Robert Dickle was named champion swine fitter; Richard Dreider, reserve champion fitter; Dennis Bush, champion showman, and Paul Hartley, reserve champion showman.

Wins Pig Derby

Ann Howard, sophomore in animal husbandry from Humelstown, won first place in the pig derby, coed race for pigs. Second place went to Elizabeth Trend, junior in arts and letters from Mohegan Lake, N.Y.

Mary Feldmiller, junior in physical education from Crafton, received third place in the contest. Janet Bellen, sophomore in the division of intermediate registration from Scranton, received fourth place, and Dorothy Mancock received fifth place. Cecile Reapsome, sophomore in home economics from Laysville, won sixth place in the contest.

Dairy Contest Will Be Held

The Annual Dairy Cattle Judging Contest will be held in conjunction with the Dairy Exposition at 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Contestants in advanced and amateur divisions will judge 10 classes of cattle, the advanced being required to give reasons for their decisions.

The Penn State Dairy Science Club, sponsor of the exposition, has voted to dedicate this year's show to Robert H. Rumler, executive secretary of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Mr. Rumler, a former student at the University, will attend the Dairy exposition and the awards banquet on Saturday.

Sixty-five students will show cattle from all five major dairy breeds in fitting and showing competition. Trophies, models, halters, dehorners and cash awards will be given as prizes.

University Budget Still Up in Air

The General Assembly has begun its final push for adjournment with two important bills concerning the University still to be given a final vote.

They are the University's long-overdue budget and the raising of the debt ceiling of General State Authority, borrow-and-build branch of the state government.

Under the proposed bills, the University stands to gain an allotment of about $27 million for general operations and another $12.5 million in construction grants.

'Lady' Tickets on Sale

Tickets for "The Lady's Not for Burning," which will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, are available at the Hetzel Union desk. Price is $1.

Ninth Recreation Conference

The ninth annual Pennsylvania Recreation Conference will be held at the University tomorrow through Saturday.

A Folk Festival will be held Thursday from 8:30 to 11 p.m., which is open to the public. Women may stay until the end of the festival if they obtain excuses from Harold B. White, chairman of the event, before leaving Recreation Hall.

Demonstrations will be given from 9:30 until 10 p.m. The New Bavarian Schuhplattlers and the Interlandia Folk Dancers will represent the University. Local groups participating will be sixth and seventh graders from State College and Bellefonte Schools, and Mrs. Ann Coombs' Girl Scout Troop number 5 of State College. Mrs. R. J. Dittmar of State College will lead the local groups.

Pasvolski To Be Caller

Richard Pasvolski, recreation director from Parsippany, N.Y., will be caller for the festival, and will be accompanied part of the time with a "Pogo-Cello." Stanley Michalski, senior in music education from Nanticoke, and his orchestra will also provide music for the dancers.

The program for the conference, which will run from 10 a.m. Wednesday to 12 a.m. Saturday, will be lead by faculty members and visiting authorities in the recreation field. These people will either be conducting workshops or making speeches throughout the day.

Six Speakers on Program

Six speakers are on the program and will talk either at one of the five general meetings or at a dinner meeting. Professor Joseph Brown of Princeton University will speak on "A New Look at Recreation" Wednesday from 7:45 to 9:30 p.m.

Another phase of the conference, which will be open to the public is a camp-cooking demonstration to be given by Mrs. Marguerite Durvall, extension specialist in child development and family life.

The demonstration will include the cooking of a whole chicken and baking, using a reflector oven. The uses of various types of fires will also be demonstrated.

Throughout the conference, commercial, private, and community groups will provide exhibits on recreation programs, equipment, supplies in the lobby of the Rec Hall.

Constance Anderson, president of Theta Sigma Phi, national women's professional journalism honorary society; Roger Beidler, president of Sigma Delta Chi, national men's professional journalism fraternity, and William Walker, president of Alpha Delta Sigma, professional men's advertising fraternity welcomed the delegates.

Provost Speaks

Following the words of welcome was a talk on "Your Future in Journalism" by Lawrence Dennis, University provost and former editorial writer for the Des Moines Register and Tribune.

Dennis, in his talk, stated that journalism and education for journalism were joint projects. "A journalist needs to know something about everything," he said, "because the profession of journalism must keep the citizens well informed as a guarantee of freedom." Dennis summed up his talk by saying, "You've got to know how to handle tools on the workbench before you can fashion a career in journalism."

Achievement awards were presented to the outstanding high school newspapers at a luncheon in the Hetzel Union ballroom. Guest speaker at the luncheon was Hy Yaple, executive women's editor of the Erie Dispatch, who spoke on "A Woman Journalist's Experience."

After the luncheon, round table discussion groups met to discuss various phases of high school journalism.

Student's Violation Causes Collision

A University student who failed to stop at a stop sign at the borough's "most dangerous intersection" caused $1150 damage when his car collided with another car at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Harold Dean, senior in arts and letters from Uniontown will be charged with failure to yield the right of way for not stopping at the intersection of Pugh street and Beaver avenue.

As Dean's car passed through the intersection, it was struck in the rear by a car driven by Harvey McGeary, of Warriors Mark. McGeary's car jumped the curb, knocking over a sign.

The damage to the front end of the McGeary's car was estimated at $1000, while Dean's auto suffered only about $150 damage. No one was injured.
