three wins.

None of the other groups were finalists last year. Phi Gamma Delta, directed by Charles Henry and Phi Kappa Psi, directed by Phillip Beard, tied for second place behind the Tekes. The other fraternity finalist was Phi Mu Delta, directed by Gerald Hodge.

Second place among the sororities went to Gamma Phi Beta, directed by Jane Patton. Zeta Tau Alpha, directed by Patricia Kelly, and Delta Delta Delta, directed by Shirley Quann, were the other sorority finalists.

Under a rule established two years ago the fraternity or sorority that wins the Sing trophy three years running gains permanent possession of the trophy. Second place finishers receive permanent plaques.

The fraternities were required to sing "Blue and White" and the sororities were required to sing "Halls of Ivy" in addition to a song of their choice.

Last year Chi Phi and Alpha Chi Omega were second place finishers.
