

NSA Selects 5 Delegates To Attend National Meet

Five members of the National Student Association committee have been selected to represent the University at the NSA National Congress this summer.

They are Leonard Richards, Susan Hill, Barbara Hendel, Edward Long, and Lawrence McCabe. The students were chosen by the NSA committee and Robert Bahrenburg, All-University president, and are subject to approval by Cabinet.

AIM Approves Judicial Board Appointments

The Association of Independent Men approved six appointments Monday night including William Johnson, junior in pre-medical from Arnold, as chairman of the AIM Judicial Board of Review.

Jonathan Green, junior in pre-veterinary from Great Neck, New York; George Sunday, sophomore in ceramics technology from West Nanticoke; and Edward Frymoyer, freshman in electrical engineering from Sunbury, were appointed as committee members to the judicial board.

Robert Franklin, freshman in journalism from Glenside, was appointed editor of next year's AIM handbook. James Goodwin, sophomore in physics from Philadelphia, was appointed AIM parliamentarian.

Nittany, Pollock, and West Halls Councils, and Town Independent Men received final allotments Monday night. Nittany received $75.41; Pollock, $36.04; West Halls, $96.70; and TIM, $267.30.

Benjamin Winslow, AIM Community Living Committee chairman, in an annual report, said the survey being made with other colleges and universities concerning community living was incomplete but results thus far were favorable.

The committee was made a standing group by a unanimous vote of AIM.

Book Exchange Board of Control Elects Chairman

Dean Asks Committee Modification

Harold Dean, Association of Independent Men social chairman, suggested Monday night that AIM appoint a separate chairman for each of next year's social events to facilitate improved organization and planning.

Dean termed the AIM social program for the year a failure and said most of the fault could be found in poor organization.

With a separate chairman for each social event, he said, work may be better distributed since the entire organizational functions will not fall on one person.

Dean suggested that the Spring Ball be made the major social event of the year for AIM. Other social events suggested were: frosh night, dink debut, gridiron ball, an AIM banquet, and a picnic for AIM and Leonides.

Thomas J. Smith, AIM National Independent Student Association chairman, in an annual report, said the function of the organization is to "aid in the full development and adjustment of the independent student."

Smith had four suggestions concerning NISA for next year. They are:

That University chapter of NISA send eight representatives to next year's national convention in Illinois;

That the chapter enter an independent woman in the NISA queen contest. The queen will be crowned at the convention;

That a regional convention be held at the University;

And that NISA week and the national convention not occur at the same time.

Miller Receives Journ School's Student Award

Norman C. Miller, senior in journalism from Pittsburgh, was named the outstanding male journalism student of the June graduating class at the school of journalism honor convocation Monday.

Four other seniors and recent graduates in journalism at the University were awarded citations by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society.

The awards were presented by Dr. James Markham, head of the department of news and editorial journalism and adviser to the University chapter of Sigma Delta Chi.

Other students receiving awards were Susan Brown, senior in journalism from Erie; Thelma Grossholtz, senior in journalism from Erie; Martha Heim, of Gettysburg, now employed by McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., New York, N.Y.; and James Jacoby, of Allentown, now with Bituminous Coal Research, Inc., Pittsburgh. Miss Heim and Jacoby were graduated in February.

The Journal of Forestry which has completed a survey of the forestry schools in the country reports a nationwide shortage of foresters.

Senior Day Sought By BusAd Council

Instituting Senior Day, a day when all University seniors would pre-register, was recommended to the Business Administration Student Council Monday night.

The College of Business Administration will have pre-registration for seniors within the College again next fall, according to William Nelson, chairman of the pre-registration committee. He said that it would be impossible to institute Senior Day before next semester, but he hoped it might be organized for the spring semester of 1957.

Nelson reported that the committee met with David McKinley, assistant dean of the college of business administration, who originated the idea, promising to bring it before the board of assistant deans.

Meets With Watkins

The committee also met with Ray Watkins, University scheduling officer, who felt that a full day of registration would not work, due to increased expense and poor attendance. He said that only 50 per cent of the seniors could be counted on to return. The remainder would be willing to register at their scheduled times rather than come back early.

Watkins also told committee members that with the growth of the University, another day of registration would be needed, and a half-day of senior pre-registration would be feasible as a step in this direction.

Encampment Committee

Edmond Kramer, council president, said he would ask Donald Reidenbaugh, chairman of student encampment, to set up an encampment committee on Senior Day.

The Council moved to hold Career Day again next fall, and to have the speakers made available for personal student consultation.

Career Day Chairman

Patricia Murphy, junior in business administration from Pittsburgh, and Harry Brown, sophomore in business administration from Pittsburgh, were appointed co-chairman of Career Day by Kramer yesterday.

The council amended the constitution to give the editor of the BusAd Bulletin a seat on council.

Kappa Phi Kappa Officers Selected For Coming Year

Kappa Phi Kappa, men's professional education fraternity, elected officers for the coming year at its last regular meeting.

Those elected were Charles Good, junior in education from Paoli, president; James Werkman, junior in education from Scottdale, vice president; Vincent Carlone, junior in education from Chester, corresponding secretary; Harry Harhigh, junior in education from Frackville, recording secretary.

George Burwell, junior in education from Pine Grove Mills, treasurer; Harvey Bomberger, junior in vocational industrial education from Myerstown, Hubert Heinrichs, junior in psychology from Bryn Athyn, and Paul Hutko, junior in psychology from Atlas, directors.

The annual initiation banquet of the group will be held Wednesday at the State College Hotel. Dr. Harry Hutton will speak.
