

Armed Forces Day To End With Parade

Army, Navy, and Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps units will culminate their Armed Forces Day program tomorrow with a parade at 7 p.m. The parade will start at Shortlidge road and East College avenue and will continue down College avenue to Burrowes road.

The reviewing stand will be at Allen street.

The Armed Forces Day program will get underway at 9 a.m. with an inter-service Open House at the Armory.

Navy to Display Model

The Navy will display a half-ton model of the USS Pennsylvania. The model is 12 feet long, 5 feet high, and 3 feet wide. It was made in 1916 when the USS Pennsylvania was constructed and has been in the capital at Harrisburg since then.

The Navy will also display naval weapons, mines, and torpedoes and scale models of Navy ships and planes.

The Army will display its new uniforms, maps, photographs, radio equipment, weapons, and color slides and films.

Survival Equipment

The Air Force will display survival equipment, parachutes, life rafts, high altitude gear, and models and photographs of aircraft.

The inter-service Open House will last from 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Another Open House will be held by the 112th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron from 1 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Air National Guard Armory on the University farms.

Radar Model Display

The Air National Guard will display a new model radar set, capable of spotting planes three times as distant as previous models.

They will also display a mobile radar set along College avenue during the parade.

Center in McKeesport Receives Land Grant

A gift of four and one half acres of land, valued at $60,000, has been presented to the Advisory Board of the University Center in McKeesport by William L. Buck, McKeesport realtor.

The Board is preparing to construct a $160,000 building to be used for the program, which now enrolls 225 full-time day students in the two year curriculums and 500 part-time students for evening courses.

Cabinet Time Change

All-University Cabinet will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow instead of 7 p.m. in the Student Government Room of the Hetzel Union building.

The meeting was set back an hour because of the Armed Forces Day parade scheduled for 7 p.m.

4 Leaves Approved By Trustees

Leaves of absence for four faculty members have been approved and four others extended by the Board of Trustees.

Five resignations have also been received.

Dr. W. Conrad Fernelius, acting dean of the College of Chemistry and Physics, was granted a leave from July 1 to June 30 to study at Oxford University, Oxford, England under a Guggenheim fellowship and Dr. Herbert Steiner, professor of German, was granted a leave for the same period for study and travel in Europe.

DeNoyo Receives Leave

Dr. John A. DeNoyo, associate professor of American history, received a leave from July 1 to June 30 and will study at Harvard University under a fellowship from the Ford Foundation. Dr. Emil J. Burcik, associate professor of petroleum and natural gas, will be on leave from July 1 to Aug. 31 for research in his field.

Leaves were extended for Dr. Morris Mendelson, associate professor of economics, from July 1 to June 30; Dr. William M. Breazeale, professor of nuclear engineering, July 1 to June 30; Dr. John H. Ferguson, professor of political science, July 1 to June 30; and Dr. Harold F. Alderfer, professor of political science, Feb. 1 to June 30.

Heimer Resigns

Resignations have been received from Roby C. Heimer, associate extension home economist in Schuylkill County; George W. Gorsline, associate agricultural agent in Bradford County; Kenneth B. Lawrence, associate professor of mechanical engineering; and Dr. Charles R. Ammerman, associate professor of electrical engineering, all effective June 30; and Dr. Phillip E. Eiland Jr., research associate in physics, effective March 31.

Gorsline will return to the faculty as an instructor in agronomy.

ICG Elects Kling, Thalimer, Winslow To Interim Council

The Penn State chapter of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government last night elected William Kling, John Thalimer, and Benjamin Winslow as members of its three-man Interim Council, to serve as a plural executive until the group's second meeting next fall.

Retiring ICG President Allan Maloney also announced that Carole Hite, John Rapchak, and Leslie Pape, as members of the group's executive committee, were entitled to sit on the Interim Council as ex-officio members.

Defeated for the council post was Edward Fegert.

In other business the chapter heard a report on the state of its finances in connection with the recent state ICG convention. Replies to the members were distributed by faculty sponsor Lee E. Corter, assistant professor of political science.

The group presented Corter with a brief case and a portfolio in consideration of his work in sponsoring the organization.

Plans Near Completion For Annual Encampment

Final plans are now under way for the fifth annual Student Encampment to be held at the Mont Alto School of Forestry, Sept. 5th to 8th, according to Donald Reidenbaugh, Encampment chairman.

Chairmen for the eight workshops which will make up this year's Encampment are Robert Steele, sophomore in arts and letters from State College, Penn State's Future, 1956-1970;

Robert Krakoff, junior in business administration from Pittsburgh, Counseling; Curtin Schafer, junior in business administration from Gibsonia, Academic Policies; George Buckhout, Orientation Week chairman, Social, Cultural, and Recreational Programs; John McMeekin, senior in business administration from Philadelphia, Campus Political Organization; Susan Hill, president of the Home Economics Student Council, Making Student Government More Effective;

Musser Is Coordinator

James Musser, National Student Association coordinator, Regulations and Controls; Jerome Radosh, junior in business administration from Irwin, Communications, Health, and Miscellaneous.

Invitations have been sent to selected members of the faculty and administration who will participate in the discussions related to their general field of education or administration.

Invitations have also been sent to members of the student body who will attend Encampment by virtue of positions they hold in the various campus activities.

Faculty Administrators Invited

Both undergraduates and faculty and administration members are urged, according to Reidenbaugh, to return the requested information as soon as possible so that vacancies may be filled by others.

Approximately 20 students will be selected to attend the Encampment through interviews now being conducted by members of the Encampment Committee. Freshmen and sophomores who have shown an interest in campus activities and are interested in producing a better Penn State are particularly urged to attend the interviews, Reidenbaugh said.

Monday Set for Next Interview

The next interview is scheduled for next Monday evening in 218 Hetzel Union. Application forms may be obtained at that time.

President Milton S. Eisenhower originated the Encampment idea when he was president of Kansas State College and brought the program to the University in 1950.

The first three days of Encampment are spent discussing various problems and ideas by each of the eight workshop groups. Plenary sessions are held at the close of the period and all reports from workshops are given by the entire group.

Each workshop then presents a report to All-University Cabinet (Continued on page eight)

Alum Elections For 3 Trustees Now Underway

Election of three alumni members of the Board of Trustees is now in progress.

Any graduate who received advance or bachelor degrees from the University in the past three years may vote. Ballots must be returned before 11 a.m. June 8.

Eight nominees have been selected. They are Julia Gregg Brill, State College; Robert T. Foote, Chicago; Milton Fritsche, Philadelphia; Ralph D. Hetzel Jr., Scarsdale, N.Y.; Howard J. Lamade, Williamsport; J. Lester Mauthe, Youngstown, Ohio; Robert W. Ostermayer, Clairton; and William K. Ulerich, Clearfield.

There are 32 members of the Board of Trustees, including ex-officio members Gov. George M. Leader; President Milton S. Eisenhower; Ralph C. Swan, state superintendent of public instruction; Dr. William L. Henning, state secretary of agriculture; and Joseph T. Kennedy, state secretary of mines.

Other members include six appointed by the governor, nine elected by alumni, six by delegates of county agricultural societies, and six by delegates from county industrial societies.

Iowa State Prof Named to Faculty

Roger R. Yoerger, assistant professor of agricultural engineering at the Iowa Experiment Station, has been appointed associate professor of agricultural engineering at the University, effective Sept. 1.

The Board of Trustees at its weekend meeting also approved the appointments of Lura J. Leitzel, formerly a teacher in Altoona and Selinsgrove and now a graduate student at the University, as associate extension home economist, effective June 11; and Margaret C. Herbster, teacher of home economics at Kutztown, as extension home economist in Lycoming County, effective August 1.

Yoerger received his BS and MS, and has completed most of his work toward his doctorate at Iowa State College, where he has been a faculty member since 1949.

Value of Arms Cut Questioned

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—Secretaries John Foster Dulles and Charles E. Wilson declared today the United States must keep its guard up despite Russia's announced intention to slash its armed forces by 1,200,000 men.

Dulles expressed the view the cut would not materially reduce the Soviets' power to wage atomic war and might even increase it. Men taken out of uniform could be put to work making nuclear weapons, the secretary of state said.

Secretary of Defense Wilson said the Russian move would not, by itself, "justify any appreciable change in our present military strength." Nor, he said, would it justify changes "in our present programs for cooperating with our Allies in the defense of the Free World."

Similar views were voiced by officials of the Air Force.

Dulles said the United States "welcomes" the Soviet announcement "if this proves to be an evidence of an intent to forego the use of force in international affairs."

Similarly Wilson said the Russian announcement "would seem to be a step in the right direction."

However, both their statements were weighted on the cautionary side. The two Cabinet members appeared to be concerned lest the Soviet move generate too much of a sense of security in this country or among its Allies.

Whether their views were shared throughout the administration could not be known until other officials found occasion to express their opinion publicly. It seemed possible that as possible evidence of declining reliance on the use of force as an instrument of policy the projected Russian reduction in manpower under arms might eventually generate more optimism than Dulles and Wilson had thought wise to express at this time.

The first hint of the Soviet plan to cut back its total military manpower was received by Harold Stassen April 24 in London when he talked with Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev during a reception. While Stassen did not disclose the nature of the information he had received at that time he made no attempt to hide from diplomats and newsmen who were covering his activities there that he considered it to be of first rate importance and to create new hope for future East-West relations. Stassen had generally been optimistic about the prospects of eventually getting Russia to agree to a disarmament program acceptable in the West.

Alumni Group Membership Drive Begins

The annual Alumni Association membership drive for graduating seniors began yesterday and will continue until Commencement Day, June 9. Ross B. Lehman, assistant executive secretary, said yesterday.

During this period, seniors that join the Alumni Association will receive a special membership rate of $2 per year. The special rate will continue until Commencement Day when the usual $3 rate will go back into effect.

"We want to give new alumni an early introduction to the values of the Alumni Association, and have therefore decided upon the special membership," Lehman said.

Lehman Praises Alumni Group

Lehman called the Alumni Association "the link between the alumni and the University," adding that Alumni Association members stand to gain many advantages if they join.

Among the most important services to members, Lehman explained, are the first priority on reserved football tickets and a subscription to the Football Letter, a personalized review of each week's game written by Ridge Riley, executive secretary.

Penn Stater Subscription

Other services include a subscription to The Penn Stater, a quarterly newspaper; maintenance of biographical and occupational records of the 55,000 alumni and the only active alumni mailing list; conducting class reunions and the Alumni Institute in June and Homecoming in the fall, subscription to the Alumni News (Continued on page eight)

SDX to Initiate 9 Undergrads, 8 Professionals

Nine undergraduate and eight professional men will be initiated into the University's chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional men's journalism fraternity, tomorrow night at Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

Undergraduates who will be initiated are Vincent Carocci, Harry Davis, Edward Dubbs, Emil Haas, Lawrence Jacobson, William Kling, Earl Kohnfelder, John Lawrence and Marino Parascenzo.

Professional men who will be initiated are Rolland Adams, Bethlehem Globe Times; Raymond Brecht, the Philadelphia Bulletin; Blair Bice, Morrisons Cove Herald; Paul Chalfant, Waynesboro Record Herald; A. H. Imhof, assistant professor of agricultural journalism; W. Lowrey Kaye, Latrobe Bulletin; Chester Smith, the Pittsburgh Press; and Charles Welsh, the Associated Press.

Franklin Banner, professor of journalism, who served as chapter adviser from 1932 to 1955, will attend the initiation.

Cloudy, Cooler Weather Predicted for Today

Partly cloudy and slightly cooler weather is predicted again for today, with a chance of scattered showers.

The high today will be 60 and the low will be 50. Yesterday's high was 65, with a low of 40.