

Martial Law Proclaimed In Eastern 3d of Algeria

ALGIERS, Algeria, May 10 (AP)—Resident Minister Robert Lacoste froze the eastern third of Algeria under a state of martial law today. But rebel torches flared again in the west.

Daring nationalist forces followed up their farm-burning rampage near Oran last Monday with another fire attack on 12 farms only a few miles away. A strong band burned a vegetable fiber factory and two farms in the area of Bou Tlefis, 20 miles west of Oran.

The French moved in armored vehicles and fighter planes in an effort to track down and wipe out the bands.

Rebels Unhindered
The rebels apparently were unhindered in the raids, despite the fact thousands of French reinforcements were rushed into the area after the last attacks, in which 40 farms were burned and 20 French farmers were slain.

Lacoste acted under near-dictatorial powers granted him by the French government in March in putting Constantine and Bone under direct control of the military.

The region includes the Aures Mountains, base of the first rebel attacks against the French Nov. 1, 1954.

All of Algeria is already under a "state of urgency," a step just below martial law. So no vast policy changes are expected under Lacoste's decree. Most of the 300,000-odd troops in Algeria have been concentrated in the eastern half of the country.

46 Villages Attacked
Rebels struck last night at 46 villages northwest of Constantine City. They set many houses afire. Violent street fighting broke out when French forces arrived.

City Mourns
Greek flags flew at half mast from churches, schools and homes and church bells occasionally tolled in mourning for the dead pair despite regulations forbidding their use except as a summons to worship.

Drop a hint to that "someone" about your PENN STATE CLASS RING Balfour's at 'A' Store

For Those Who Prefer Their Cocktails Neopolitan . . . PIVOT On Sale Now!

ROLLER SKATE
Every Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Also Sunday afternoons 2 to 4 We Rent Chicago Rink Shoe Skates HECLA PARK 15 miles east of State College on route 64 Rink Available for Private Parties Phone Zion 2121

Dulles Says Reds May Turn Decent

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today there are germs of change at work in the Soviet Union that could—over the years—make it a "decent state to do business with."

He said also that announced cuts in the Soviet armed forces may be real and may continue. The Russians announced last December they had reduced their armed forces by 640,000 men.

But Dulles carefully advised members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee against optimism. He emphasized he was talking in terms of 10 years or perhaps a generation when he said, "Our long-range purpose is to accelerate the day when the Soviet Union will be a decent state to do business with."

He said the armed forces cuts should not be taken as a peace move or an abandonment of Russia's ambition to dominate the world, but only a shift to more effective use of manpower.

22 Rockets Discharged Into Residential Area

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., May 10 (AP)—Twenty-two aircraft rockets were accidentally fired today from a grounded F86 Sabre Jet and hurtled across Selfridge Air Force Base into a nearby residential area.

Three airmen were injured slightly but none of the residents of Harrison Township, east of the base, was hurt.

One of the deadly missiles slammed into a frame salvage building on the base. A fragment of another rammed through a bedroom window at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald DePew a mile east of the base.

NATIONAL GYPSUM COMPANY will interview on campus May 15. We are a young aggressive organization in the building materials field with over 250 products, 40 plants located throughout the United States and 30 District Sales Offices. Opportunities are available in Engineering, Production, Research, Sales and Administration. We are interested in interviewing those who wish to be associated with a Company whose future is definitely assured.

CHRISTY'S
Will Serve Special MOTHER'S DAY DINNERS
11 a.m. - 7 p.m.
COMPLETE DINNERS FEATURING:
•Roast Prime Ribs Au Jus
•Broiled Sirloin Steak
•Roast Chicken, Dressing
•Combination Seafood Plate
•Roast Leg of Lamb
Optional Reservations: Phone AD 8-9019

Penn State Jazz Club
Presents A NIGHT IN DIXIE
with Jimmy McPartland and His All-Stars
FRIDAY, MAY 18
2 Concerts 7 and 9:30 p.m.
Tickets $1.50

Election Year Battle Looms

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—A major election year battle over Social Security was assured in the Senate today when the Finance Committee voted against lowering from 65 to 62 the age at which most women would start receiving retirement payments.

The committee also voted against setting up a new program of cash benefits for the totally disabled starting at age 50.

Approved was a provision to start paying retirement benefits to widows at the age 62, instead of 65. An estimated 175,000 widows would benefit from this change in the first year.

The House voted 372-31 last year to lower the retirement age to 62 for all women covered by Social Security.

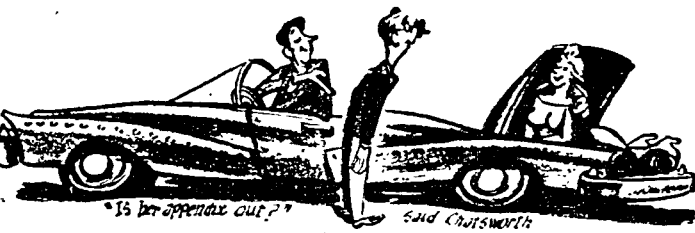

THE TRUE AND TYPICAL CASE OF CHATSWORTH OSCEOLA

The school year draws to an end, and everybody is wondering about the future—everybody, that is, except the engineers. Today there is not a single engineer on a single campus who has not received a dozen fabulous offers from a dozen corporations.

All this, of course, you know. But do you know just how fabulous these offers are? Do you have any idea how wildly the corporations are competing? Let me cite for you the true and typical case of Chatsworth Osceola, a true and typical senior.

Chatsworth, walking across the M.I.T. campus one day last week, was hailed by a man parked at the curb in a yellow convertible studded with precious gemstones. "Hello," said the man. "I am Darien T. Sigafos of the Sigafos Bearing and Bushing Company. Do you like this car?"

"Yeah, hey," said Chatsworth.
"It's yours," said Sigafos.
"Thanks, hey," said Chatsworth.
"Do you like Philip Morris?" said Sigafos.
"Of corris!" said Chatsworth.
"Here is a pack," said Sigafos. "And a new pack will be delivered to you at six-hour intervals every day as long as you shall live."
"Thanks, hey," said Chatsworth.
"Does your wife like Philip Morris?" said Sigafos.
"I'm not married," said Chatsworth.
"Do you want to be?" said Sigafos.
"What American boy doesn't?" said Chatsworth.

Sigafos pressed a button on the dashboard of the convertible, and the trunk opened up, and out came a nubile maiden with golden hair, flawless features, a perfect disposition, and the appendix already removed. "This is Laurel Geduldig," said Sigafos. "Would you like to marry her?"

"Is her appendix out?" said Chatsworth.
"Yes," said Sigafos.
"Okay," said Chatsworth.
"Congratulations," said Sigafos. "And for the happy bride, a pack of Philip Morris every six hours for the rest of her life."
"Thanks, hey," said Laurel.
"Now then," said Sigafos to Chatsworth, "let's get down to business. My company will start you at $45,000 a year. You will retire at full salary upon reaching the age of 28. When you start work, we will give you a three-story house made of bullion, complete with a French Provincial swimming pool. We will provide sitter service for all your children until they are safely through puberty. We will guarantee to keep your teeth in good repair; also the teeth of your wife and children unto the third generation. We will send your dentist a pack of Philip Morris every six hours as long as he shall live. . . . Now, son, think carefully about this offer. Meanwhile, here is one thousand dollars in small, unmarked bills, which places you under no obligation whatsoever."

"It certainly seems like a fair offer," said Chatsworth. "But there is something you should know. I am not an engineer. In fact, I don't go to M.I.T. I am a poetry major at Harvard. I just came over here on a bird walk."
"Oh," said Sigafos.
"I guess I don't get to keep this money and the convertible and Laurel now, do I?" said Chatsworth.
"Of course you do," said Sigafos. "And if you'd like the job, my offer still stands."
©Max Shulman, 1956

The makers of Philip Morris, who sponsor this column, are delighted to know that times are so good for the engineers. To make times even better—for the engineers and everybody else—here's a gentle suggestion: Philip Morris, of corris!