

Trackmen Leave for Ohio Relays

A 12-man Nittany track team left State College at 7:30 a.m. today en route to Pittsburgh where it will board a plane and fly to Columbus, Ohio, for tomorrow's Ohio State Relays.

The Nittany entries will concentrate efforts on the relay events since there is no team score tabulated in the relay carnival. Each event is a championship in itself.

Rod Perry, Jim Norton, Bruce Austin, and Art Pollard are slated to do the Nittany 440 and 880 relay running. Perry is also entered in the 120-yard high hurdles.

Shuttle Hurdles Entry

Gary Seybert, Ogier Norris, Dick Winston, and Perry were named as the shuttle hurdles relay contingent with Bob Findley available if necessary.

Norris will also do the Lion pole vaulting while Findley handles the high jumping assignment. Winston is scheduled to join Perry in the 120-highs and also be the lone Penn State entry in the broad jump.

Veteran Doug Moorhead and freshman Ed Moran are listed as the Lions' entry in the mile run. Moorhead will also enter the 1 1/2-mile run while Moran will compete in the 1000-yard run.

Blockson, Tullar in Shot

Charlie Blockson and John Tullar round out the Lion traveling team, competing in the discus and the shot put.

Coach Chick Werner was forced to forget the distance relays due to the lack of seasoned personnel. Moorhead, Don Woodrow, and Don Mowry are the squad's only seasoned distance men; Mowry, however, is on the injured list with a sore instep.

Open Events on Card

Individual open events are included on the carnival program along with the relay competition. Any registered AAU athlete may enter the open events, servicemen included.

The relay competition is divided into two classes—university and college. Big Ten schools such as Indiana, Purdue, Ohio State, Michigan, and Michigan State are entered along with independents Pittsburgh, Notre Dame and Penn State.

College entries include Baldwin Wallace, Bowling Green, Michigan State Normal, Butler, Wayne, Miami of Ohio, and Wilmington.

Jesse Arnelle, erstwhile Penn State star, is playing for Fort Wayne in the National Professional Basketball League.

Quakers Host Baseballers

Penn State's baseball team, having succeeded in beating its strongest opponents on the schedule during its recent home stand, seek win number six against the University of Pennsylvania tomorrow at Philadelphia.

The Lions, who will be playing their first game away from home, have a 5-1 record and have been utilizing the fine pitching of Ed Drapcho and Stan Larimer to notch the wins.

Penn, experiencing rough going in the first part of its schedule, has a 2-5 card. In the first five games the Red and Blue defeated Rutgers of South Jersey and Muhlenberg, while losing to Muhlenberg in the second game of a doubleheader and dropping decisions to Rutgers, and Yale. Last weekend it lost to Albright and Lehigh.

Top hitters for Penn this season have been centerfielder, Jay

Yocum; captain Jim Conlin, right-fielder; and Rich Ross, third-baseman.

Coach John McCloskey's probable starting lineup will have Mel Seki leading off and playing second base, Ross will bat second, Alex DeLucia will play first base and bat fourth, Ed Vickers will be in left field and bat fifth, Conlin in sixth in the order, Vince Kelly is seventh and will cover shortstop, and Bernie Rohrbacher will catch and bat eighth.

Either Tom Conlin or Bill Assiff will pitch against the Lions.

Penn State will return home after the game and will resume its road trip Wednesday when it meets Army at West Point.

For the first time since 1950, Penn State's football captaincy will be entrusted to a single player (Sam Valentine) in 1956.
