

UN Chief Shows Mid-East Optimism

JERUSALEM, April 20 (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold wound up the second week of his Middle East peace mission today with the declaration "I am sure we are on the right road." "Personally I don't see any reason why we should lose it," the UN secretary general told newsmen after completing four days of talks with Israeli officials in Jerusalem.

Against a background of new friction on the Jordan-Israeli frontier, Hammarskjold took a plane for his temporary headquarters in Beirut, Lebanon.

Two More Stops Planned

With conferences in Egypt and Israel out of the way, he expects to visit Jordan and Syria next week. He opened the mission with his flight from New York April 6 under Security Council orders to seek an easing of tension.

"This particular job is very much like attempting to build an arch," he said in a statement at Lydda airport. "I feel the second stone put into the building here in Israel is as good as the first one in Cairo. But an arch is not stable until all stones are in place."

To Talk With Officials

Tomorrow he will hold peace talks with Lebanese officials. This was expected to be a formality. Premier Abdullah Al Yafit and Foreign Minister Salim Lahhoud already have told Hammarskjold they are "ready to accept all proposals to reduce tension in the Middle East."

Syrian officials reached Beirut simultaneously with Hammarskjold for talks with the Lebanese on his peace mission. They included Syrian Premier Said Ghazzi and Salah Harazi, secretary general of the foreign office.

The Egyptian-Israeli cease-fire agreement, ordered effective Wednesday night, is the mission's biggest announced accomplishment.

Richards To Manage Collegian

David Richards, junior in mechanical engineering from Selinsgrove, has been named next year's business manager of The Daily Collegian, replacing retiring business manager Roger Vogelsinger.

Replacing this year's assistant business managers, Dorothea Kodyls and John Kmetz, is Deanna Soltis, junior in business administration from Hazleton.

Arnold Hoffman, senior in journalism from Philadelphia, will replace Gerald Fried as local advertising manager while Estelle Caplan, national advertising manager, will be succeeded by Janice Anderson, junior in journalism from Levittown.

Co-Circulation Managers

Co-circulation managers for next year will be Ann Caton, junior in home economics from Uniontown, and David Posca, junior in forestry from Shamokin. They will replace Christine Kauffman and Israel Schwab.

Other promotions to the business staff's senior board include Jo Fulton, junior in education from Apollo, as personnel manager replacing Constance Anderson nad Alleta Manbeck. Barbara Shipman, junior in home economics from Shamokin, has been named next year's classified advertising manager replacing Peggy Davis.

Secretary, Office Manager

Marion Overpeck, junior in business administration from Allentown, will replace Lillian Melko as secretary. Harry Yaverbaum, junior in business administration from Harrisburg, will succeed Ann Keesey as office manager.

Jane Groff, junior in business administration from Rochester, N.Y., will be in charge of research and records next year replacing Virginia Latshaw.

Two Librarians From University Employed at AEC

Two former University librarians have positions at the Atomic Energy Commission Library in Oak Ridge, Tenn.

John M. Bobb, formerly librarian for the College of Engineering, left the University on April 1 to take the position of assistant librarian at the AEC Library.

The present AEC librarian, Ray Dickenson, was librarian for the College of Chemistry and Physics and tennis coach at the University.

Bobb's successor will be Elizabeth Frear. Miss Frear's grandfather is Dr. William Frear, for whom Frear Laboratory is named.

Miss Frear will assume her duties on May 1. She had formerly been a librarian at the University of Wisconsin and Columbia University.

Fraternity Affairs Office

Second semester fraternity pledges interested in working in the Fraternity Affairs office should submit applications by next Friday in 203 Hetzel Union.

Seven HiFi Sets Installed in HUB Listening Booths

Seven high fidelity record players have been installed in the Hetzel Union listening room to replace the old ones which were worn out, according to William F. Fuller, assistant to George L. Donovan, director of associated student activities.

They were installed by Francis H. Yonker, assistant in engineering research, who selected the best parts from several companies and built the sets himself.

Fuller said that this type of set is the best for public use.

"The students have taken good care of the sets and we hope they will continue to do so," he said.

Fuller and Donovan both said that they were amazed at the number of students who use the players.

The sets are almost constantly in use.

IFC Officers To Be Installed Monday Night

The three newly-elected officers of the Interfraternity Council will be installed at the Council's meeting Monday night. Daniel Land, president-elect, will replace Robert Bullock; Howard Thompson, vice president-elect, will replace John Russell; and John Valentine, secretary-treasurer elect, will replace William Moyer.

Three appointments are also scheduled on Monday night's agenda. Philip Lang, senior in business administration from Pottstown, will be appointed chairman of the Cultural Committee; Steven Jordan, junior in arts and letters from San Bernardino, Calif., will be appointed Executive Secretary; and Hugh Moore, sophomore in pre-veterinary from Lynchburg, Va. will be appointed IFC Rushing Chairman.

Russell will present a final report on the IFC-Panhel Ball, and reports will be given by the Summer Housing Committee, the Future Housing Committee, and the Cultural Committee.

The Senate Committee on Student Affairs' action to place three fraternities on probation last week will also be discussed.

Cool, Clear Weather Forecast for Today

The weather forecast for today is clear turning to partly cloudy in the afternoon, according to students in the department of meteorology. The expected maximum is in the mid 40's. The predicted low is near 30 degrees.

Yesterday's high was 42 and the low was 32.

28 He-Men to Compete In First Round Events Scheduled for Tomorrow

Twenty-eight students will compete for the title of He-Man at the preliminary tryouts for the He-Man Contest at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at Beaver Field.

Students may enter the contest until noon today at the Hetzel Union desk. No entrance fee is required, but a donation for the Olympic Fund has been requested. Funds were also collected last year for the Olympic Fund.

Entrants will compete in three events tomorrow. They will be the 100-yard dash, the bench press, and a baseball throw for accuracy and distance.

Members of the He-Man committee will judge the preliminary tryouts. Other judges will be selected for the finals to be held at 6:30 p.m. May 2, at Beaver Field. In case of rain the finals will be held in Schwab Auditorium.

To Choose 10 Finalists

Ten competitors for the title will be selected by the committee to participate in the finals. If two men tie for tenth place, 11 will be selected for the finals. Each of the finalists will receive a medal, and the winner will receive a trophy.

The He-Man committee will use a point system for judging the preliminaries. The person that wins each event will receive a number of points equal to the number of persons competing. The points will be graduated down to the last person who will receive one point. The three students who place highest will receive additional bonus points. The first place will receive 50 additional points, second 30, and third 10.

Points for Spring Week

Each group sponsoring one of the finalists will receive eight Spring Week points and the group sponsoring the winner will receive 15 points.

Finalists will be judged on five counts. Three sports events will be included—the bench press, the 220-yard dash, and the running broad jump. In addition to these events, contestants will compete in a physique contest and an original name and costume parade which will precede the finals. Members of the groups sponsoring the finalist may work with the contestants in the parade.

Participants Listed

Students who will compete in tomorrow's preliminaries are Bruce Austin, Acacia; Thomas Dye, Alpha Chi Rho; Richard Wolford, Alpha Sigma Phi; David Allen, Alpha Gamma Rho; Donald Snyder, Alpha Zeta; Ronald Markiewicz, Beta Sigma Rho; Al-

361 Pledge Blood to Red Cross

Three-hundred and sixty-one students have pledged donations to the Red Cross blood drive to be held in the Hetzel Union card room from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

The annual spring blood drive is the second of this school year. The first drive was in November.

Red Cross workers from Johnstown will be on campus with a blood mobile. University doctors will assist.

Donors Must Pass Test

One-hundred eighty-eight students signed up to donate blood on Tuesday and 148 are scheduled for Wednesday. Twenty-five others have also signed up.

Students over 21 who pass the health examination and those under 21 with parental approval, may donate blood between the hours that the Red Cross workers are in the HUB.

Goal Is 500 Pints

A goal of 500 pints of blood is set for the two-day drive.

The last blood drive in November resulted in 686 donors. The drive was considered a huge success by Red Cross workers. In April of '55, 439 students donated blood.

University to Host Press Conference For High Schools

Approximately 500 high school students and their faculty advisors are expected to attend the annual School of Journalism High School Press Conference, which will be held next Saturday at the University.

Douglas Edwards, CBS radio and television news reporter, will be the main speaker at the convocation. He was recently awarded the George Foster Peabody citation for the best television news show during 1955.

Edwards will speak on "Telescoping the News" at the opening conference program to be held in Schwab Auditorium.

Appearing in the same program will be Lawrence E. Dennis, University provost and former editorial writer for the Des Moines Register and Tribune, who will discuss "Your Future in Journalism."

The other speaker will be Hy Yapple, executive women's page editor of the Erie Dispatch, who will talk on "A Woman Journalist's Experiences."

One Measles Case Admitted to Infirmary

One new case of German, or three-day, measles was admitted to the University Infirmary yesterday.

The temporary facilities are still set up in Grange dormitory but at present they are not in use, an Infirmary official reported.

BX to Close Half-day

The Book Exchange in the Hetzel Union building will be closed Monday morning because inventory will be taken. It will open at 12:30 p.m. Monday.

Stock Judging Set for Today

A livestock judging contest will be held today by the Block and Bridle Club as part of the Little International Livestock Show, which will take place next Saturday.

Registration for today's contest will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the Pavilion.

Amateur and professional judging divisions will be in the beef, cattle, swine, and sheep classes. Awards will be given at the banquet next week.

John Sink, senior in animal husbandry from Homer City, is general manager of the Little International.

Fifteen Students Aid CAP In Search for Missing Plane

Fifteen student members led by Elmer Wareham, University squadron commander, are aiding the Civil Air Patrol in a search for a plane reported missing since Sunday.

The plane, a single-engine Cessna, was reported missing at 9:20 a.m. Sunday en route from Detroit to Bradford. On board were a Broadway producer and his pregnant wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pollock.

Pennsylvania Civil Air Patrol authorities began the search Sunday but Group 1300 of State College, commanded by Wayne Showers of 178 W. Hamilton ave., was not called in until Wednesday. Group 1300 is comprised of two squadrons in State College, one in the borough and one on campus.

Wareham reported a search by his squadron of the area north of Clearfield made yesterday in "very isolated and desolate spots" revealed nothing.

One Report Received

No authentic reports have been received but CAP received one account from a fisherman who reported sighting a single-engine plane Sunday morning near the vicinity of the Erie Airport around 9 a.m. Wareham said at that time the plane had approximately three hours of gasoline remaining.

Both squadrons will resume searching today operating from Black Moshannon Airport. The search originated from the Erie Airport and local squadrons flew from that point Wednesday and Thursday.

Ohio and New York CAP units have joined state searchers. Wareham said searchers have been hampered by poor flying weather.

Private helicopters hired by relatives of the missing woman have joined the search.

Student Members Named

Aiding the CAP in the 40-odd jobs necessary to conduct a search are: Charles Weidman, Roy Walker, Thomas Wellington, George Black, Clifton Gleason, Arthur Tennyson, Allen Quoons, and Samuel Phillips.

Also included are Doris Hicks, the only woman student participating in the search, Frank Krieger, David Note, Karl Striedieck, Austin Nester, Richard Cost, and John Buchanan.

Two secretaries in the college of education, Shirley Krumrine, and Patricia Sweeney, are also helping the CAP.

State College squadrons have used three single-engine planes in the search. A fourth plane will be flown from Pittsburgh today by Buchanan and Cost to join the search.
