

Larimer Whiffs 16 In Lions' 9-1 Win

By FRAN FANUCCI

Stan Larimer, out of action because of an injured hand the last two weeks, broke the Penn State strikeout record when he fanned 16 men in the Lions' 9-1 victory over Bucknell yesterday afternoon at Lewisburg.

Leading the hit parade for the second consecutive game was captain Bob McMullen with three hits in four trips to the plate. Catcher Don Stickler banged a home run and Steve Baidy and Dave Watkins each had two hits. Watkins drove in four runs with his hits.

Larimer was never in trouble as he fanned the side in the sixth and eighth innings and had at least one strikeout in each of the nine innings. He allowed the Bisons only three hits and two walks.

The Bisons destroyed all Lion hopes for a shutout when they scored one run in the ninth inning. Chuck Sneath, with one out, sent a fly deep to center field which dropped in for a triple. He scored on an infield groundout by Larry Dempster a moment later.

The strikeout total is the largest racked up in modern Penn State baseball. Ed Drapcho struck out 13 men in one game last year, which was the highest total for the past decade.

The win brings the Lions' record to 10-2, and Bucknell's to 6-4. It was Larimer's third win of the season as against one defeat.

The Nittanians tallied one run in the first, two in the fourth, one in the sixth, three in the seventh, and two in the ninth. The last two runs were scored on Stickler's home run.

The Lions scored their first run on an error, which put Guy Tirabassi on second, and a double by McMullen. In the fourth, two walks, a sacrifice, and a single by Watkins scored the two runs.

Jim Lockerman led off the sixth with a double and scored minutes later when Steve Baidy drilled a single to left. The Lions came up with their three runs in the seventh on three singles and a walk. McMullen singled, was put on second when Lockerman walked, and scored on Baidy's single. Watkins backed up Baidy, who went to second on the throw, with his second hit, scoring Lockerman and Baidy.

In the ninth Tirabassi popped out. McMullen walked, setting the stage for Stickler's home run.

Bucknell sent two hurlers to the mound. Bob Beck, who started, allowed seven runs on eight hits in 6 2/3 innings, while his replacement, Bill Byrnes, gave up two runs and two hits in 2 1/3 innings. Beck was charged with the loss.

The Lions leave at 4 p.m. today for Washington, D.C., where they meet the University of Georgetown in a doubleheader tomorrow. They return home to play Navy at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Beaver Field.

PENN STATE				BUCKNELL
AB	R	H	E	AB	R	H	E
Schneider, 2b	5	0	0	Hellace, lf	4	0	1
Tirabassi, ss	5	1	0	Whitehead, rf	4	0	0
McMullen, cf	4	2	3	Sneath, cf	4	1	1
Stickler, c	3	2	1	Dempster, 3b	4	0	1
Lock'rm'n, cf	3	3	1	McFarland, c	4	0	0
Baidy, 3b	4	1	2	Brothers, ss	2	0	0
Watkins, lf	4	0	2	Cutler, 2b	2	0	0
Miller, 1b	3	0	0	Peterman, 1b	3	0	0
Larimer, p	4	0	1	Beck, p	2	0	0
				Byrnes, p	1	0	0
Totals	36	9	10	Totals	30	1	3

AICHe to Elect Officers

The American Institute of Chemical Engineers will hold nominations for next year's officers at 7:30 tonight in 119 Osmond.

Clayton B. Hill will speak on "The First Week of Employment in Industry."

Hess Highly Touted in Lacrosse

By LOUIE PRATO

Although he is only in his first year of intercollegiate lacrosse competition, sophomore Bill Hess is being touted as one of the best lacrosse players ever to don a Nittany Lion uniform.

The 20-year-old Hess re-wrote the Penn State record books at Hobart University Friday afternoon when he cracked the individual record for goals scored in one season. He added two more the following day against Syracuse to run his ten-game total to 28.

The old record of 24 goals was held jointly by Al Fulton and Hess himself. Fulton accomplished his feat in the 1954 season while Hess equalled the mark two weeks ago against Colgate University.

Fulton played in only nine games during his record-breaking year but that does not dim Hess' accomplishment for any reason. Hess tied the mark in his eighth game and broke it in his ninth.

His biggest scoring outburst was against Hofstra at the Hofstra tournament over the Easter vacation. He scored five goals against the Flying Dutchmen and recorded a total of 14 goals for the whole tournament.

Hess' efforts are not only limited to scoring. A fine playmaker who sets up many goals for his teammates, Hess leads the Lions in assists with 18.

He also is a candidate for the Nittany Lion football team. He missed spring practice this year because of lacrosse but the speedy halfback plans to be back out for the sport in the fall.

Hess hails from Manhassett, New York, a small community in the middle of a high school lacrosse "hotbed." He was a three-sport athlete in his prep school days, competing in football, lacrosse, and track and field, but it was lacrosse that brought him the most honors.

He earned four varsity lacrosse letters and was named to the league all star team two years in a row. In his senior year Hess led the league in scoring with 37 goals, was voted the outstanding player in the league, and was named to a first team berth on the All-American high school team.

One of his teammates at Manhassett was Syracuse's star athlete, Jimmy Brown. Hess played three years of lacrosse and football with the versatile Brown.

Three of Hess' present teammates were "enemies" in his high school days. Lou Girard and John Steinmuller played with Manhassett's arch-rival Sewanhaka, while Captain Bob Hamel was at Mineola—a league opponent of Manhassett.

Scanning SPORTS

By FRAN FANUCCI, Sports Editor

QUANTICO QUOTES:

Tom Rosandich, 23-year-old Quantico track coach, smiled a little and in his colorful way gave me his opinion of his star pupil and the most controversial sports figure of the year—Wes Santee.

"He's a champion. I never had any trouble with him. Sure people think he's cocky, but it's not the cockiness they're thinking about. He has confidence in himself, he knows himself, and he knows track. As far as I can see he is well liked by everyone on the team."

And Rosandich's last statement was verified by other members of the squad. Most of their statements were synonymous, but the gist of all of them was that Santee had confidence and not cockiness; he seemed to be well-liked by all his teammates, who repeatedly lashed out at the Amateur Athletic Union for the "raw deal" it gave Santee.

No one denied that Santee received excessive expense money, but their usual interjection during the conversation was that every other amateur who is any kind of public figure receives money, too.

But I still think that two wrongs don't make a right. Somebody was bound to be nailed by the AAU sooner or later to be made an example of, and it just happened to be Santee. I guess he'll have to keep his Lincoln automobile for a few years now, unless, of course, he turns professional.

Accompanying the Quantico team was one of the world's top 400 meter runners, Josh Culbreath. Culbreath was beaten in all of his events Saturday, but had practiced only two days since last August. Sickness and "boot camp" were the culprits in putting him in the "worst condition of my career."

Rosandich thinks that Culbreath could be the United States' top threat in the 400 meter intermediate hurdles. And he has strong proof to back up his prediction. Culbreath holds records for the fastest time ever recorded in this event in three countries—Italy, Scotland, and Ireland—and also the record for the Pan American games held in South America.

He set his record in Italy while running for the U.S. in the 1953 International Meets.

Culbreath, a graduate of Morgan State, was enrolled at the University of Colorado law school, but had to drop out because of the study-practice conflict.

"Studying prevented me from practicing," he said, "so I left school to stress my training more." But when Culbreath dropped from Colorado U. so did his service deferment and he was drafted. Before induction, though, Culbreath decided to join the Marines, and so as he put it "here I am."

He said that it will take him approximately three weeks to get into top running condition and then he intends to stress his training so that when the Olympics roll around "I'll be at my best."

Sport Stars were in abundance at the Saturday meet. The Quantico discus thrower, Frank Morze, was the second draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers in the Professional Football Conference.

The 6-4, 285 pound center starred at Boston College and was one of the linemen in last year's All-Star football game in Chicago.

Asked to explain the difference he noted between college and professional players, Morze said there's only one—"they're awfully smart and know all the tricks."

He expects to join the 49ers in the summer of '57, but intends to play some service ball and stay with the track team to keep him in shape.

An interesting spectator at the Blue-White football game and the track team was Fran Rogel, fullback for the Pittsburgh Steelers and former Lion All-American. Rogel said that he still has a year or two left in him and after he retires he'll devote his time to his farm and his deputy sheriff's job.

Leadership Applications

Students interested in serving on the Elections Committee or Student Leadership Training Committee may fill out application blanks today at the Hetzel Union desk.

The Cabinet Personnel Interviewing Committee will interview the applicants at a later date.

KOSHER FOODS Are Available at the PASTRY SPOT

- FRANKFURTERS
- SALAMI
- COCKTAIL WIENERS
- KNOCKWURST
- SMOKIES
- LOX
- PICKLES
- DAIRY PRODUCTS

THE PASTRY SPOT

FELLOW SENIORS

Let The Collegian bring Penn State to you.

Get your subscription Today $5.00 per year HUB Desk

COOL

though well dressed

Standard Point

Short Point

Eyelet

Buttndown

4 new collar styles on cool cool

VAN HEUSEN®

Century Sheers WON'T WRINKLE... EVER!

Beat a feet retreat from heat... and stay completely neat! Easy feat with Van Heusen Century Sheers, refreshing summer dress-shirts that come in four smart styles of the amazing one-piece collar that's guaranteed not to wrinkle... ever! These lightweight versions of the famous Van Heusen Century keep their freshness without starch or "stays"... collars won't wilt or wrinkle no matter how hot or humid it gets... won't buckle, bunch, bubble or curl, either. The price is a treat. Only $3.95.

Exclusively Yours VAN HEUSEN SHIRTS

Hur's Men's Shop

OPPOSITE OLD MAIN