

Chapel Choir to Offer Mozart 'Mass' Tonight

Mozart's "Great Mass in C Minor" will be presented at 8 tonight in Schwab Auditorium by the Chapel Choir and Symphony Orchestra.

For the benefit of students and others who may not be able to get seats in Schwab auditorium, arrangements have been made to broadcast the concert over the amplifying system in the Hetzel Union Building and over campus radio station WDFM.

Eng Dean To Address Honors Day

Dr. Eric A. Walker, dean of the College of Engineering and Architecture, will speak at the third annual Engineering College Honors Day at 4 p.m. Tuesday in 110 Electrical Engineering.

Earl B. Stavely, assistant dean of the college, and the department heads will participate in the program which is being sponsored jointly by the College of Engineering and Architecture and the Engineering Student Council.

Engineering Newsletter
Copies of the Engineering Newsletter, published in a souvenir edition, will be distributed at the function. The newsletter will be in the form of a booklet and will contain the names of the award winners and the names of the officers and members of the engineering and architecture honorary societies.

A total of 10 fellowships for graduate study at the University and other institutions will be awarded. Twelve awards for further undergraduate study at the University will be awarded through the Senate Committee on Scholarships and Awards.

35 Industrial Scholarships
Approximately 35 scholarships granted by industrial groups will be presented. These scholarships range from $125 to $750.

Awards will be presented by the engineering and architecture societies to outstanding students. Recognition will also be given to students who submitted prize winning papers in competition sponsored by national engineering societies.

Stavely said that the honors day program was created to give campus recognition to engineering students who have excelled in academic studies at the University. The program is open to the public.

Armstrong Elected Chimes President

Judith Armstrong, sophomore in arts and letters from Grove City, has been elected president of Chimes, junior women's hat society.

Other new officers are Barbara Rilling, sophomore in education from Philadelphia, vice president; Roseanne Fortunato, sophomore in education from Wilmington, Del., secretary; Joan Chase, sophomore in business administration from Arlington, Va., treasurer; Barbara Budnick, sophomore in journalism from Schenectady, N.Y., national editor; Marlene Bishoff, junior in education from Easton, senior adviser.

Sun Oil Co. Creates Teachers' Scholarships

The Sun Oil Co. of Marcus Hook has made available three scholarships for teachers planning to enroll in the Summer Institute for High School Teachers of Science.

Each scholarship consists of $300 to cover actual expenses and an additional $500 for family allowances and cost of living adjustments.

Breakfast
Brunch
Lunch
Coffee-break
Dessert
ANY PARTY
Please order
1 day ahead
AD 6-6184

Panhel Vote Admits New Local Group

Panhellenic Council voted unanimously to admit Trion, a new local sorority, to council membership Tuesday night.

As a member of the Council, Trion can now participate in the fall and spring rushing programs. After the regulation year of probation and if Trion has 25 members, they expect to petition Sigma Kappa, national sorority, for admittance as a local chapter.

Four of the sisters were affiliated with Sigma Kappa at Westminster College.

Appointments Made
Barbara Nicholls, Panhel president, appointed Helena Moraio, junior in arts and letters from Riverside, Conn. and Suzanne Loux, junior in education from Drexel Hill, co-chairmen of a committee to investigate the possibility of setting up a memorial to Anne Elder, recently killed in an automobile accident. Miss Nicholls suggested that the committee discuss the memorial with other women's groups on campus.

NSA Delegate
The Council voted unanimously to send Miss Nicholls as a delegate to the National Student Association convention this summer.

The following committee chairman appointments were announced: Mary Tassia, junior in arts and letters from York, and Mary Dorman, junior in journalism from Rockport, Mass., culture committee; Virginia MacDonald, junior in education from Bloomsbury, N.J., Panhel chairman of the Starlight Dance of Orientation Week; and Zelda Rappaport, junior in arts and letters, projects committee.

Martz Elected Thespian Head

Robert Martz, junior in hotel administration from Altoona, has been elected president of the Board of Dramatics and Forensics and president of Thespians, musical-comedy group. The two groups also elected other officers.

Thespian officers are Mary Tassia, junior in arts and letters from York, vice president; Barbara Kinnier, sophomore in education from Dansboro, secretary; Truman Burch, junior in the division of intermediate registration from North Charleroi, treasurer; and Robert J. Bishop, junior in science from Paxinos, member-at-large. Marcia Ripper, sophomore in home economics from Butler, was chosen vice president of the Board of Dramatics and Forensics. The secretary-treasurer election will be held next semester.

PENN STATE CLASS RING
Better Hurry!
L. G. Balfour Co.

TEACHERS WANTED
Entire West, Southwest and Alaska
1303 Central NE
Albuquerque, N.M.
Free Enrollment

The First National Bank of State College

Member of Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation
Federal Reserve System

Prize-Winning Photo

THE WALLS CAME tumbling down, taken by Lt. Bob Kennedy, Philadelphia fireman, on Oct. 27 and has been judged the top news photo of the year in the 13th annual Photo Competition sponsored by the University of Missouri. The photo will be on display this weekend at the University for the Pennsylvania Press Conference.

Wood to Head Business Society

Donald Woods, junior in business administration from Wilkes-Barre, has been elected president of the Society for the Advancement of Management. The society has also elected Nicholas Holman, sophomore in hotel administration from Hazleton, vice president; James Corrigan, junior in business administration from Hazleton, secretary; and James Cramer, junior in business administration from Freeport, treasurer.

POLLOCK COUNCIL
presents the
GRADUATION BALL

In Honor of the Class of '56

Music by the AIM BAND

with selections by the Independent Mixed Chorus

HUB BALLROOM 9-12 p.m.

FRIDAY, MAY 18

Couples Only... Informal

Free Admission - Prizes