Bill Sent to Governor After Unanimous Vote

By ED DUBBS
Asst. City Editor

The House last night approved unanimously the University's $26,194,000 appropriation bill, sending it to the Governor.

After more than a year of tossing around the State Legislature at the time when the assemblymen were arguing over whether it should be a sales tax or some form of an income tax, the bill, after an amendment and a change to that amendment, finally was on the way to Gov. George M. Leader as

The Daily Collegian went to press last night.

Although there were only about 50 representatives in the Lower Chamber when the vote was taken, the vote was recorded as 191-0. This was done, according to the Associated Press Harrisburg Bureau, since the House felt that most members were in favor of the bill.

A breakdown of the $26,194,000 shows $25,783,000 for general maintenance, research, salaries, materials, and other general expenses; $150,000 for the College of Agriculture's Experiment Station, $66,000 for research and experiment in problems relating to the petroleum industry, $70,000 for research on by-products of anthracite and bituminous coal and development of new uses.

A grant of $57,500 to the College of Mineral Industries for research on long-range problems affecting mineral industries, $32,500 for research on basic problems of slate and other non-metallic mineral industries; and $32,500 for research on basic problems affecting mineral industries.

The appropriation bill, the largest ever proposed for the University, was approved by the Senate last week.

The bill had previously been approved by the House but when the House placed its stamp of approval on the bill, it called for a $25,194,000 appropriation.

The Senate appropriations committee tacked a $2 million increase on the bill the House had approved. This increase met with opposition when it first went to the Senate floor.

The bill was then sent back to the committee, which agreed on the $1 million increase as a compromise. This sum was approved by the Senate the next day and it represents the amount approved by the House last night.

President Milton S. Eisenhower had suggested the $25 million figure in the fall of 1954, and it was included in the Governor's budget message of April, 1955.

New Freshmen to Use Counseling Program

One-third of next fall's freshmen have elected to participate in the new student counseling program.

This program consists of tests that will be offered in various Pennsylvania cities and a day of counseling on the main campus. The tests are designed to find out whether the student is in the right field or needs help in the "3 R's" before beginning the regular college program.

Ike Leads Indiana Vote

By the Associated Press
Late returns from the Indiana presidential voting provided no proof Wednesday of any farm revolt there against the Eisenhower administration.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, running in separate primaries, got 62 per cent and 36 per cent of the total vote, respectively.

Republican and Democratic leaders in the normally Republican state agreed the figures didn't demonstrate a farm rebellion. But the Democratic state chairman, Charles E. Killen, said it was only because the farmers just stayed home and worked, to take advantage of Tuesday's good weather.

Political students weighed the results of Tuesday primaries in Ohio and Florida.

This was the picture, item by item:

INDIANA—Returns from 4203 of 4386 precincts in the Republican presidential preference primary and 3875 of 4348 in the Democratic primary showed:

Eisenhower 344,286 or 62 per cent. Lar Daly 12,944 or 2 per cent.

Kefauver 203,954 or 36 per cent.

Kefauver, campaigning in California, said he had been told by friends in Indiana that the final results will see him with a little better than 40 per cent.

In 1952, Eisenhower got 59 per cent of the total vote in carrying the state over Democrat Adlai Stevenson, against whom Kefauver is campaigning this year for his party's presidential nomination.

Gov. George Craig, a Republican, commented:

"The anticipated farm revolt failed to materialize. The farmers went about their business and didn't bother to vote, as they would have done if they were aroused."

OHIO—The Tuesday primaries brought about this lineup for the November elections:

For governor, Democratic Michael V. DiSalle, former Toledo mayor and one-time federal price control director, and Republican C. William O'Neill, the state's attorney general.

For senator, Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Democrat, who will be Ohio's favorite son at the presidential nominating convention; and Republican George H. Bender, who now is Ohio's junior senator.

Lausche and Bender were unopposed for nomination. DiSalle and O'Neill ran away with their contested races.

FLORIDA—Gov. Leroy Collins, who has become known nationwide to readers of his Florida-boosting articles in a number of periodicals, was an easy winner for Democratic renomination.

Over 20 Students Quit Jobs as 'Last Resort'

By LARRY JACOBSON

More than 20 student employees in the Hetzel Union Building cafeteria and Lion's Den quit their jobs last night in what a student spokesman termed a "last resort."

The spokesman, Eric Fleisher, junior in business administration from Philadelphia, said he expected a good majority of the student employees in the cafeteria and Lion's Den to quit by this morning.

When contacted last night, a University spokesman said service in the cafeteria and

Harper Elected New Chairman Of UCA Cabinet

James Harper, junior in civil engineering from Shenandoah was elected Chairman of the University Christian Association Cabinet for the coming year last night.

The group also named Isabel Barnes, sophomore in bacteriology from State College, secretary. Election of a treasurer was deferred until next week.

Starbuck Gives Aims

Rev. Robert B. Starbuck, of the Christian Association, presented a brief outline of the association's history and its goals.

Rev. Starbuck described the changeover which has taken place in the last two years from the Penn State Christian Association to U.C.A., through the so-called "working paper" drawn up by the committee on reorganization.

'Center for Outreach'

He said U.C.A.'s goals during the coming years should include making it a "center for outreach" of churches to "carry the Protestant ministry." U.C.A. should be a center for "ecumenical conversation" and "united action," Rev. Starbuck stated. It should also be an area for "inter-religious cooperation" with groups representing other faiths.

The U.C.A. Cabinet, which has recently installed an entirely new membership, consists of five representatives elected at large from the association's membership and a member sent from each of the ten town religious foundations.

Cabinet Will Hear Election Revisions

All-University Elections Committee will present seven proposed changes in the All-University Elections Code before All-University Cabinet tonight.

The changes were adopted by the committee Monday night.

At the same time, Robert Spadaro, Lion party clique chairman, will present six additional changes, some of which are Lion's Den would continue as usual today. The students' jobs would be taken over by cafeteria and Lion's Den supervisors, he added.

Fleisher said the students were quitting their jobs in accordance with a petition presented to the University last Thursday by student employees in the cafeteria and Lion's Den. The petition asked for a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase and payment in money instead of meal tickets.

Petition Threatened Strike

If the demands were not met, the petition continued, the students would go on strike today.

Three students met with three University officials at a fact-finding meeting Tuesday, during which the University told students if they went on strike, the University would be forced to fire them. In doing so, the University said it would be obeying a state law which says that no employee of a state agency can go on strike. The students were classified as employees of a state agency by Roy Wilkinson, Jr., legal counsel for the University.

Weren't Threatening Students

The University said they were not threatening the students but were informing them of what would happen if they went on strike. The University said they did not want the students to make an unknowing mistake. After the fact finding hearing, Dr. Eric A. Walker, dean of the College of Engineering and Architecture, said he would study the case and make a recommendation to the committee as a possible solution.

'Didn't Want to Quit'

"We didn't want to quit, Fleisher said, but did so for the lack of any other means of being heard. We took it for granted that the

TIM Committee Selects PSU Typical Mother

Mrs. Margaret Perez has been chosen as the "Typical Penn State Mother," it was announced last night by James Tipton, newly elected president of the association of Town Independent Men.

Mrs. Perez was chosen by an administration committee in conjunction with the TIM Mother's Day Ball to be held Saturday night in the HUB ballroom.

The committee, consisting of Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs, Frank J. Simes, dean of men, Pearl O. Weston, dean of women, and William C. Crafts, assistant to the dean of men made the selection of Mrs. Perez on a non competitive basis from a list of State College women who have a son or daughter enrolled at the University.

Her Oldest Son

Her oldest son, Larry, is a second semester freshman in the college of engineering. Mrs. Perez, herself, is enrolled at the University. She is a part time student in the College of Education and is now matriculating in her seventh semester.

Mrs. Perez, who is the wife of Lawrence Perez, a professor in civil engineering, will be the guest of honor at the TIM Mother's Day Ball. As an award for her selection, she will be presented with two dozen red roses and a 24-carat gold vase.

Officers Elected

At the TIM meeting last night officers for the coming school term were elected. James Tipton, junior in Pre-Med from Hollidaysburg was elected president. He defeated Phillip Levine, junior in education from Bellefonte, by a 14-7 vote.

Other officers include John Mauk, junior in psychology from Pittsburgh, vice president; Michael Forosisky, junior in business education from Johnstown, secretary; and Frank Wempa, junior in secondary education from Alden, treasurer.

by the committee would eliminate a specified time for polls to be open, and would leave the time to be specified by the committee each election. Spadaro said he wanted the specified time to remain in the code, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. He added that he also wants to add a clause which would compel the committee chairman to notify clique chairmen immediately following a committee decision to extend voting hours.

The second change proposed by the committee would give it the power to choose the voting site. The present code specifies the Hetzel Union Building.

Spadaro's proposed change reads "with consideration given accordingly as to whether centralized or decentralized voting is to be used." This would always leave the way open to decentralized voting, discarded this year
