

PNPA Will Discuss '56 Election Coverage

Newspaper editors and political candidates from all corners of the state are getting together today and tomorrow at the Nittany Lion Inn to work toward more accurate and complete news coverage of the 1956 election campaigns.

Speaker of the House Hiram G. Andrews, House Majority Leader Albert S. Readinger, and House Minority Leader Charles C. Smith, will participate in a panel discussion with

Journalists To Receive 2 Awards

George R. Lamade, president of the largest weekly newspaper in the United States, and Richard W. Slocum, executive vice president of Pennsylvania's largest daily newspaper, will be given Distinguished Service Awards at the Pennsylvania Press Conference tonight at the Nittany Lion Inn.

Dr. James W. Markham, head of the news department of the School of Journalism, will make the presentations to Lamade, president and general manager of Grit, a weekly which circulates in 16,000 American small towns, and to Slocum, executive vice president of The Philadelphia Bulletin, for "recognition of long and meritorious service in newspaper work."

Awards Committee
Lamade and Slocum were selected by an awards committee composed of representatives of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association, the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors, and the School of Journalism.

In winning the award, Lamade followed his father, Dietrick Lamade, who founded Grit in 1882 and who had received the same honor from Pennsylvania newspaper executives here 21 years ago.

Slocum - Was Lawyer
Slocum, who recently completed a term as president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, left a successful 12-year career as a lawyer in the labor relations field in 1938 to join The Philadelphia Bulletin, returning to his first interest, newspaper work.

Tribunal Asks Probation for 2

Two students were recommended for office probation for the remainder of the semester and the next two semesters by Tribunal Tuesday night.

The students were accused of removing four stop signs from the corner of Burrows and Pollock roads and two signs from the corner beside Moffatt Cottage on the night of May 6. They were also accused of using alcoholic beverages.

A campus patrolman took their names and reported them to the dean of men's office.

The dean of men has not taken any action on the case as yet.

newspaper editors and readers. The conference is jointly sponsored by the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors, Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association, and the School of Journalism at the University.

'Noted' Persons to Speak
Other headline speakers will include: Bernard Kilgore, publisher, Wall Street Journal; Jane Eads, Washington columnist for the Associated Press; Louis M. Lyons, curator, Nieman Foundation for Journalism, Harvard University; and Elizabeth Toomey, United Press Women's Feature Writer.

A second major discussion will be held on the role of Pennsylvania's newspapers in combatting one of the state's most serious problems: traffic safety. Roy L. Nassau, director of public information, Pennsylvania Department of Revenue, will take part in this discussion with a talk on the state safety program. Quinton E. Beauge, executive editor, Williamsport Sun-Gazette, is chairman of the PNPA Safety Committee and will be in charge of the safety discussions.

Panel to Air Problems

A "Brainstorming Session," moderated by John T. McClintock, freelance educational consultant, will be a first-time conference experiment in generating rapid-fire ideas on newspaper problems. Using the "Creative Thinking and Idea Producing" technique, the session will encourage a group of newspaper men to advance free-wheeling ideas regarding various problems in the profession.

The conference will also feature daily and weekly newspaper workshops on ways to improve readership. Edmund C. Arnold, noted authority on newspaper makeup and typography, and editor of Linotype News, New York, will conduct a newspaper design clinic.

Special guests at the conference will include President Milton S. Eisenhower and his assistant, Keith Spaulding, former newspaperman from New York.

PNPA Shows Prize Photos

An exhibit of the prize-winning newspaper and magazine photographs of 1955, which is expected to be seen by more than a million persons, will be on display today and tomorrow at the Nittany Lion Inn.

This showing is part of the Pennsylvania Press Conference also being held at the Inn today and tomorrow. This marks the beginning of a national tour for the pictures.

These award-winning pictures in the University of Missouri School of Journalism's 13th annual Photo Competition will go on display at colleges and universities throughout the country. Twenty-one winners in seven classifications were selected from nearly 2000 entries from 311 photographers as the best pictures of 1955.

2 Coeds to Compete For Miss America

Patricia Reno, freshman in arts and letters from Forest Hills, and Arlene Kondor, freshman in arts and letters from Morrisville, are entrants in the Miss America Contest to be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Bellefonte High School auditorium.

Miss Kondor is sponsored by Alpha Chi Omega sorority, while Miss Reno has no sponsor.

The contest is open to anyone living in Centre County for the past six months and to students enrolled in its colleges and universities. Entrants must be single women between the ages of 18 and 28, who are high school graduates and have never been married.

Entry blanks should be in by tomorrow, and should be sent to Neil Wiggin, general chairman of the contest for the Bellefonte Chamber of Commerce, at 105 E. High street. Anyone who has not been able to obtain a blank by tomorrow may call Mrs. Leonard Levine at EL 5-9383 anytime that day to notify her of the desire to enter.

Blanks Should Contain

Entry blanks should contain the contestant's University address and telephone number.

Contestants will be judged in evening gowns and bathing suits, and must present talent for three minutes. The talent may be singing, dancing, dramatic reading, or a talk on the career they wish to pursue. They may also exhibit some creative effort such as art work or a dressmaking design.

A scholarship fund has been established for the winner on this level of the competition. The money may be used to help her finance her education at a college, art school, or secretarial school.

Use of Money
Wiggin said that if the girl were unable to continue her education for some reason the money would be hers to use as she desires.

Until all the local industries contacted for contributions have been heard from, the sum of the fund will not be announced.

The winner and the two runners-up will win clothing articles and all three will go to Altoona to compete on the next level of competition.

Contestants will ride in convertibles in a parade in Bellefonte beginning at 6:30, which will precede the competition. The Bellefonte High School and Ferguson Township Bands will also march.
