

National Service Fraternity Establishes $200 Scholarship

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, has established an annual $200 scholarship for men students, Glen Elder, president, said yesterday.

The scholarship will be known as the Alpha Phi Omega scholarship and will be awarded on the basis of financial need, campus activities, and previous Boy Scouting experience. The scholarship will be handled by the Senate Committee on Scholarships and Awards.

Elder said that a portion of the Ugly Man proceeds may be used for this scholarship fund. He added that several Alpha Phi Omega chapters have established similar scholarships with the proceeds of the Ugly Man Contest, a national project, being-used for the fund.

Committees were organized for next year's activities Tuesday night. Newton Ruffing is chairman of the Orientation Week committee that will have charge of the Alpha Phi Omega information booth on the Mall during Orientation Week.

The membership committee, headed by Paul Johnson, will distribute Boy Scout census cards to the new freshman men students during physical education classes on Sept. 17. Only men who have been affiliated with the Boy Scout organization are eligible for membership in the service fraternity.

Will Assist in Registration
Alpha Phi Omega members will assist in the fall registration at Recreation Hall as in previous seasons. David Allison is chairman of the registration committee.

The group will conduct tours and maintain an information desk at the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Memorial All-Faith Chapel. Elder said that some members will be at the chapel at all times to conduct tours, but these efforts will be concentrated to weekends when crowds are the largest. Robert Koehler was appointed chairman of the chapel desk and tours committee.
