

Pershing Rifles on Parade

PERSHING RIFLES display the top form that earned them the Milton S. Eisenhower Trophy for first place in the Mother's Day Drill Competition Saturday. They will be among the 29 units of the Air Force, Army, and Navy ROTC members to march in the Armed Forces Day Parade tonight.

29 Units Parade For Armed Forces

Army, Navy, and Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps units at the university will continue their Open House at the Armory from 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. today.

A 29 unit parade is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. on College avenue from Shortlidge road to Burrowes road. The reviewing stand will be at the foot of the Mall.

All three branches of the service will hold their Common Hour during the afternoon. Awards to the outstanding cadets for the year will be given at the Common Hour.

Cadet Col. Philip Stevens will be presented the Association of the U.S. Army Medal, the Centre County Reserves Officers Association Medal, and will receive the Honor Cadet Award along with Cadet Col. Gordon Fee.

Frederick Stiff will receive two awards, the Association of the U.S. Army Medal and the Honor Cadet Award for Military Science III. Thomas Radziwon will receive the Honor Cadet Award for Military Science II, and John Moyer the Honor Cadet Award for Military Science I.

George Reimann will be awarded the Outstanding Member of the Rifle Team.

Cadet Major Donald Buckbee will be presented the American Ordnance Association Scholarship Key. Col. Richard Reidy will present the awards.

At the Navy Common Hour, Midshipman William Dove will receive the Navy League Plaque, the U.S. Naval Institute Award, and the Society of Military Engineers Gold Medal Award.

Louis King Schneider will receive the Reserve Officer Association Medal; Edward Glass Jr., the U.S. Naval Institute Award for contract student; Edward Lutes Jr., the Marine Corps Association Award, and John Kuhl the Commandant Fourth Naval District Award.

Grover Lang will receive two awards, the Armed Services Communications Association Gold Medal Award, and the Convair NROTC Award.

In the Air Force Common Hour, Charles W. Miller will receive the Medal for Outstanding Scholarship, and James Harding the Outstanding Second Year Cadet.

Hugh Cline will receive the Chicago Tribune Gold Medal for second year cadet, and Kenneth Renner the same award for first year cadet.

Gustav Haak Jr. will receive the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Gold Medal; Robert Heverly, the Outstanding First Year advanced cadet; and Thomas Dye, the Republic Aviation Award.

Col. Riva and Leonard Work, Wing Commander, will present the awards.

BU Graduates To Hear Prexy

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the University, will deliver the commencement address to the 1956 class of Boston University, Boston, Mass., on June 3.

The event was announced by Harold C. Case, president of Boston University, in the Boston University News, Tuesday.

Dr. Eisenhower, who the News said is regarded as President Dwight D. Eisenhower's closest adviser, will speak to more than 2600 graduating seniors at the University field.

Dr. Eisenhower is honorary chairman of the American-Korean foundation which co-sponsored a $6000 permanent graduate scholarship with Boston University in February. The scholarship provides for a qualified Korean student to complete two years of graduate study at BU.

Sunny, Cool Weather Predicted for Today

Mostly sunny and cool weather, turning cloudy in the afternoon with wind gusts up to 30 miles per hour is predicted for today.

The high today will be 59 as compared to yesterday's high of 55. The low will be 48.

U.S. Sending Arms to Saudi Arabia

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)

The Defense Department confirmed today it is sending Saudi Arabia another shipment of military goods. It added that sale of the equipment, mainly ammunition and spare parts, was arranged months ago.

While the Pentagon wouldn't disclose the value of the shipment, the State Department said less than $1 million was involved.

A Pentagon spokesman told of the shipment when asked about a New York Post story that military cargo for Saudi Arabia was being

Cabinet Will Hear Book Sale Report

A report recommending that the Book Exchange refrain from selling new books will be presented to All-University Cabinet at 8 tonight in 203 Hetzel Union Building.

The report, compiled by the Book Exchange Committee, recommends a "hands-off" policy with respect to new book sales claiming the BX does not have the space or money to handle new books.

In addition, the report says, correspondence with other schools has advised against

Board Asks Probation For Student

The Association of Independent Men Judicial Board of Review at a hearing Tuesday night recommended office probation for one student.

Thomas Binford, acting board chairman, said the incident occurred Saturday night, May 5, in the West Halls triangle area.

According to Binford, the student was discovered urinating by Ralph Kennan, who was on duty at the Waring Hall desk.

When asked by Kennan for his name, the student refused to give it, Binford reported. The student finally disclosed his identity when asked for the third time. Binford reported the student had been drinking at a fraternity prior to the incident.

The board also recommended that a letter be sent to the student's parents.

The board will meet for the last time for the semester at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday in 213 Hetzel Union Building. No cases have been scheduled.

William Johnson, junior in pre-medical from Arnold, was named chairman of the board for next year at a meeting of AIM Monday night.

Others appointed to serve as new committee members on next year's board are: Jonathan Green, junior in pre-veterinary from Great Neck, New York; George Sunday, sophomore in ceramics technology from West Naticoke; and Edward Frymoyer, freshman in electrical engineering from Sunbury.

Trustees Election Rule Corrected

Graduates of the University who received their bachelor degrees within the past three years will not be allowed to vote in the election of three alumni members of the Board of Trustees as was erroneously reported in yesterday's Daily Collegian.

To be eligible to vote in the election, a graduate must have received a bachelor degree more than three years ago.

All graduates with an advanced degree are eligible to vote.

the sale of new books by a student operated organization.

At present, the Used Book Agency sells used books at the beginning of each semester.

During the spring elections, the issue was brought to light when the All-University Elections Committee forbid the Lion Party to run a plank advocating that the BX sell new books.

No Co-op Store

As an alternative to selling new books in the BX, the report also frowns upon the establishment of a Co-op Book Store.

Students wouldn't patronize a Co-op unless it was situated in the main shopping area, the report says. In addition, the report says it would be practically impossible to obtain and operate another book store in State College due to zoning laws.

A second report to go before Cabinet will be a final Spring Week report including many recommendations and a financial report of this year's Spring Week. All-University President Robert Bahrenburg said the recommendations are for future Spring Week committees to use or discard as they see fit.

Recommendations call for an increase in the number of food concessions, rides, and ticket booths at next year's carnival; a one night carnival, as was this year's; and a rule to permit only one person from each group to carry a hat in the Mad Hatter's Parade.

Many Could Hold One Hat

This year, the Mad Hatter's Parade was limited to one hat per group, but more than one person could be used to carry the hat.

Evidently spurred by the discovery of empty beer bottles inside two booths this year, the committee also recommended that the carnival rule forbidding the

No Houses Reported 'Hazardous'

No complaints classifying downtown living units as "hazards" have been reported to the University, Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student-affairs, said yesterday.

The Board of Trustees ruled last Friday that students living in dwelling in the borough or surrounding areas which have been ruled hazardous for fire, health or other reasons by public health officials, will be required to move to other quarters.

Students Must Vacate

Students refusing to vacate living quarters which have been ruled unsafe will not be allowed to register for the semester following the one in which the evacuation order was announced, the Trustees added.

Kenworthy said students who have complaints about rooming houses downtown should notify the Alpha Fire Company or the borough fire marshal. In this manner, he said, the University will be informed if the building is declared a hazard.

TIM Submitted List

The fire company started a check in February of fraternity houses and rooming houses after Town Independent Men had submitted a list of ten rooming houses where students reported they believed fire hazards to exist.

In connection with the inspection, Fire Chief Thomas Sauer has said fewer fire hazards have been found to date than expected. Cooperation has been good on the part of the owners in correcting the hazards, he said.

Social Security Will Be Aired

Social Security legislation as it concerns the University will be the subject of a panel discussion before the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Mineral Science auditorium.

Senator Jo Hays, Member of Assembly Preston A. Frost, Dr. Kenneth R. Erfft, associate comptroller, and Dr. Arthur H. Reede, professor of economics, will make up the panel. Dr. Arthur F. Davis, professor of physical education and chairman of the AAUP faculty welfare committee, will moderate the discussion.

Several bills dealing with such legislation have been before the present session of the State Legislature.

This will be the final chapter meeting for the spring semester.

3 Students to Attend Michigan State Festival

Three University students are participating in the Michigan State Interpretative Reading Festival this week.

They are Patricia A. Doll, junior in arts and letters from York; Gerald Denisof, junior in arts and letters from Philadelphia; and John Muntone, junior in education from Shenandoah. Harriet D. Nesbitt, assistant professor of public speaking, will accompany them.
