

Tests Offered Future Frosh

High school students who will take part in the counseling program administered by the Student Advisory Service this summer will have more time to acquaint themselves with the University in the fall, Ray V. Watkins, scheduling officer, said yesterday.

Under the optional program which is new this year, students who will enter the University in the fall can take tests normally administered during Orientation Week. The tests will be administered in 20 Pennsylvania cities and will cost $17.50.

Airline Service To East, West To Be Continued

Air transportation from the State College area to Cleveland and Philadelphia will be continued for at least one more year.

The Civil Aeronautics Board yesterday extended for one year the experiment of Allegheny Airlines in developing satisfactory east-west service for cities on its route in the state, according to the Associated Press.

Cities Keep Service
The extension of the service will mean continued service for Oil City, Franklin, Clearfield, Philipsburg, DuBois, and Bellefonte, besides State College and University Park.

A spokesman for the airline said last night that the service to these two points has not been so great as it was expected when it was started last April, but that the service was sufficiently encouraging to merit continuation for at least another year.

Pending Next April
Again next April the airline will have to apply to the board if the experimental service is to be extended or put on a full-time basis.

The spokesman, stationed at Black Moshannon Airport at Philipsburg, said about 5 per cent of the bookings on the run last year were from University students.

WRA Aquacade To Close Tonight

The final performance of the Women's Recreation Association Synchronized Swimming Club's annual aquacade will be presented at 8 tonight in the White Hall pool.

Students may obtain complimentary tickets from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today in the main office at White Hall.

New York City is the theme of this year's show. The acts are entitled Autumn, Chinatown Fantasy, Tea Dance at the Savoy, Schwartz's Toy Window, Central Park, The Rivers, Nightclub, Impressions at the Museum, Streets at Night, and United Nations.

Exhibitions On Driving To Be Held

Two demonstrations, one in tractor and the other in automobile driving, will be given as a part of the annual Farm Safety Institute Wednesday.

The institute will be sponsored by the Pennsylvania Rural Safety Council, the University, and the Farm and Home Safety Division of the State Department of Public Instruction.

The demonstrations, to be held this year for the first time, will take place on the road extension of E. Park avenue which runs behind the beef barns. The program will be open to the public.

Special Tractor to Be Used
For the tractor demonstration a specially equipped vehicle will be used. It is owned by the Pennsylvania Farm Equipment Dealers' Association.

A man-sized dummy will be placed in the driver's seat, and the tractor will be driven by remote control. It will be upset in all possible ways in order to show what would happen to the driver in an accident.

The automobile demonstration will show driver reaction and stopping times. A specially equipped car, provided by the Nationwide Insurance Co., will be used.

3 to Participate
Three persons, an adult woman, an adult man, and a teenager, will participate in the demonstration. The afternoon's program will include an address by Dr. William L. Henning, state Secretary of Agriculture.

Co-chairmen for the institute are Frank Anthony, instructor of agricultural education, and Ralph E. Patterson, head of the agricultural engineering extension.

LaVie Senior Board Meeting
The senior board of LaVie will meet at 6:30 tonight in 212 Hetzel Union.

Charlie Mingus Jazz Quintet To Give 2 Concerts Tonight

Charlie Mingus and the Jazz Workshop Quintet with vocalist Chris Connor will present two concerts at 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. tonight in Schwab Auditorium.

Reserved seat tickets are available at the Hetzel Union desk for $1.50. The concert will be sponsored by the Jazz Club.

In the 1956 poll results of the outstanding musician on each instrument, Mingus with his string bass was placed second by Metronome and third by Downbeat, music magazines.

Vocalist Sang with Kenton
Miss Connor was formerly with the Stan Kenton band, and at that time replaced June Christy. She is no longer affiliated with a band, and has been termed the vocalist "with the urgent style."

Theodore Richards, jazz club adviser, said that "this concert will probably have more intellectual appeal than any other because Mingus and Miss Connor both work from an exploratory point of view. They experiment to see what can be developed tomorrow that wasn't today."

Mingus has played with the bands of Louis Armstrong, Lionel Hampton, Duke Ellington, Red Norvo, Charlie Parker, Stan Getz, Bud Powell and Hazel Scott.

Technique Described
Part of the Mingus technique, according to Vogue, fashion magazine, depends on his revision of old fingering systems, a change comparable to Andre Segovia's broadening of the guitar's scope.

Among Mingus' numbers are "Jump, Monk," a theme dedicated to Thelonious Monk; "All the Things in C Sharp" and played with "All the Things You Are" against the theme; and "Lady Bird," described as "a study in dynamics for the average public."

PKPhi, Nittany To Meet Tonight In Radio Quiz

Pi Kappa Phi fraternity will compete against Nittany dormitories in a campus quiz over station WDFM's Hubzapoppin', from 7:30 to 8 tonight in the Hetzel Union assembly room.

The fraternity contestants will be William Pantle, Charles Schooley, and Vincent Carocci. On the Nittany team will be Paul Balsearak, William Hansen, and Allen Morget.

The Campuseers, playing dance music and jazz in a commercial style, will provide musical entertainment. The group includes Lynn Christy, drums; Jack Davis, clarinet; Leonard Mansell, bass; Jean Griffith, piano; and Nelson Griffith, trumpet.

Members of the audience will be interviewed by the master of ceremonies.

The program will be broadcast over WMAJ as well as WDFM. It is open to the public and admission is free.

Do In Spare Time
In answer to what the students who take the program will do with spare time during Orientation Week, Watkins said there will be more appointments with advisers to arrange schedules. In addition, he said that more campus trips will be arranged and more time will be given the students so they may orient themselves. Most students can acquaint themselves with the University if they are given the time to do so, he said.

Most Advisory Sessions
The increased number of advisory sessions will tie in with the counseling program, Watkins said. The aim of the program is to help eliminate student failures by correcting deficiencies before the students get to the University.

The program will also try to eliminate problems arising from students enrolling in curriculums in which they are not interested.

By scheduling more meetings with an adviser, Watkins said, a student can help avoid enrolling in courses which will do him no good.

The counseling program will begin May 21 and continue Mondays and Fridays until August 31.

Five Leonides Assume Posts

Leonides has installed its five newly-elected officers.

The new slate of officers was sworn in by Judith Pendleton, senior in physical education from Bryn Athyn and retiring president, at a meeting on Monday.
