

Customs Board Motion Defeated by Cabinet

A motion to eliminate hat society members from Freshman Customs Board membership was defeated by All-University Cabinet Thursday night.

In making the motion, Katherine Dickson, co-chairman of the customs board, said hat society members did not have

High School Mixers Planned By 2 Colleges

Programs aimed primarily at high school students will be held today by the Colleges of Chemistry and Physics and Mineral Industries.

The College of Mineral Industries will sponsor a counseling day, while the College of Chemistry and Physics will hold an open house and Science Fair.

The Science Fair, in which high school seniors will display their projects, will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in 309 Whitmore Lab. A $1000 scholarship will be awarded for the best exhibit.

Chem Phys Open House
The open house of the College of Chemistry and Physics will be held from 1:30 to 5 p.m. All the laboratories and research facilities will be open at this time.

During the afternoon guided tours will be conducted through the various exhibits and lecture-demonstrations will be presented at intervals.

The counseling day of the College of Mineral Industries will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Mineral Industries and Mineral Science.

MI Counseling
Members of the Mineral Industries Student Council will answer questions about the College and scholarships offered by it.

This counseling day will replace the annual open house sponsored by the College.

Professor Contributes To 'Epic of Man' Series

Dr. Frederick R. Matson, professor of archaeology, has contributed to the fourth article in the Epic of Man series in Life magazine.

Research conducted by Dr. Matson last summer as a member of the Iraq-Jarmo expedition, sponsored by the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago, is among the source material used in the recent issue.

Group Votes To Discard 'Holiday'

The Physical Education Student Council has voted against sponsoring a Sportsman's Holiday for members of its college after hearing the results of a poll in which 50 per cent of its students showed interest in the event.

Elizabeth Elliott, junior in physical education from Chester and newly elected senior class representative, suggested that the event be held next year in the fall when it could be properly publicized and arranged.

Her suggestion will be made to the new officers of the Student Major Club of the college, which will sponsor the event in future years.

Beaver Dam Support

John Zerbe, senior in recreation from State College and representative of the recreation society, made a motion that the council appropriate any surplus funds to the Beaver Dam project. Ann Farrell, junior in physical education from State College and council president, said that extra money from this year would carry over to next year's budget.

She appointed Zerbe; William Spieth, junior in physical education and council treasurer; and Marilyn Doan, sophomore in recreation from State College and representative of the Student Major Club, to draw up a budget for next year.

At the next meeting a vote will be taken to see if the council will give money to the project.

Honorary to Have Banquet

William Seckinger, representative of Phi Epsilon Kappa, men's physical education professional and honorary fraternity, said the group would have a banquet at 6 p.m. May 8 in the Hetzel Union Building. Elections will be held at this time and new initiates installed.

This weekend the group will be host to members of its Buffalo University, Syracuse University, and Ithaca College chapters at the Olympic meet and at an informal breakfast meeting at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Hetzel Union dining room.

time to serve on the board. Hat society members, she said, spend a good portion of Orientation Week counseling freshmen in the early evening. This is the same time customs board meets, she added.

Daniel Land, Interfraternity Council president, and William Clark, All-University vice president, said they felt hat societies took no more time than any other organization. "Besides," Clark said, "if the co-chairman (George Wills) is going to be a member of the board, how can you restrict other students in hat groups from membership?"

Spring Week Report
Cabinet also heard the final Spring Week report from Dick Seng, general chairman of Spring Week; and voted to give a gavel to former All-University president Earl Seely, and service keys to 1955-1956 Cabinet members and members of the Cabinet secretariat.

Emphasizing the carnival rule requiring good taste in booths, Seng told Cabinet members, who will be carnival checkers, to use their own basic morals in judging whether something is in good taste. "If something is objectionable to your own morals," he said, "then it is in bad taste."

Public Address System
Seng added that public address systems could not be used outside booths. However, he said, unpowered megaphones and record players with their own speakers could be used both inside and outside of booths.

The following appointments were made by Cabinet; Marilyn DeMarsh and Sandra Grotzky to Cabinet secretariat; Owen Proctor, Cabinet Radio Committee chairman; Katherine Dickson and George Wills, co-chairman of the Freshman Customs Board; Lawrence Jacobson and Jerome Bogutz, editor and business manager respectively of the Student Handbook.

Correction

Ray T. Fortunato, director of employee relationships, will play the piano and Joseph Bohart, freshman in business administration, will give a vocal solo in the Talent Show at 7 p.m. Monday at Recreation Hall. It was incorrectly reported that Joseph Boehret and Roseanne Fortunato would participate in the show in yesterday's Daily Collegian.

CBS Commentator to Speak At Schoolboy Press Conclave

The Annual State High School Press Convention, sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, will be held today at the University.

The delegates will be welcomed by several speeches, including one by Douglas Edwards of CBS on "Telecasting the News."

Lunch will be served in the Hetzel Union ballroom at noon. Entertainment will be provided by two State College High School musical groups, a dance, and a magic show. Several journalism awards will also be presented at the luncheon.

This afternoon there will be several workshops in the field of journalism conducted by members of the business and editorial staffs of the Daily Collegian and LaVie.

Campus sight-seeing trips have been arranged by members of the business and editorial staffs of the Daily Collegian and LaVie.

Campus sight-seeing trips have been arranged by members of Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalistic fraternity, Alpha Delta Sigma, national professional advertising fraternity, and Sigma Delta Chi.

AZ Captures Blood Trophy

Alpha Zeta fraternity was awarded the Spring Week trophy for donating the most blood to the Red Cross Blood Drive this week, according to Richard Seng, Spring Week chairman.

The trophy was awarded to Alpha Zeta for 100 per cent participation in the drive. Thirty-nine of the 49 members of the house donated blood. The other ten members were counted since they were unable to contribute to the drive. Three were touring with the Glee Club, six are participating in spring sports, and one is student teaching.

The trophy was presented by Phi Delta Theta as part of the national Phi Delta Theta community service program in which 119 chapters will donate their services to community projects.
