

McCracken Talks At NSA Meet

The role that the National Student Association can play on campus is to influence and help students to learn to value freedom, not fear it, Charles McCracken, dean of men of Allegheny College, said last night.

Speaking at the opening session of the three-day Pennsylvania-West Virginia NSA regional assembly, McCracken said that "students should not get bogged down in techniques but need spiritual qualities that value the individual."

Stevenson Links Prexy With Peron

President Milton S. Eisenhower has become the target of Democratic presidential aspirant Adlai E. Stevenson's criticism for an alleged friendship with Juan Peron, deposed Argentine dictator.

Speaking in Miami Thursday night, Stevenson charged that United States relations with Latin American countries had deteriorated considerably during the Eisenhower administration and laid much of the blame to Penn State's president.

Prexy Hit on 3 Counts
Stevenson criticized Dr. Eisenhower on three counts:

1) That his "close friendship" with the former dictator was responsible for alleged unpopularity of the U.S. in Argentina.

2) That he yielded to Peron's request to maintain a U.S. ambassador in Argentina whose transfer to another post had already been announced.

3) That he persuaded Peron to allow the U.S. to lend Argentina money after Peron had declared that "he would cut off both his arms rather than accept a loan from the United States."

Stevenson Wrongly Informed
When informed of Stevenson's statements yesterday, Dr. Eisenhower said:

"Mr. Stevenson has been incorrectly informed. When I visited Argentina three years ago, loans were not once mentioned either by Argentines or me. The only specific problem discussed during my two-day visit was the restoration of freedom to the United States press associations—and this was successfully resolved."

Harshbarger Is Chapel Speaker

The Rev. Dr. Luther H. Harshbarger, University chaplain and coordinator of religious affairs, will speak at chapel services at 10:55 a.m. tomorrow in Schwab auditorium.

His subject will be: "Invitation to Church."

For the anthem, the combined Chapel Choir and the Auxiliary Choir will sing "Call to Remembrance" by Farrant.

George E. Ceiga, University organist, will play as the prelude Allegro Appassionato—Sonata Five by Guilman; and as the postlude, Chorale and Fugue—Sonata Five, also by Guilman.

"I expect NSA," he continued, "to help clarify and maintain balance and coordination of effort among faculty, students, and administration."

He emphasized that the major contribution of NSA is the quest for a newer form of education. One is needed, he said, in which the "student is a more active participant than at present, and one that is more suited to modern life than the present antiquated system."

McCracken, who is a member of the NSA National Advisory Board, was introduced by James Pomroy of Allegheny College. Pomroy is the regional director of NSA.

Bahrenburg Welcomes Group
Robert Bahrenburg, All-University president, opened the assembly by welcoming the 130 delegates to the University. The students represent 40 colleges and universities in the area.

Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs, told the group of two major achievements of University students here. The Hetzel Union Building, he said, was built on "student initiative," and encampment, which meets to work out problems facing the school for the coming year, is a faculty-student conference.

Barbara Hendel, junior in medical technology from Hollidaysburg, is assembly coordinator.

Program to Continue
The events will continue tomorrow at 9 a.m. with an address by Stephen H. Fuller, assistant professor of Business Administration at Harvard University. He will discuss the why of student leadership in society.

Fuller received a degree at Ohio University and a degree of Doctor of Commercial Science at Harvard Business School.

He is also an industrial consultant, labor arbitrator, and the co-author of a textbook.

Workshops Scheduled
After Fuller's talk, workshops will be held on student leadership, government, student opinion and leadership training, group dynamics, and parliamentary procedure.

The banquet will take place at 6 tonight in the HUB dining rooms.

The final session of the assembly will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Hetzel Union assembly room. It will consist of a business meeting with elections, regional dues changes and officers reports.

Service Applications

The Selective Service College Qualification Test will be given from 8 a.m. to noon May 17 in 11 Forestry.

Students may obtain applications from Mrs. Chase, Dean of Men's Office, or from their local draft board.

Prexy to Crown Miss Penn State

President Milton S. Eisenhower will crown Miss Penn State at the Spring Week coronation at 7 p.m. Monday in Recreation Hall.

He will be assisted by Pam Ulrich, Miss Pennsylvania, who will be one of the eight judges for the ceremonies.

The five finalists for Miss Penn State and their sponsors are Anne Cain, junior in applied arts from Unionville, Chi. Phi; Charlotte Fink, senior in secondary education from Philadelphia, Delta Gamma and Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Ruth Kronenwetter, senior in physical education from Emporium, Delta Chi; Jean McMahon, junior in physical education from Williamsport, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Sigma Phi; and Joan Ziegler, senior in elementary education from Pittsburgh, Alpha Rho Chi.

Other Judges to Be

Other judges will be Dr. Grace M. Henderson, dean of the College of Home Economics; Dr. Ben Euwema, dean of the College of Liberal Arts; Dr. Lyman E. Jackson, dean of the College of Agriculture; Dr. Ossian R. MacKenzie, dean of the College of Business Administration; Dr. Elbert F. Osborn, dean of the College of Mineral Industries; Ernest B. McCoy, dean of the College of Physical Education and Athletics; and Dr. Clarence I. Noll, assistant dean of the College of Chemistry and Physics.

Miss Penn State will receive numerous gifts from town merchants as well as the Spring Week trophy for her title. Her sponsor will receive 15 Spring Week points toward the overall trophy.

Finalists to Receive Points
Finalists will receive eight Spring Week points for their sponsors toward the overall trophy. Trophies will be presented Thursday night after the Donkey Basketball game.

The Student-Faculty Variety Show with ten acts will be presented Monday night in conjunction with the coronation.

Admission to the balcony is free, and tickets for seats on the floor will be sold at the door.

'Miss America' Blanks Available for Coeds

Entry blanks for the Miss America contest, open to University coeds, and sponsored by the Bellefonte Junior Chamber of Commerce have been distributed to State College business establishments.

Blanks may also be obtained by writing to Miss America Contest, 105 E. High street, Bellefonte.

Groups to Start Work on Booths

Thirty-nine groups will start construction on carnival booths at 1 p.m. Monday at the south-east corner of the golf course.

Groups may continue construction Monday and Tuesday until the time the carnival opens at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

All booth areas will be marked off in line. Signs will indicate to which group the area belongs. Maps with the area labeled will also be available Monday at the Carnival grounds.

Groups may not spend over $50 for construction of the booth according to Daniel VanDuyne, carnival chairman. He said that each organization should be able to prove that it did not spend over this amount if it is questioned.

VanDuyne clarified group as meaning the unit in which the organizations are participating in the carnival.

Electricity Available

Two electric sockets will be available for each booth to use for lighting or radios. Water taps will also be available for use, however, VanDuyne said these will be mostly needed by the food concessions.

He said that $400 was spent by the Spring Week committee this year for setting up the poles and wires for electricity. This compares with $50 spent last year for this purpose by the committee.

Groups Should Keep Sod

VanDuyne said that groups who wish to dig up earth to put stumps in the ground should keep the sod and return it to the hole when the booth is taken down.

A loudspeaker system will be used at the carnival. The office, to the left of the main entrance will serve as an information booth and central point for carnival checkers.

VanDuyne reported that several students have asked him about canvasses or other material from the University. He said that the University will not supply any materials for participating groups.

Clear Area by Midnight

The carnival will be held from 6:30 to 11 p.m. Tuesday. After the carnival is over groups will have until midnight to take down their booths and clean up their area. Each group may submit a list of six women who are working with it to the Dean of Women.

Daylight Time Returns Sunday; To Rob an Hour

Ahead or behind? Once again students face the annual clock-changing problem of converting from standard to daylight saving time, as the "long day" will officially go into effect at 2 a.m. tomorrow.

It has been suggested that one sure way not to get behind the times is to set the clock one hour ahead.

The time change in no way refers to the Dean of Women's announcement of special weekend hours for coeds. Two o'clock permissions will only be given next Friday night.

Perhaps the solution lies in going to bed one hour earlier so as not to miss that extra hour one would get by setting his clock ahead one hour.

Clear?

Chest X-Rays Begin Monday

Free chest x-rays will be available to University students, staff members, and State College residents Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at the mobile unit in front of the University hospital, Pollock and Shortlidge roads. Examination hours will be from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., and from 2 to 6 p.m. No appointments are necessary.

University students or borough residents employed in the handling of food are required to get up-to-date x-rays.

Parade Opens Livestock Show

Participants in the annual livestock parade marched at 6 p.m. yesterday to advertise the Little International Livestock Exposition being held today in the pavilion on Ag Hill.

Led by the 80-piece State College High School Band, the parade included several pony hitches, a tractor driven float with sheep, swine, and a Jersey calf, and farm horses.

The Menzie Dairy Belgian six-horse hitch featured a caliope on top of a carriage drawn by the horses.

The exposition, sponsored by the Block and Bridle Club, has been dedicated to Miss Dorothy Bowmaster, secretary in the Animal Husbandry office.

Citation to Be Presented

A special citation will be awarded to William B. Connell, who retired in 1951 as head of livestock extension. Since his retirement he has continued to live in State College, and has been secretary-fieldman for the Pennsylvania Shorthorn Breeders Association.

Connell was also honored at the 1951 Little International, when the show was dedicated to him. He and Miss Bowmaster will be honor guests at an awards banquet to be held at 6:30 tonight at the Lutheran Student Center.

Banquet to Include Presentation

The banquet will include the presentation of awards to the winners of each division in showmanship and fitting, comments by the show judges, and the presentation of keys to the members of this year's livestock and meats judging teams.

Approximately 100 head of purebred beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses from the University barns will be shown at the exhibition from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today.

Special features which have been added to the show are a sheep shearing demonstration, sheep dog demonstration, pig derby, meat raffle, and the horse and pony hitches.
